Editor's Column

STUART R. PADDOCK

We have found that a large part of the pleasure of being back home is hearing so many of our friends and strangers say, "we enjoyed reading about your stay in Mexico in your weekly column . . ." "it was as good as being there ourselves . . ." "you brought to us stories of the Mexican customs we never knew existed . . . "

One man said to us Sunday, "I thought you were in Washington." I explained to him that all the time we were away we kept the home fires burning in the publication office by sending advance stories. At one time we were four weeks ahead of publication dates.

We did have four months of unusual experiences. Leaving Washington, D. C., for home we decided to forsake the turnpikes and enjoying the countryside of Virginia, West Virginia, Ohio, and Indiana. It might have required an extra day and a little more gas, but we felt we were well repaid—especially "Turkey Run," which we had never before visited.

Instead of keeping our eyes on the pavement, we enjoyed countryside viewing. We had the full benefit of springtime. We occasionally stopped by the wayside when we saw a hill or dale that made us feel it was good to be in rural America, where green trees and spacious fields are providing good living for Americans. We feel a little sorry for the Mexicans who have no knowledge of that kind of living.

We have found that none of our communities have been standing still. Parts of Arlington Heights business district have had a face lifting. Exteriors of the stores are inviting in appearance. It is now up to the owners of the stores that have been so benefited to make the interiors as inviting to potential customers. There are a lot more of them today than there were when we left town last December.

We found the streets are being torn up as they were 35 years ago when the "big" sewer was installed in 1928. At that time we accompanied Mayor Flentie and others on an inspection of the completed 72-inch lines. It was rather a damp experience. We wonder if the present day village board will don rubber boots and make a similar inspection . . . or are there a few members over six feet tall who will pass up the opportunity?

Construction of Illinois 53 as an expressway has greatly changed the appearance of the west end of Rolling Meadows. Frontage roads south of Kirchhoff Road are to be completed before the racing season starts June 16.

The Catholic girls' high school is being hurried to completion, and a three-story convent for the Religious of the Sacred Heart of Mary is under construction.

Euclid Avenue is being completed through race track property. It will of course benefit racing enthusiasts, and eventually will provide a southside entrance to the village of Palatine, which is greatly needed.

A completely new 14-room elementary school is now 90 per cent finished. A 12-room addition is completed and another addition well under way in Mount Prospect.

The new Gregory School on Rand Road at Gregory is nearing completion and will be occupied in September.

The 12-room addition to Euclid School was recently completed. Euclid School, of Feehanville Elementary School District 26, is located at Wheeling Road and Euclid Avenue.

Fear 'Amputation' of Village

Hold Joint Meeting to Discuss Palatine Jr. Expressway Issue

Crossings Are Urged Locally

by BOB CUMMINS

Spokesmen for Arlington Heights and three school districts will meet today, Wednesday, with state and county highway officials to ask for permanent crossings of the Palatine Expressway at Kennicott Avenue and Schoenbeck and Buffalo Grove Roads.

Under present plans, the area would have only a crossing at State Road when the Palatine Expressway is completed several years hence.

This would amputate the area north of Palatine Road from the rest of the village and grade and high school districts.

Officials of the village, school districts, and a shopping center proposed for the northeast corner of Wilke and Palatine Roads met last Thursday to discuss the situation and plan their strategy.

Norman Toberman, village engineer, presented the background of the matter.

HE RECALLED that five or six years ago a public hearing was held on the proposed expressway, at which highway officials said it would be a limited access road.

However, time dimmed the memory of this hearing and the village experienced tremendous growth in the intervening years.

Also, use of the term "junior expressway" in describing the Palatine Road project caused officials to believe it would have a number of points of access.

So revelation of the actual plans took almost everybody by surprise.

Toberman reported that state officials told him the word "junior" meant only that the right-of-way is narrower than for a full-fledged expressway.

AFTER ITS first stage of construction, Palatine Road will have only two lanes and grade crossings at Buffalo Grove and Schoenebeck Roads.

As soon as warranted by traffic, the expressway would be widened to four lanes, and these two grade crossings would probably be eliminated.

A desired grade crossing at Kennicott Avenue is also in jeopardy.

The area of Palatine Road within 1,000 feet of the cloverleaf intersection with the coming Route 53 Expressway is eligible for federal funds, because of the connection with Route 53. The Kennicott crossing is in this area.

However, state blueprints which included a grade crossing at Kennicott have been rejected by the Federal Bureau of Public Roads which claimed that it wouldn't make sense to install a grade crossing now and have the county cut it off in the future.

HAROLD CARLSON, chairman of the Arlington Heights Plan Commission, asked, "What purpose does the Palatine Expressway serve if people in the communities it passes through can't get on or off it?"

L. A. Hanson, village manager, said, "I'm concerned that we don't wind up as we did with the toll road — no access."

Prospect Heights School District 23 is concerned that frontage roads along the expressway, at least near Schoenbeck Road, be modified to permit two-way traffic.

Because of the prevailing one-way traffic on frontage roads, a person on the north side of the expressway opposite the district's junior high school on the south side, must drive three miles to get to the school, according to LeRoy E. Kist, school board president.

THE OFFICIALS will also ask the highway men for an underpass at Anderson Drive, which is wanted by the proposed shopping center and the Elks Club, and for two-way frontage roads in the vicinity of the proposed shopping center.

The shopping center has 55 acres of land left after losing much of its original tract to the cloverleaf.

Mel Isenstein, the shopping center sponsor, said that he plans to begin with a center like the Cumberland center on Northwest Highway in Des Plaines, and hopes to expand it later around a department store.

For Teenagers

Jaycees Slate Road-e-o Here

The Arlington Heights Junior Chamber of Commerce will sponsor its first annual Teenage Safe Driving Road-e-o in late June, it was announced this week by Dave Augsburger, Jaycee Road-e-o chairman.

Goals of the program, first introduced 12 years ago by a Jaycee chapter, are to give teenagers a chance to prove their driving ability and to stimulate community interest in the value of high school driver education courses.

Augsburger, of 1503 W. Sigwalt St., said the program consists of a written examination and actual driving exercise.

THE TOP 25 scorers on the written exam will compete in an actual behind-the-wheel situation," Augsburger explained.

"Skills in backing, parking, distance judging and in-and-out driving will determine the final winner."

The written exam will be given Saturday, June 22, in Room 42-44 at Arlington High School. Application blanks are now available at Arlington, Forest View, Prospect and St. Viator High Schools.

THE DRIVING competition will be held Sunday, June 30, at Westgate Shopping Center parking lot, Campbell Street and Wilke Road.

Winner of the Arlington Heights contest will compete July 18 in the state contest in Park Ridge.

The state winner will receive an all-expense-paid trip to Washington, D.C., in August to participate in the national finals.

"WE FEEL the Road-e-o will make a significant contribution in influencing teenage drivers to be more safety conscious when behind the wheel," Augsburger noted.

Judges of the competition are expected to be announced next week.

Apartment Meeting Told

Arlington Heights residents objecting to the construction of high-rise apartment buildings north of Prospect High School have been invited to attend a meeting next Friday, June 1.

Present at the meeting to answer questions regarding the Regent Park planned development will be Harold Friedman, president of North Suburban Chicago Construction Co., the builder.

THE MEETING will be held in the council room of the municipal building, 33 S. State Road, at 8 p. m.

Over-all, the Regent Park project is to consist of 114 townhouse units, 34 single-family homes and 84 units in two eight-story apartment buildings.

This Memorial Day

Parade Stepping Off At 9:30 a.m. Sharp

Some 1,100 out-of-town marchers will put on the feedbag Thursday after the big Memorial Day parade in Arlington Heights.

Members of Veterans of Foreign Wars Post 981, sponsors of the parade, will serve lunch to the marchers in the VFW Hall, Yale Avenue and Northwest Highway.

"It costs us quite a bit of money, but we always want to encourage marching units from other cities," explained Sylvester Greschner, 108 N. Pine Ave., parade marshal.

"WE FEEL that providing lunch makes it easier for out-of-town units to come to Arlington Heights."

The 60-unit parade will step off at Highland Avenue and South Street exactly at 9:30 a.m. Thursday.

It will proceed east on South Street to Dunton, north on Dunton to Euclid, west on Euclid to Chestnut, and south on Chestnut to Memorial Park just north of Fremont Street.

PRINCIPAL speaker at a dedication service at the park at 10:30 a.m. will be Robert C. Buckley, 222 N. Derbyshire Lane, a major in the U.S. Air Force Reserve.

Buckley, the village's police magistrate, distinguished himself in 1951 by participating in the first trans-Pacific crossing and refueling of U.S. jet fighter aircraft.

The VFW's annual Citizen's Citation will be presented to Mrs. Milton F. Daniels, 805 N. Dunton Ave., by William J. Miller, post commander.

IMMEDIATELY after the parade and service, Fire Chief Harvey Carothers and members of the fire department will demonstrate use of the village's new aerial ladder-pumper truck on Campbell Street, between Dunton and Vail Avenues.

The $52,000 vehicle, purchased recently by the village, pumps 1,000 gallons of water per minute and features a 100-foot aerial ladder which can rotate 360 degrees.

It will be the first public demonstration of the equipment.

ADDED TO the parade roster this week were a float of the VFW Ladies Auxiliary, Boy Scout Troop 37 sponsored by St. Peter Lutheran Churchmen's Cub, and a Delores Eiler dancing group.

The parade will be headed by Grand Marshal Henry Weide, 807 N. State Road, a veteran of World War I and the second oldest member of the local VFW post.

Parade units will include drum and bugle corps, firing squads and color guards, bands, marching groups, floats, Boy, Cub and Girl Scout entries, civic groups and special guests.

Rev. Robert O. Bartz of St. Peter Lutheran Church will give the invocation and benediction for the day.

Name Nelson To Board of Improvement

Justin A. "Buzz" Nelson, 120 S. Reuter Drive, a recently retired village trustee, was named to the Arlington Heights Board of Local Improvements last week.

The 42-year-old coordinator of accounting for the Quaker Oats Company succeeds Edmond M. Shanahan, 527 S. Fernandez Ave., who resigned effective May 1.

THE APPOINTMENT was made by Village Manager L. A. Hanson. Nelson attended his first BOLI meeting last Thursday night.

He was appointed to the village board last year to fill the unexpired term of Richard H. Glantz, who moved to New Jersey.

Investigate $1,100 Loss In Burglary At Wilson

An estimated $1,100 worth of office machinery was stolen last Friday night in a burglary at the Wilson School, 15 E. Palatine Road.

Police theorize the thieves, who gained entrance to the building by forcing a boiler room door, were familiar with the school's layout.

Investigation showed the burglars went directly to the office of Principal Robert Parsons and apparently did not disturb furnishings in other parts of the building.

THIS PATTERN contrasted from a May 13 burglary at the school, when unknown persons committed acts of vandalism in several classrooms and stole $50.

Taken Friday from Parsons' office were two slide projectors, tape recorder, duplicating machine, amplifier, typewriter, adding machine, microscope, quantity of ink and $2 in cash.

Police are checking fingerprints and tire tracks found at the school Saturday morning after the burglary was reported by Peter Bakas, School District 25 business manager.

One suspect has been questioned and cleared, police said.

Court Appearance Set for Girl, 15, Who Started Fire

A 15-year-old female student at Forest View High School will appear in Cook County Family Court on June 17 to answer a charge of delinquency.

The girl has admitted starting a fire last week in a locker on the school's second floor.

The fire, doused quickly by school officials, was not serious. It destroyed two coats and a pair of gym shoes and damaged two other lockers.

ACCORDING TO Arlington Heights police, the girl was accused of an assault recently by another female student.

"This girl and two others were reported to be extorting money from female students by threatening them with physical harm," Off. Clinton Hefferen told the Herald.

Hefferen and Off. Philip Olszewski accompanied the girl in an initial Family Court appearance last Thursday after she admitted setting the fire.

Investigation by Hefferen and Olszewski led to the girl's arrest. Because of her age, she was not charged with arson, it was pointed out.

THE GIRL said she set the fire May 21 in order to "get back" at another girl whom she accused of "making remarks" about her to other students.

Parents of the accused girl live on a Bensenville rural route.

Several Years Away, However

Village President John G. Woods this week expressed the view that the village's recent acquisition of the two remaining southside railroad parks and an agreement with the Arlington Heights National Bank have cleared the way for a downtown shopping plaza.

The plaza plan has been one of the village's objectives since 1959, when a study by the Downtown Plaza Associates was made part of the village master plan.

"There still remains several years of planning by the village, the downtown merchants and the Chamber of Commerce to make the plan a reality," Woods pointed out.

Without acquistion of the railroad parks, he said, the plan could not be accomplished.

IN RECOUNTING steps taken to revitalize the downtown area, Woods cited the village's widening of downtown streets, installation of modern lighting, acquisition of the Dunton to Vail parking lots, and sale of the village hall property to Jewel Tea Co.

"Now shoppers will eventually have three and a half blocks of landscaped parking stretching from State Road to Vail Avenue," Woods said.

Two important agreements have been completed this month. The first was a May 6 contract with the Chicago and North Western Railroad to sell to the village the last two railroad parks under a 10-year lease-purchase agreement.

THE SECOND was an agreement with the bank completed May 8.

"The bank has played an important role in this planning," Woods said. "For several years the village board has met with Douglas Dodds of the Arlington Heights National Bank, and Paul Collins of Arlington Heights Federal Savings and Loan Association, to discuss plans each had to bring about a downtown plaza.

"The agreement to grant the village an easement for its storm sewer, to release the parking area between Dunton and Evergreen to unlimited parking, and to install the long-awaited commuter street next to the railroad tracks in return for the vacation of Davis Street in front of the bank was a key factor in the plan."

ACQUISITION OF the railroad parks also makes available to the village land which would be needed for a State Road underpass.

With the parking space available for lease to merchants, redevelopment and new building downtown is given real impetus, Woods said.

Plans call for landscaped paving of the parking areas, with underlying leases replacing parking meter revenues.

The bank parking lot between Dunton and Evergreen will be redesigned. Davis Street will be vacated when the balance of the Plaza Plan becomes a reality in the future.

THE BANK will install three or four drive-in windows on Davis Street and build a 30-foot commuter street to replace the 20-foot gravel roadway now in use.

DOWNTOWN parking malls are now in use in Kalamazoo, Mich.; Miami Beach, Fla. and Rochester, N. Y. Other cities, including Fort Worth, Tex., and several California cities, are looking at means of doing what Arlington Heights now is well on its way to accomplishing.

Facilitating the purchase from the railroad was a $50,000 payment for the sewer easement from sewer construction funds. This represented the approximate savings from repaving Davis Street had the sewer been installed there versus the much less expensive restoration of the railroad parks. (The sewer, overall, is being completed some $350,000 under estimate.)

THE BALANCE of $100,000 will come from general funds, at a rate of $10,000 per years for 10 years plus interest, a total of $12,300 per year.

REVITALIZATION OF the downtown area has been an objective of the past three village administrations. It has been a major effort of the current village board. Not only will the Plaza Plan modernize the downtown area, but it should increase sales tax revenue, a major source of village income.

The entire village board has met frequently on the problem. Trustees Eugene Schlickman, William Moore and Norval Stephens worked during the last two years to solve the village hall sale and pave the way for the Plaza.

Recent negotiations were conducted by Jack Siegel, village attorney, and L. A. Hanson, village manager, to whom Woods gave high praise for their "patience and resourcefulness" in bringing the plan nearer completion. (A

Asks Annexation Poll Of Scarsdale Estates

Arlington Heights trustees voted Monday to defer action on a request by Village Manager L. A. Hanson that residents of the Scarsdale Estates Subdivision be polled as to their interest in annexing to the village.

The village has been attempting to get subdivision residents to voluntarily come into the village for several years.

Refusal of the residents to agree to annexation has resulted in the village establishing a policy whereby police and fire protection will not be provided to non-residents.

"I HAVE talked to people in Scarsdale Estates in the hope of arriving at a solution," Trustee Norval Stephens told the village board Monday.

"I think we should put this matter over to our next meeting so we will have an opportunity to discuss deadlines for cutting off municipal services to the area."

Stephens' suggestion was accepted unanimously by the board.

Hanson has recommended that the village draw up a petition for annexation and circulate throughout the subdivision in an attempt to get support for annexation.

OUTCOME OF the petition endeavor would serve as a guide for determining a final policy on providing services to the subdivision, Hanson said.

Subdivision residents recently held an informa lelection and voted to turn down annexation.

The subdivision is located north of Central Road and east of State Road. (A

Jr. High Orchestra To Perform

The Arlington Heights Junior High School orchestra will present a concert Tuesday at 8 p.m. at Miner Junior High School, it was announced this week.

Directing the combined orchestra of Miner and South Junior High School students will be Mel Kasen, orchestra conductor and School District 25 string instrument teacher.

HIGHLIGHTING the 60-piece orchestra's concert will be "March from Meistersingers" by Richard Wagner, Seitz Concerto for violin and orchestra played by Donna Whiting and Bruno Gellert, songs from "The Sound of Music" by Rogers and Hammerstein, and string instrument presentations.

The public is invited to the concert.

On Probation

Two 15-year-old Arlington Heights girls were placed on six-month probation this week after being apprehended in the act of shoplifting at the Zayre Department Store in Des Plaines.

Driver, 15, Arrested

A 15-year-old Arlington Heights youth was arrested by police Monday for driving an auto without a drivers license and violating a stop sign.

Apartments Near Forest View OK'd

The Arilngton Heights Board of Trustees gave the nod to one apartment project Monday and deferred action on another.

Approved was Trendel's Cedar Glen planned apartment development adjacent to Forest View High School, east of State Road and north of Algonquin Road.

The project consists of 80 units divided into one-bedroom apartments and 32 two-bedroom apartments.

ACCORDING TO E. L. Trendel, president of E. L. Trendel & Associates, Inc., his firm will retain ownership of the apartments and oversee maintenance.

Trendel told trustees each unit will have a ground floor patio and architecture will be of contemporary styling.

Trustee Norval Stephens quipped, "Of course, Forest View High School isn't exactly Williamsburg Colonial architecture."

THE BOARD agreed the apartment styling would be harmonious with the ultra-modern high school design.

The village plan commission voted 7-1 in April to recommend that trustees approve the development after changes in the original engineering plans were made.

Deferred to the village board meeting this Monday was a decision on okaying an apartment planned development on Miner Street at Lincoln Lane, just north of the Arlington Market Shopping Center.

FAILURE OF a representative of Thoren Construction Co., builder of the apartments, to appear at Monday's meeting prompted postponement of any action.

The project consists of two three-story buildings containing a total of 72 apartments.

To be discussed with the builder are installation of fire walls, desirability of outside stairwas and use of the total land involved.

Newsboy Awarded $500 Scholarship

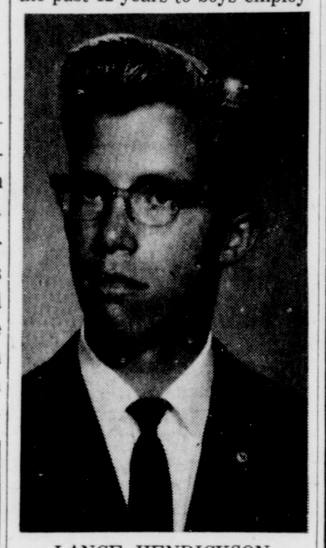
An 18-year-old Arlington High School senior was named this week as winner of a $500 scholarship presented by the Newspaper Distributors Association.

He is Lance Henrickson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Marvin A. Henrickson, 725 N. Pine Ave., Arlington Heights.

According to Edward Leach, association spokesman, young Henrickson is one of 25 youths from the Chicago area who will be honored Tuesday at a presentation ceremony at 8 p.m. in the Pick-Congress Hotel, Chicago.

HENRICKSON IS a seven-year employe of the Arlington Heights News Agency, 200 W. Campbell St. He scored 98 in a possible 100 points recently on a written college entrance examination used as a qualifier for the scholarship award.

The association has awarded more than 400 scholarships over the past 12 years to boys employed in the newspaper distribution business, Leach said.



LANCE HENRICKSON

Upon his graduation from high school this June, Henrickson may apply the scholarship to the college of his choice. (A

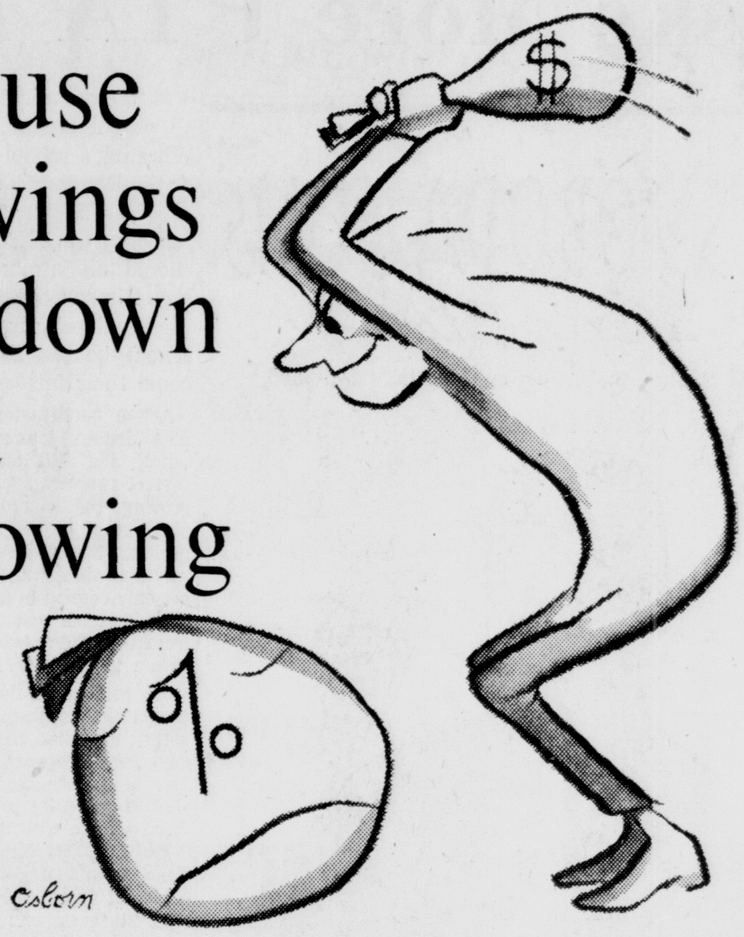
How to use your Savings to beat down the cost of Borrowing



"Nationalize" your Savings by putting it in Arlington Heights National Bank.

Borrow money from us.

You'll make the most of your money because you'll pay the least for your loan.

The more you do for a Full Service commercial bank like Arlington Heights National Bank, the more we can do for you.

What can you do for us?

Bring us your checking account, your savings account, and any other accounts you may have. And do all your borrowing from us.

In return, what can we do for you?

Chances are we can save you money on loans. Our interest rates for loans are usually lower than the rates at other types of financial institutions.

Will you get as high a return on your savings?

Consider this: you'll likely borrow far more in your lifetime than you'll save. It figures that having to pay an even slightly higher rate on a loan will quickly wipe out any small gain you might make on your savings. Remember, too, there is no safer place for your money than the Arlington Heights National Bank.

How do we get together?

Very simple. Resolve to "Nationalize" your banking at the Arlington Heights National Bank. The rest comes easy.

Asks More PTA Interest In School Board Doings

"Communication is one of the common problems of all school boards," Mrs. Howard Hanks, a member of Wheeling's school board, said at last Thursday's session of the Randhurst Council of PTA's School of Instruction.

Mrs. Hanks, in her speech "A School Board Member Looks at the PTA," emphasized that she thinks the PTA should take a more vital interest in school board activities and policies, and that school boards should welcome their interest.

Active participation in the PTA denotes interest in the school, she said, and offers a perfect two-way avenue for improving the communication problem of schools and school boards. She stressed the two-way approach, with information not only coming to the PTA, but with interests and discussions from the PTA being made known to the board.

She pointed out that education should not be just a spectator sport, but that those citizens who were interested in the welfare of the schools should feel free to recognize problems and discuss them with their boards.

PRECEDING Mrs. Hanks on the program was Mrs. R. B. Yadon of Arlington Heights, District 21 secretary. Mrs. Yadon gave a brief history of the PTA and its accomplishments. She told of early PTA efforts in battling for child-labor laws and more healthful conditions for children, through its successful campaigns for kindergartens and more adequate pay for teachers, to its more recent concern with the problems of mental health, reading, delinquency, and school drop-outs.

Kenneth Gill ,superintendent of the Wheeling-Buffalo Grove elementary schools, took the superintendent's "look" at the PTA. He found it had an "enviable record" in its continuing desire both to better education and to better the liaison between school and parents.

GILL STRESSED that misunderstanding often results because of a lack of close association between parents and the school, and that a close relationship was of the utmost importance.

Gill emphasized that when the parent and the school had a mutual confidence in each other the maximum could be accomplished for the child. Because the school is primarily a place for the learning of fundamental basics of reading, writing and arithmetic, the home must contribute its share to the teaching of moral values, Gill said.

He urged home and school to accept the responsibility of helping our children in this complex world of today avoid succumbing to the desire for more money for less work.

Other growing problems include the constant reach for the security that obliterates challenge, and the increasing tendency to sidestep the responsibility which should be demanded ourselves and others, he said.

The five school superintendents of the Randhurst Council area were luncheon guests.

Afternoon saw those attending the school of instruction go into workshop sessions. Officers and committee chairmen could choose from a variety of panels on subjects in which they were most interested: presidents, secretaries, school education, programming, parent and family life, treasurer, budget and finance and ways and means.

Other panel discussions were devoted to legislation, hospitality and room mothers, magazine and publications, health, mental and exceptional child, publicity, scholarship, membership and safety.

THE EARLY morning session of the school of instruction was devoted to reports from local PTA units and reports on Council activities. The availabiiity of services and publications from the council, the state and national PTA organizations to local groups was pointed out.

In attendance at this all-day, annual meeting of the Randhurst Council of PTA's were delegates, representatives, and principals from 21 of the 22 schools in the Randhurst Council area. The Council includes all schools in Elk Grove, Feehanville, Mount Prospect, Prospect Heights, Wheeling and Buffalo Grove. (ACM-EG

Parade to Launch 5th Peony Pagent

The fifth annual Elk Grove Peony Pageant, complete with carnival, parade, and a peony judging contest, will be held this week.

The pageant begins May 29 when a carnival comes to town and takes up headquarters until Sunday in the parking lot of the shopping center.

Culmination of the pageant will be the parade, scheduled to begin at 1:30 p.m. Sunday.

PARTICIPATING in the parade will be eight bands, some 35 horses including two six-horse hitches, and many local organizations.

The parade will begin at Elk Grove Boulevard and Tonne Road, proceed west on Elk Grove Boulevard to Ridge, north on Ridge to Landmeier Road, west on Landmeier to Arlington Heights Road, and Arlington Heights Road to the Shopping Center.

Features of the pared will be the Chicago Highlanders Pipe Band, the Victor Comptometer six pony hitch and fire wagon, and the Bolger Farms six horse hitch. A list of the participants in the parade is inside.

Because the weather has not cooperated, the actual judging of the peonies will take place at a later date, still to be announced. Prizes will be awarded for the best-landscaped peonies and the best individual peony.

Sponsors of the annual pageant are the Elk Grove Village Jaycees.

One thing that will be missing from the pageant will be a beauty contest, which the Jaycees have decided not to hold this year. (B8

Backgrounds of 5 New Appointees

Five new administrative heads at High School District 214 will cost taxpayers $60,000 per year in additional salaries.

What taxpayers will be getting for their money is shown in a summary of the educational posts and schooling for the five. All hold at least master's degrees and have extensive teaching experience.

Lowry, 114 N. Forest, Palatine, has been with District 214 for 17 years. For the past 11 years he has served as dean at Arlington High.

He holds an advanced certificate in education (one year beyond master's degree). He formerly taught at both junior high school and high school level. He was athletic coach and director of audio-visual education prior to coming to District 214.

Before being named as dean, Lowry headed the science department at Arlington High. He is chairman of the Illinois Aerospace Education Committee, and for 10 summers has directed the aerospace education program at National College of Education, Evanston.

COLEMAN HOLDS a master's degree in school business management. He has eight years of teaching experience, four with District 214. He was a school board member at Creston Consolidated Community School in Ogle County for three years. Following his board membership Coleman was school treasurer for the Creston schools for three years. His present address is 1170 N. Beverly, Arlington Heights.

Randle, 832 N. Kaspar, Arlington Heights, has been with District 214 for four years. During the past year he has headed the adult education program on a part-time basis coupled with teaching social studies. He holds a master's degree plus one year of extended study. He formerly acted as supervisor of adult education and dean of students at Southern Illinois University.

Whiteside has completed 35 semester hours toward an Ed.D. degree. In addition he has 20 semester hours related to research, and is enrolled for an additional four hours. He has completed more than 100 semester hours in guidance and testing. With District 214 for eight years, Whiteside has completed five years as guidance director.

He is a member of the executive board of the Illinois Guidance and Personnel Association and a member of the College Entrance Examination Board. Whiteside served as chairman of the College Day Committee for the 1962 national convention of College Admission Counselors.

IN ADDITION, Whiteside was chairman of the local Guidance Round Table for two years. The group includes guidance counselors of Cook and Lake Counties.

Miller has been with District 214 for seven years as audio-visual director. He holds a master's degree with 21 semester hours of graduate education. He acts as National Defense Education Act (NDEA) fund coordinator for the school district. His college study primarily has been in the fields of industrial arts and audio-visual education. Miller lives at 31 N. Forest, Palatine.

Trustees Urge Closer Check on Legislation

Three Arlington Heights village officials returned from Springfield last weekend convinced of the need for a local program to secure "sound state legislation" for municipalities.

The officials were Village Trustees Eugene F. Schlickman and George C. Beacham Jr., and Village Manager L. A. Hanson, who attended a legislative conference of the Illinois Municipal League with 314 other officials from throughout the state.

"We discovered," said Schlickman and Beacham in a report to the Herald, "that approximately 2,500 bills have been introduced in the General Assembly thus far, and an estimated one-third of these affect municipalities. It further appears that the 'bad' municipal bills are progressing better than those that would be helpful."

"For example," the report continued, "House Bill 123 constitutes a flagrant violation of the home-rule principle. It prevents policemen from performing any fire-fighting duties or operating any fire-fighting equipment, despite the successful integration of police and fire activities in a number of communities.

"The House passed this bill, and the Senate Committee on Municipalities has recommended passage.

"WHAT WE must do," the trustees explained, "is maintain a closer relationship with our state legislators and communicate directly with them about our needs.

"Furthermore, we propose to appraise citizens of legislative activity affecting municipalities and hope to secure their assistance to insure that only the sound bills will pass."

Three of the bills discussed at the Springfield session were acted upon by the Arlington Heights Village Board at its May 20 meeting.

House Bill 1120 was described by a Municipal League official as a bill that "must be defeated." It removes the necessity of the county board approving a zoning proposal by a three-fourths vote when a municipality files a protest as to certain contiguous areas. This bill is opposed by the village board.

Because of objections, the bill's sponsors are now considering amendments before proceeding further, Schlickman and Beacham reported.

THE TRUSTEES said they were discouraged to hear that the sponsors of H.B. 130 apparently have withdrawn their interest and support. It provides for automatic disconnection of territory from a fire protection district when it is annexed to a municipality that provides protection for such area.

"League officials suggest a set of new sponsors," Schlickman and Beacham stated, "and that's just what we're going to get."

Other proposed legislation discussed concerned the filing of sales tax returns with municipal clerks, special use permits in municipal zoning procedures, regulation of solicitors, and the distribution of motor fuel tax funds. (A

Who Gets Public Aid? Sangamon Data Tells

by BRUCE B. BAKKE

SPRINGFIELD, (UPI) — In the midst of recent swirling controversy over the Illinois Public Aid Commission, one fact became apparent.

It was obvious that legislators, and the public, had greatly differing opinions on the kind of people making up the public aid rolls.

Some legislators seemed to picture the public aid rolls overcrowded with able-bodied men and immoral women too lazy to work. Others saw aid recipients as hapless outcasts of society, forsaken by all and living on occasional scraps of poor food gleaned from a heartless government.

THE IPAC HAS issued a report giving a breakdown of the 2,322 aid recipients in Sangamon County in February, 1963. The report deals only with abstract statistics, but is enlightening in many respects.

There is a popular belief that most aid recipients are Negroes. This was not the case in Sangamon County. Of 514 families on relief, 348 were white and 166 were non-white.

Most families averaged about three or four persons, although the range in family sizes was from one to 11. Only in 28.2 per cent of the families were there illegitimate children.

These families were on relief in most cases because the father was not providing enough money for the necessities of life. In 115 cases the father had deserted the family and in 126 cases he was unemployed. In 87 cases the mother was unmarried, in 68 cases the parents were separated, and 64 cases were due to the physical or mental incapacity of the father.

MOST OF THE families — 83 per cent — lived in apartments or houses costing $44 a month in rent or property payments. Sometimes this housing space was shared with other persons ineligible for assistance. About nine per cent had free or shared living arrangements and about eight per cent owned their own homes.

The average family spent $123 a month for such basic needs as food, clothing, personal incidentals and household supplies. When added to the monthly cost of shelter and utilities, plus other goods or services, the average monthly needs per case amounted to $174.

More than half of the families received some type of income other than IPAC payments, such as earnings of a member of the family, support payments from absent fathers, or social security benefits.

Those monthly payments averaged $43, cutting the cost of the average monthly payment per case to $131 a family or $29 per person.

IN ADDITION to this, the Aid to Dependent Children families were eligible to receive whatever monthly medical services they may have required. The monthly average for medical care was $8.55 per person with more than half of the total going to hospitalization.

Illegitimate children were much more prevalent among non-white families than among white famllies in the Aid to Dependent Children category in Sangamon County.

Only 13.8 per cent of the white families receiving assistance in this category had illegitimate children. In the non-white category, 58.4 per cent of the cases had illegitimate children.

Most of these cases were in the regular Aid to Dependent Children category. There were only four cases with illegitimate children in the Aid to Dependent Children unemployed category — three in white families and one in a non-white family.

NEARLY TWO-THIRDS of the families receiving ADC in Sangamon County always had lived in Illinois. The remainder, 35.8 per cent, moved to Illinois from other states, largely Missouri, Minnesota, Mississippi or Arkansas. There were 29 states in all.

It must be pointed out that the situation in Sangamon County is not at all similar to the Cook County public aid situation. It also differs from many downstate counties, based on such factors as geography, job opportunities, and ethnic backgrounds. (A14

Approve Annexation Of 2 Acres

Arlington Heights trustees Monday voted 5-0 to instruct the village attorney to prepare an ordinance for annexing two acres of land on the southwest corner of Central and Busse Roads.

John P. Murray, attorney for the property owner, said his client would voluntarily enter into an agreement whereby construction of a gas station on the corner would be prohibited.

He also agreed to consider improvement of the property under the requirements of a planned development.

Upgrade Parking Standards

Arlington Heights' comprehensive zoning ordinance is being amended to upgrade requirements for parking space in multiple dwelling (apartment) areas.

The village board Monday voted 4-0 to prepare an ordinance raising the number of parking places per unit from 1 to 1½. (A

'Flubber' Withdrawn From Sale

The Food and Drug Administration recently announced that the toy product "Flubber" is being recalled from the market, according to Dr. Charles Lang, director of the DuPage County Health Department.

The bouncy, stretchy, putty like material is being removed from shelves by retailers across the United States.

This action followed an FDA survey which revealed convincing evidence that "Flubber" and similar products caused a mild skin rash.

Lang stated that the rash, dubbed "Flubberitis," was in the form of bumps under the skin around the face and neck. It usually cleared up within a few days after the child ceased playing with the toy.

Roach Appointed Precinct Captain

Wheeling Township Republican Committeeman Thomas J. Hauser announced this week the appointment of Raymon E. Roach as captain of Precinct 37 in the Village of Wheeling.

Roach will replace Mrs. Helen Kubin, who has been serving temporarily in lieu of a permanent appointment, Houser said.

Roach, a market analyst with the Motorola Corp. lives at 1381 W. Anthony, Wheeling, with his wife, Marilyn and four-year-old daughter, Karen.

SINCE MOVING to Wheeling four years ago, Roach has been active in civic and political activities.

He has served as chairman of the Boy Scout drive in the Wheeling-Buffalo Grove area for the past two years and is presently serving as president of Wheeling United, a civic organization.

He is also serving as chairman of the second annual family Fair Committee and as a member of the United Fund Committee of the Wheeling-Buffalo Grove area.

In his first try for elective office last April, Roach was narrowly defeated for village trustee. (ACM

Hasbrook Wins Plea on Schools

There were smiles on the faces of Hasbrook Civic Association members as they left the Monday night meeting of High School District 214 Board of Education.

The Hasbrook residents had received what they have been seeking — the change of the north boundary of the Arlington High attendance area from Thomas Street to Palatine Road.

The boundary had been moved south to Thomas Street early this year in an effort by school officials to lower the projected enrollments at Arlington High School over the next few years.

At the behest of the Hasbrook area residents, the school board directed the administration to undertake a restudy of the number of potential pupils in the area between Thomas Street and Palatine Road.

For the 1963-64 school year, school officials estimate 35 freshmen (the only group affected by the boundary change) would attend high school. This would swell enrollment at Arlington High School from an estimated 2,541 to 2,576 but school administrators felt this number could be handled. The maximum capacity of Arlington High School is listed as 2,500 pupils.

WITH THE opening of Wheeling High School in September, 1964, the overcrowding will cease. Projected enrollment for 1964-65 at Arlington High is 2,215. With an estimated 77 freshmen and sophomore students from the Hasbrook area, this would grow to 2,292. This is well below capacity, school officials noted, and would present no problems.

In 1965-66, Arlington High projected enrollments are set at 2,116. With an estimated 137 freshmen, sophomores and juniors from Hasbrook, this would mean 2,253 students—again well below capacity, Supt. H. L. Slichenmyer noted.

Studies beyond the 1965-66 school year would not be practical, school officials said.

Supt. Slichenmyer recommended the change and board members unanimously approved the recommendation.

Slichenmyer and Mrs. Eugenia Chapman, school board secretary, both stressed the decision to change the boundary line was not based upon the "topographical barriers" (Palatine Road Junior Expressway and relocated Route 53) cited by the Hasbrook spokesmen.

BOTH EMPHASIZED the change was based on the fact that some students north of Thomas Street are within the 1½-mile walking distance to Arlington High and the inclusion of such students would not create a serious overcrowding at the school.

Andrew Van Sickle, chairman of the Hasbrook Civic Association, expressed appreciation to the school board and school administration for their favorable consideration of the attendance-area change. (A

Biographies Provide Reading Satisfaction

by BETTY AINSLIE

We all enjoy reading about the life of another probably because we like to see ourselves mirrored in some of the things the famous do. A biography of someone well known is read eagerly by most of us because we'd like to see if anything in their lives could possibly be just like our own.

Or we escape from our own uneventful days by reading about someone who has had real life adventures.

Arlington Heights Memorial Libarry has a vast collection of biographies of all kinds — from the exciting modern stories of present day movie and TV stars to the lives of historical figures which seem to come alive through the handling of a skillful biographer.

"Along the Way" by Preston Bradley along with Harry Barnard. In other words Preston Bradley did the talking and Harry Barnard the writing. This is the story of the famous pastor of Peoples Church of Chicago.

Just about everyone in this area of the United States has heard about this man who has celebrated his 50th year as a minister. He has written and published at least 10 books and made many speeches, radio broadcasts and written newspaper columns.

In this book Preston Bradley has the chance to give his views on many subjects too. It is a biography of course, but also an inspirational type of writing which is helpful to the reader. Written in a popular style the book is easily read and all will find it interesting enough to finish the last page.

A biography about a family is rather unusual as it would include more than one person for a main character. "The Vanderbilts and their story makes up a lively 400-page biography, from the earliest of the clan to the present and it is all fascinating reading.

But through the entire biography it is shown how a small sum of money is finally built into a large fortune and the author spares no punches when he tells the story of a fabulous era and a powerful family.

Another book about a family which has caused comment is "The Rothschilds" by Frederic Morton. A European dynasty that climbed from ghetto to royalty the Rothschilds had members whose lives would make good material for novels themselves. You'll be awed by the unimaginable wealth that was always a part of this family and how each generation used this huge fortune—from building palaces to living like royalty.

The most recent wedding which cost at least one hundred thousand dollars, homes that were breath-taking and adventures with nearly all the great movements in Europe make this book thrilling reading.

For a book about a famous entertainer try the new one called "The Immortal Jolson" by Pearl Sieben. Here is the story about a man who is still remembered even by a new generation as being different and unusual in the treatment of a song.

A man who was the Horatio Alger of the entertainment world—a man who rose from pennies to millions and a man who startled the entire world by being the one and only to leave four million dollars to charity. A man who was a product of World War I, the depression and the jazz age he helped to make famous.

Here in this book you'll follow the man from vaudeville to Broadway to Hollywood. You'll clearly enjoy this modern well written biography of the one and only Jazz Singer.

Jean Renoir has written a much discussed and enjoyed biography about his father called "Renoir, My Father." The story of this famous French painter whose pictures of healthy, happy people are a joy to behold. This is the story of the man rich with anecdotes and stories of people Renoir knew and loved.

An artist who fought against a crippling paralysis which hampered the use of his hands. This book also has comments about the times and shows the famous painter to be a philosopher as well. A book that will instruct, fascinate and interest anyone interested in painting or the world of the artist.

For a refreshing look at the world past and present seen factually through the eyes of the world famous, try a biography. (A

When you buy a bag of groceries or have the family car repaired, you have a pretty good idea about the price and value received. But, most often it isn't that way with television.

The greater number of people understand little or nothing about TV. They just pay the bill and hope they got their money's worth.

This is one of the reasons that LANDWEHR TV, 218 N. Dunton, Arlington Heights, itemizes your service bill and explains the servicing details. Our customers get the assurance that they will be satisfied. And, if you are going to be a new customer, you'll particularly notice that we give you all the understandable details. 'Night in Shangri-La'

Stars to Shine on Forest View's Prom

Another "first" for Forest View High School students — a junior prom under the stars — is planned for this Friday night at the school if the weatherman cooperates. Otherwise the dance will be held in a hastily decorated school cafeteria.

The Forest View courtyard will be the location; 8:30 to 11:30 p.m., the time; and "A Night in Shangri-La," the theme. Junior students and their dates will be dancing to the music of Mitch Smalley and his orchestra.

A highlight of the festivities will be the election of the Prom Queen, who will be elected that night by the junior boys present. Five nominees from among the junior girls have already been voted upon by the class. The names of these candidates will be kept secret until the election.

Junior Class sponsors are Floyd Hillman and Richard Stanowski of the school's guidance department. Selected sophomores will serve refreshments during the evening. These will include punch, cake, and fortune telling cookies.

THE STUDENT committees are under the direction of Chuck Fyfe, junior class president. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Fyfe, 8 Evergreen, Elk Grove Village. Chairman of the band committee is Barbara Schwake, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Schwake, 2124 S. Arlington Heights Road, Arlington Heights. Chairman of the theme and decorations committee is Jim Larson, son of Mr. and Mrs. D. J. Larson, 518 W. Algonquin Road, Arlington Heights.

Judy Mills is chairman of the ticket sales committee. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. I. C. Mills, 1036 Clark Lane, Des Plaines. Bob Fasano is chairman of the refreshment committee. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Bruno Fasano, 1711 Kim, Mount Prospect.

Sue Rossi is chairman of the publicity committee. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Rossi, 3302 Meadow Drive, Rolling Meadows. Marie Bradley is chairman of the bids and invitations committee. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Bradley, 1245 S. Hickory St., Arlington Heights.

County Defers Action On Restaurant Zoning

The Cook County Board of Commissioners Friday deferred action on a rezoning request to permit construction of a restaurant in Wheeling Township that would specialize in "Swedish cuisine."

The board deferred a decision after receiving a recommendation from the county zoning board of appeals that the zoning request be denied.

The property involves 3.3 acres of land located on the northeast side of Rand Road about 520 feet southeast of Euclid Ave.

THE PETITIONER, Emil H. Bengson, Jr., 3919 Milwaukee Ave., Chicago, is asking rezoning from R-3 single family residence (20,000 square feet lots) to B-3 general business district.

If the rezoning was granted, the petitioner intended to sell the land to a restauranteur who would construct a family-type restaurant specializing in Swedish cuisine and catering to private parties, banquets and similar affairs.

The rezoning request is opposed by the Prospect Meadows Property Owners Association which represents some of the 100 residences located across Rand Road from the proposed project.

While there would be no lounge or bar, the petitioner's request includes the serving of alcoholic drinks with meals. The restaurant would be screened on the three sides where residential area surrounds it, and would have a parking lot to accommodate 130 cars. Three buildings located on the property would have to be removed to permit construction.

THE ZONING board, in recommending rejection of the request, noted that there were five "high class" restaurants located within a half mile radius of the site. It further said that to inject a business use across from a subdivision would have an "adverse effect on the value of the residences."

The zoning board said the evidence was not convincing that the premises were not properly developed under its present zoning classification. It also commented that the rezoning did not appear to be in the public interest. (ACM

Road Commissioner

Everson Trial Starts With Picking of Jury

The trial of Wheeling Township Road Commissioner Oscar Everson began this Monday with the picking of a jury.

Everson is on trial in Cook County Criminal Court for allegedly taking $196 in "kickbacks" in the servicing and renting of equipment.

The trial, originally scheduled to begin April 3, was postponed due to the illness of Mrs. Olga Schmidt of Arlington Heights, one of the key witnesses against Everson.

Prosecuting the case is Asst. State's Atty. Marvin Aspen. Defense attorney representing the road commissioner is Arvey Wolke. The trial will be held in the courtroom of Judge Leslie Salter.

THREE SEPARATE indictments returned by a grand jury against Everson have been consolidated into one trial, according to Aspen.

The indictments resulted from an investigation conducted by Joseph Woods, chief investigator for the Better Government Association, after the state's attorney's office had cleared the road commissioner last year on two charges of mishandling township funds.

Woods produced checks and a statement from Richard Schmidt, Everson's former foreman who had originally accused Everson.

Schmidt said that in the rental of some equipment and in work he did for the township, Everson demanded a kickback. He listed the dates of Oct. 10, Nov. 14, and Dec. 11 of 1961 as the occasions he "paid off" Everson with checks which the road commissioner allegedly endorsed and cashed.

Woods said he secured a statement from Schmidt and his wife, Olga, both of whom testified before the grand jury. The statement and checks were turned over to the state's attorney's office, Woods added.

TWO CHARGES which the state's attorney's office had investigated early in 1962 which it declined to take action on included Everson's formation of Economy Rentals Company for the rental to the township of a tractor owned by his 17-year-old son, Charles. Everson admitted that his son purchased clothes and a car with some of the $955 paid to him for the tractor rental.

The second charge was that Everson granted himself a $10 raise from the township's road and bridge fund. The amount of $1,169 was paid back into the fund, however, and then Everson was paid out of the town fund for the $20 a day he had been earning during this period. Since reimbursement had been made, the state's attorney's office did not take action.

Exam Showdown Comes Next Week

Arlington, Forest View, and Prospect High School students will take final examinations next week, Thursday and Friday, June 6 and 7.

The schedule calls for exams in classes meeting periods 1-3 on Thursday and 4 (5) through 7 on Friday.

Thursday's exams will be interrupted by a combination lunch and study period between the second and third period tests. Forest View and Arlington will be on the same time schedule, beginning at 8:40 and dismissing at 1:55.

Prospect will begin earlier, at 8 a.m., and will dismiss at 1:15.

FRIDAY'S schedule will omit lunch, ending a hour and a half earlier than on Thursday.

Students without seventh period exams will be allowed to leave after the sixth period class.

The schools advise that no final exams may be taken in advance and that students absent from exams must make arrangements to take the tests at a later date. Unexcused absentees will not be allowed to take the tests.

All physical education classes will meet during the scheduled periods, and buses will be running on regular schedule in the mornings but on earlier departure times in the afternoon.

All report cards will be mailed home and should arrive Monday, June 17. (ACM-EG

Visitors Here Look for Snow; Vacationers Scorn Same

Among last week's busy Arlington Heighters was one who hoped it would snow and a couple who wished it hadn't. There were also birthday celebrants, visiting Grandmas and a zillion or so families preparing for graduation day. According to one unofficial poll, Thursday will be spent parade-watching, resting and, if there's time, relaxing.

The local lady hoping for snow did so apologetically and only for the sake of her sister's four children, especially the little one who's never seen snow. Friday the Joseph Connerys, 303 S. Gibbons, welcomed Mrs. Conner's sister and family, the James Kindelins of Cali, Colombia, who are home for the first time in six years. The youngest Kindelin has never been "u pnorth," and Mrs. Connery was wishing the Maytime snows north of us would descend, only briefly, of course, so that the child would know what the stuff was like.

Kindelin, sales representative for a farm machinery and supplies company, is on a 3-month vacation and with nearly all of his and his wife's relatives in the Chicago area, most of the three months will be spent with them. Other local family members on Friday's welcoming committee were the James Thorstads, 412 S. Phelps. Mrs. Thorstad is another of Mrs. Kindelin's sisters.

THERE was snow in Boulder Junction, Wis. a week ago Sunday, but the Ted Mendls, 745 S. Vail, were not particularly impressed, and certainly not delighted with it. With a party of eight Chicago friends, the Mendls had four days of fair-to-middling fishing for the men, and fair-to-good golfing for the women.

Nobody did much of anything during the "snow shower," as the precipitation was called, then resumed trolling and driving when the skies brightened. They returned home late Monday night to weather cold enough for snow.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wellnitz and Cathy, recently of 1031 S. Dunton, said their last goodbyes to Arlington Heights over the weekend, then left for a new home in Hillsdale, N. J. A late April neighborhood farewell party was matched this month with a surprise party for the Wellnitzes, given by the Howard Rudins, 505 S. Dryden

Guests were all college-mates now of the Chicago and suburban area, and there were 32 of them waiting in the Rudin basement when the honor guests came down to admire a recent improvement in the room. The improvement was ignored in the excitement that followed the "surprise!" shout.

There was dancing, a potluck buffet and lots of plans made for reunions next year in New Jersey. The group gift, a money tree to buy "remember us" things for the home at 93 Standish Road, went to Hillsdale with the Wellnitz family early this week.

MARY LEE Jack was 11 years old Saturday and began celebrating Friday night at a wide-awake slumber party with two friends in her home, 642 S. Evergreen. Saturday afternoon Mary Lee had a luncheon party for eight girl friends, two a little sleepier than the rest, then climaxed the day with a family celebration.

Colleen Guilfoil turned 11 Saturday, too, also with a Friday "over-nighter" as a prelude to the main celebration next day. Colleen's Friday night was part of a scout camping program and required some sleep to count toward a merit badge. Saturday's all-for-fun party included 12 local friends who enjoyed an afternoon of girl-foolery at the Guilfoilery, 801 S. Chestnut.

Overnight guests in the Charles Schwartz home, 421 S. Patton were Michigan friends, the Jack Longtins of Whitehall. The Schwartzes are formerly of Whitehall and apparently the Longtins' 2-day visit wasn't long enough to catch everybody up on all the news. So the Schwartz family will move back to Whitehall this summer.

Mrs. Lester Grashorn Sr. of Sheboygan, Wis. leaves here today after a week's visit at 817 S. Walnut with her son, William, and his family, and a previous week in Palatine with another son, Lester Jr., and his family.

Kathy Wegner, 726 N. Belmont, received family congratulations at a birthday party in her home last Wednesday. Kathy was 15.

THERE WAS a family party too, at 622 S. State where Margaret Mary Heffernan turned a whole year old May 15 and couldn't quite understand what all the fuss was about. Or why there wasn't more fuss May 16 because it sure was fun while it lasted.

An after-kindergarten luncheon party Monday afternoon celebrated Colleen Johnson's sixth birthday just one week late. The virus that waits for something important before it strikes waited for Colleen's birth date, May 20, and then it cancelled party plans for that day. Six neighborhood and school friends plus Colleen's little brother had fun at 1216 N. Mitchell a week later, and Colleen, feeling well and happy, didn't mind the wait either.

Mr. and Mrs. Quentin Ford, 1215 E. Euclid, weekended in Apple River Canyon in the upper west corner of the state, and report scenic beauty plus a fine camp site they didn't know existed in Illinois. The Fords have a travel trailer ideal for just such an exploring kind of a weekend.

Early this month Mr. and Mrs. Ford returned from their annual post-tax-deadline vacation to Hot Springs. Ford is a tax consultant-CPA and traditionally in need of a rest after April 15.

IT WAS a coming and going weekend at the Melvin Born home, 1007 E. Olive, where Marilyn left to visit in DeKalb and on her way out held the door open for an incoming guest, Miss Carole Vincent.

Marilyn was the guest of her cousin, Mrs. George Beasley and her husband in DeKalb, and a tour of the campus there was part of the weekend schedule.

Meanwhile, back at the old homestead, Marilyn's sister, Beth, was enjoying a reunion with a Blackburn collegemate, Miss Vincent. Miss Vincent teaches in Crete and after the school year and a visit home to Terrytown, N. Y., she'll leave for Newfoundland to teach children of American armed forces personnel stationed there.

The Jack McCombs, 710 S. Dunton, weekended in Portage, Wis. on Swan Lake where they opened the family summer cottage, readying it for the warm weather that is bound to come before it's time to board it up again.

SUE KINCHELOE, daughter of Rev. and Mrs. George Kincheloe, 730 S. Highland, ended her freshman year at Illinois College early this week and is home for the summer. Freshman Susie was elected and crowned queen of the sophomore carnival, recently held on the campus as a year-end event.

Twenty-six Chicago and suburban relatives brought congratulations to Sue Heilig Sunday at a party in the Heilig home, 730 S. Dunton, following her confirmation in Our Saviour Lutheran Church of Arlington Heights.

Tom Lundstedt's confirmation Sunday in Our Saviour Lutheran Church brought his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Lundstedt, here for the weekend from Rock Island. They were a proud part of the celebration Sunday in the Lundstedt home, 218 S. Gibbons.

Roger DeLong, son of Mrs. Eunice DeLong, 335 S. Prindle, was also among the confirmands Sunday in Our Saviour Lutheran Church, and a family party for 34 Chicago and suburban relatives honored the young man.

Adding their blessings to the day were his godparents, Louis Wenzel of Arlington Heights and Mrs. Elsie DeLong of Villa Park, and his grandmother, Mrs. Ella Casati who makes her home with the DeLongs.

Mr. and Mrs. P. H. Wilkes of Phoenix, Ariz. arrived here last Thursday for a 2-week visit with their daughter and family, the Edwin Tierneys, 315 W. Park.

Col. and Mrs. Phillip Ellner are here from Lexington, Ky., for a week's visit with the Stephen Jurcos, 217 S. Windsor.

The Ian MacLachlans, 1230 Woodford, marked their 21st wedding anniversary Saturday at a dinner party at the Konticki Restaurant, after which they attended a performance of "Mary Mary."

Walter Strobel, 1319 Mayfair, returned Wednesday from a 10-day fishing trip beyond Lake of the Woods, Canada.

Also returning from a fishing trip were the Walter Dahls, 416 S. Windsor, who went up for the White Bass Run at Wolf River, near Oshkosh, Wis.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Fairchild, 1311 Woodford, will take part in the annual Memorial Day Services of the Trowel Post of the American Legion and Auxilary. The service will be held at 2 o'clock in the afternoon at Acacia Cemetery, Chicago, on Memorial Day.

Mr. Fairchild, who is Americanism chairman and past commander of Trowel Post and members of the Legion and Auxilary will place 1500 flags on the graves of departed veterans.

Mrs. Oliver Auer, 410 S. Windsor, drove to Marshall, Mo., for a 3-day visit with her mother, Mrs. H. S. DuBois, and relatives in the area. Enroute home, she stopped at Central Methodist College in Fayette for their son, Nelson, who, having finished the college semester, is coming home for the summer.

Don Schreiber, a junior at Prospect High School, was one of five history students who went to Springfield May 24 with their history teacher, Mr. Schmidt, to accept Student History Awards from Gov. Kerner. Each student chosen to go had written an article on Illinois history that merited publication in the magazine "Illinois History." Theme of Don's article was "Plank Road Period."

During their stay in Springfield the students attended a tea and reception in the Governor's mansion, visited the Senate and House of Representatives, the Fair Grounds, Lincoln's home and Lincoln's tomb.

Don is the son of the Lester Schreibers, 123 S. Brighton.

THE ARNICE Basils, 427 S. Windsor and their daughter, Jo-Windsor and their daughter, Joanne, have just returned from Escanaba, Mich., where they attended an open house in honor of the 50th wedding anniversary of Mrs. Basil's parents, the Clarence Jensens.

Other family members gathered for the celebration included Mrs. Basil's brothers and sister-in-law, Dr. and Mrs. William Jensen of Lansing, Mich., Allen and Ronald Jensen of Escanaba, a sister and her family, the Roy Petersons of Long Brook, N. J., and a nephew and his wife, the Allen Petersons of Rockford.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Kroll, 326 S. Derbyshire, spent the past week in New York City attending the Design and Engineering Convention at the Coliseum.

Afterwards they went on to Boston to spend several days with former Arlington Heights residents, the Frank Plennerts. Arlington Heights next weekend for a 2-week visit with their son and family, the Alvan Macaulays, 428 S. Windsor.

The Harry L. Wickstroms, 527 S. Dryden, spent the weekend at the Wagon Wheel in Rockton.

Mr. and Mrs. Clyde A. Ferry, 637 Bristol, have just received word that their daughter, Jan, has been named valedictorian of her graduating class at Arlington High School. Three other students have also received this honor and they include Jane Oldenberg, Charles King and Nancy Bohac.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph F. Faner, 615 Mayfair, attended the annual dinner for members of school board District 25 at the Evergreens last Sunday.

During the evening Miss Martha Sapp, Director of Instruction at Arlington Heights Public Schools, was honored for her 25 years of service, and a scroll was presented to William Hannum, retiring board member, and Mrs. Marion Malcomson, new board member, was welcomed.

Among board members attending the dinner were the Ralph Clabuaghs, Peter Backuses and Robert Campbell.

The William G. Frankes, 126 S. Pine, recently spent four days in Minneapolis visiting their daughter and son-in-law, the John Eakins, and their two grandchildren, Billy and Julie.

Mrs. Doris Willard of Melvindale, Mich., is spending a month here with her sister, Mrs. Lillie Baugh, who makes her home with her daughter and family, the August Burniers, 516 E. Fairview.

Mrs. Gurie Rinov of Dublin, N. H., spent the past week in Arlington Heights visiting her sister and brother-in-law, the O. F. Davenports, 314 S. Beverly. While here, Mrs. Rinov and Mrs. Davenport went to Springfield to re-visit their former home town.

The Harold Deans, Dr. and Mrs. Frank Schroeder and the Walter Simons drove to St. Louis for the weekend to visit former Scarsdale neighbors, the Richard Sanfords.

The Verne Whitnells, 433 Banbury, attended an organ recital Sunday in the West Park Field House, Park Ridge, in which their 11-year-old daughter, Jane, was a soloist.

The L. A. Leathermans of Madison, N. J., will arrive in Arlington Heights May 31, for a short visit with the latter's sister and family, the George L. Gardners.

Eastwood Events

Best wishes for happiness are certainly abounding in the Robert F. Kennett household, for within one week of each other nounced their engagements.

Maryann, who lives in Chiand Patricia have both antheir two daughters, Maryann cago has set October 26 as her wedding day to Gerald Cunningham in St. Catherine of Sienna Church, Oak Park. Pat has also chosen their former village of Oak Park for her marriage next Feb. 8 when she becomes the bride of Richard Killian of Chicago. Her ceremony is to take place in St. Giles Church. The girls are the daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Robert F. Kennett of 604 N. Dryden Ave.

Old hands at winning Eastwood Bridge tournaments, Dorothy and Herm Raasch duplicated their feat again this year. Second place award went to Virginia and Bob Fritz who had been the leading contenders for the last few months.

THE TOURNAMENT dinner dance Saturday night at Old Orchard Country Club was preceded by several cocktail parties. Betty and Matt Cockrell were hosts at a large party, and the Leon McKnights entertained the McBrides, Scullys and Tatges. Mr. and Mrs. Van Veen were to have been guests of the McKnights, but the serious illness of Mr. Van Veen's father necessitated his leaving for Detroit.

Mrs. John O'Hare, mother of Mrs. Jack Anderson, is visiting from Coral Gables, Fla., with her daughter and family and was their guest at Saturday's festivities. Also returning from Florida in time for the party were Marguerite and Bob Scott, who have spent most of the winter in the South.

MRS. ALBERT Gamenthaler and Mrs. Samuel Cullison were co-hostesses recently for a farewell coffee for Mrs. John Hagerman and Mrs. Jack Cloher. The Hagermans, who lived at 420 N. Hickory Ave., moved on May 15 to Sun City, Ariz., a retired peoples' community, and the Clohers have chosen an apartment in Skokie for their new home. All the ladies from the 400 and 500 blocks of N. Hickory Ave. were invited to the Cullison home to say their farewells to their departing neighbors.

After 2½ months vacation out west Mrs. Thomas Loftus of N. Dryden Avenue has returned home with lots of vigor to attach her gardening and household chores. Mrs. Loftus and her sister-in-law, Mrs. Bernard Majewski and daughter, Terecita, from Barrington, drove to Palm Springs where they were joined by her brother who jetted to the vacation spot. After five weeks here Mrs. Loftus visited in Carmel, Covina and saw the Grand Canyon.

From sightseeing in a ski loft 10,000 feet above sea level, to sampling the wares of the wineries were all included in Mrs. Loftus' trip, plus a visit with former Euclid Ave. neighbors, Col. and Audrey Gross and their daughter, Linda Lee, who now live in Carmel.

PURPOSE OF Mr. and Mrs. Sam Cullison's weekend trip to Indiana was to bring home their son, John, who just completed his sophomore year at Indiana U. On the way to Bloomington the Cullisons stopped over on Saturday night with Mrs. Cullison's sister and family, the George Decks in Indianapolis.

John Cullison who recently was initiated into Lambda Chi Alpha fraternity, was also honored for his high scholastic standing at Founders Day ceremonies at the University on May 1.

Monday night Mrs. Cullison was hostess to a group of 25 members of the Education Study group, an Arlington branch of the A.A.U.W. Mrs. R. B. Yadon spoke to the oup regarding a community college for the area. (A

Cars Collide At Intersection

An Arlington Heights motorist was charged with failure to yield the right of way last week after his auto crashed into another at Highland Avenue and Vine Street.

Ticketed was Michael E. Foley, 21, of 1012 N. Highland Ave., whose southbound car crashed into the rear of one being driven east on Vine by Mrs. Mary Q. Phillips, 803 N. Dunton Ave.

Mrs. Phillips' two sons, Timothy, 5, and Billy, 3, were in her auto at the time of the accident, but were not reported to be injured. (A

Venezuelan Is June WMS Speaker

Mrs. David Gotaas, dean of women of the Ebenezer Bible Institute in Venezuela, will be guest speaker at the June 4 meeting of the Women's Missionary Society at 8 p.m. in Arlington Heights Evangelical Free Church.

Mrs. Gotaas, her husband, and their four children, are home on furlough from their duties in Venezuela. Dr. Gotaas is currently on the staff of the Moody Bible Institute.

The meeting will be the last for WMS until September and will be the first one presided over by the newly-installed officers: president, Mrs. James Wade; vice president, Mrs. Thomas Young; recording secretary, Mrs. Thomas Shirley; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Adam Sergey; and treasurer, Mrs. John Sherman.

Correction

The Herald erroneously reported last week that Ann M. Hill, 1130 N. Douglas Ave., was involved in an auto accident on Monday, May 20.

The accident actually took place on Monday, March 11. The Herald regrets this error.

Arlington Greens

A board meeting of the newly elected officers and directors of the Arlington Greens Community Association will be held Wednesday, June 5, beginning at 8:30 p.m. The organization's membership drive began the last week in May and will continue through the first week of June. Chairman of this committee is Ron Lundell.

Mr. and Mrs. William Lebsock and daughter, Susay Kay, of North Douglas motored to Detroit last week for a three-day combination business and pleasure trip. A brief sightseeing jaunt into Windsor, Ontario, and a visit with friends, Mr. and Mrs. D. S. West, was the pleasure part of the trip.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Ponter of E. Oakton returned Thursday from a five-day visit in Pittsburgh combining business with pleasure, they enjoyed visiting relatives in the area.

MRS. BRUCE Haldemann of E. Oakton returned home last Tuesday after a 10-day stay in Lutheran Deaconess Hospital in Chicago, where she underwent surgery. Guest in the Haldemann home since Easter was the grandmother, Mrs. Sadie Harvison of Pittsburgh, who has extended her visit until early in June.

Also home from a recent week's hospital stay is Mrs. Lawrence Berens of N. Hickory. She underwent surgery in Loretto Hospital in Chicago.

The O. J. Baileys and their Clarendon Avenue neighbors, Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Taylor, enjoyed a weekend trip to Indianapolis May 18-19 to attend the first of the qualifications for the annual 500-mile Memorial Day race.

Members of the canasta club abandoned the cards and score sheets Wednesday evening in favor of their semi-annual night out. Dinner and an evening performance of "Tender Trap" at Old Orchard was the evening's fare for Marie Duxbury, Dorothy Swoboda, Helen Foreman, Kay Hedberg, Lil Woehlck, Sylvia Damiano, Kay Warman and their guest, Donna Sass.

Nine-year-old Alan Olson of E. Oakton celebrated his birthday May 22. Attending his supper party were Ralph Gitlund, Lowell and Dean Fritz, Bobby Wernecke, Jack and Jim Jenkins, Craig Lasher, Robby Kushner and his sisters, Janet and Lynne.

Another nine-year-old celebrating her birthday last week was Peggy Lockhart of E. Clarendon. Her brother and sister, John and Mary, plus 11 school chums and neighborhood friends were guests at the Saturday luncheon party on May 18.

House guests of the Forest Semerows, N. Hickory, last week were the grandmothers, Mrs. Gus Ahlman of Morristown, Minn., and Mrs. Rachel Partridge of Sumner, Iowa. Sightseeing in Chicago and visiting her son and family in their new home ended last Thursday for Mrs. Ahlman. Mrs. Partridge extended her stay for a few more days.

Thomas Lee, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Stan Saflarski, E. Clarendon, was christened in St. James Catholic Church Sunday afternoon by Rev. George Roth. Godparents were Miss Mary Lou Traina, a neighbor and the baby's brother, James. The Carl Traina family joined the Saflarskis for the dinner party following the ceremony.

THE ROBERT Brights of N. Douglas motored to Bloomington last weekend to visit the grandmother, Mrs. Verna Bright, and Miss Carol Strain, a student at Illinois State Normal. Mrs. Bright and Miss Strain are sisters.

Several Greens couples and members of the Elk's bridge group attended the dinner held at the lodge Saturday evening. Among them were the Tony Tomasos, Dick Sims, Pat Dannas, Seymour Rechts and the Ed Zelsmanns.

Richard Sage, 700 E. Oakton, was among the 24 white robed students to be confirmed Sunday following the 11 a.m. service at Our Saviour Lutheran Church on N. State Road. Rev. John P. Petersen officiated at the ceremony. A dinner party marked the occasion and was attended by the Olaf Grant family of Zion, the William Kasten and James Routt families of Waukegan; the Leo Sage family of Grand Rapids and Mrs. Sena Van Louven, great-grand aunt, also of Grand Rapids. They arrived on Friday and were weekend guests in the Sage home. Open house later in the day was attended by numerous friends and relatives.

Little Leaguer Ray Thorsen Jr. of E. Clarendon, catcher for the Blues Juniors was both happy and relieved after the game with the Larks Saturday morning at Greens Park. His contribution to the game included a single, double, triple and home run to help the team come out on top in the 10 to 9 score. (A

Sick Elms Must Be Removed

Evans E. Wells, forester employed by the Village of Arlington Heights to detect diseased trees, this week reminded property owners that they have 10 days after Dutch elm disease is located to remove the infected tree.

Wells recently discovered four incidents of diseased trees. The trees must be cut down and burned in order to halt spread of the Dutch elm beetle, he said.

A village ordinance requires diseased trees be removed from private property. (A

Newshen Inspects U.S. Air Defense System

'Nation Is Safe,' Is Her Conclusion

by ALICE M. TERRILL
Copy Editor

After participating in a recent five-day "Operation Understanding," I'm not nearly as worried about our national defense.

As a guest of the 45th Brigade of the U.S. Army Air Defense Command in Arlington Heights, I was able to personally witness the efforts being made to protect us if this country is ever attacked.

I saw proof that the Army Air Defense Program is both dynamic and progressive.

It would be impossible in a single news story to discuss all the briefings made available to us. But I will attempt to report on what groundwork is being laid for defense of the entire North American continent.

Eight women from the Chicago-Gary area, escorted by Major Ruth E. Allbee of the 45th Brigade (AD), Arlington Heights, and Col. William D. Sommers of Fort Sheridan, left O'Hare Air Force Base on an Air Force C-47 for El Paso, Tex., and Fort Bliss AFB. The group paused en route at Tinker AFB in Oklahoma City for lunch.

THREE OF the women were from area suburbs: Miss Barbara Ann Davis, assistant to the promotional director of Randhurst Corp.; Mrs. Philip Locke of Glen Ellyn, wife of DuPage County Probate Judge; and myself.

Our headquarters for two days at Fort Bliss were in visitors cottages. We attended numerous briefings, the first of which was a welcoming address and discussion of U. S. Army Air Defense Center activities.

There were also briefings and demonstrations of NIKE and other Army weapons systems. All were presented in a manner understandable to those unschooled in technical science.

A bus trip to McGregor Range, New Mexico, afforded us an opportunity to witness eight firings: NIKE-Hercules, NIKE-Ajax, and the Hawk. All were successful hits with the exception of one of two Hawk firings, which was aborted.

THIS RECORD was quite different from the demonstration given a group of northwest suburban men last July. They witnessed three firings, and all three were misses.

At White Sands Missile Range, N. M., we had a briefing and tour of NIKE-Zeus facilities.

After departing from Holloman AFB, we arrived at the Antlers Hotel in Colorado Springs, Colo. From there we went to NORAD (North American Air Defense) Communications Center at Ent AFB. We both saw and heard the string reaction that begins when planes - possibly hostile ones—enter the radar area.

"Operation Understanding" was not all serious briefings and guided tours. We had our share of fun, including two evenings "South of the Border" in Juarez, Mexico, for shopping, dining, and dancing.

OUR GROUP was the guest of Major General Tom V. Stayton and his wife at a cocktail party in the Officers Club at Fort Bliss. I was called upon to make a 30 second speech on "Operation Understanding."

We were also honored with a special luncheon at the Officers Skyline Club at Ent Air Force Base. I was again called upon to express my impressions of the trip as well as offer a "pencil sketch" of my background. This was taped for a local radio program.

At Fort Bliss, I was interviewed by Winnie Denton of Denton Publications.

With such attention, I came home feeling like a celebrity!

Our group entertained at a party in the Antlers Hotel. In addition to the officials we had already met on our tour, we included a similar civilian group from the New York-New Jersey area.

A final highlight of our "Operation" was a tour of the impressive Air Force Academy and the Garden of the Gods.

We left for home from Peterson Field, pausing in Omaha for lunch before arriving at O'Hare Saturday afternoon.

ALL OF US taking part in this project felt privileged to be invited and to receive certificates declaring us "ambassadors" for the Air Defense Command. How could we hlep but be just that after gaining such an insight into "what's going on."

Full details and descriptions of the briefings and demonstrations were omitted from this report because they were explained last fall in a special three-part series by Warren Rogers, who represnted Paddock Publications in a previous tour of citizens from this area.

Films of the briefings and demonstrations are available at the 45th Brigade Headquarters in Arlington Heights. Col. Francis G. Gregory Jr. is commanding officer. (A14 MAJOR GEN. TOM STAYTON presents Alice Terrill of Paddock Publications with her membership in the "Oozlefinch Society," a traditional gesture for visiting "VIP's" to the Air Defense command. Women members are referred to as Powder Puff Oozlefinches. The ceremony was part of Mrs. Terrill's five-day tour of Air Defense facilities in Texas, New Mexico, and Colorado. (A-14

How It Operates

Selective Service Is Obligation for Youth

The selective service law in the United States has been extended by Congress for four years, until July 1, 1967, which means that the young men of the country must continue to expect to serve in the Armed Forces.

Following is the first in a series of articles concerning the fundamentals of Selective Service, prepared by the Illinois Headquarters of the Selective Service System at Springfield.

The Military Obligation

At 17 a young man (with his parents' consent) may choose among a wide variety of ways to begin discharging his active duty and reserve military obligation. He may enlist in the regular forces for three to six years. He may enter a reserve or National Guard program. He may volunteer for induction for two years.

Even after he registers for the draft at age 18 he has ahead of him at the present time five or more years in which to choose his own time and method of discharging the military obligation. As he gains more education these opportunities widen to include various military programs leading toward a commission.

But if he does not make his own choice he may expect induction at around age 23 if he is qualified and not deferred or exempt. And even though he may not be qualified or is deferred or exempt when his turn to serve comes, he may still be put in Class I-A if at any time up to his 35th birthday he loses the deferment or the cause of his disqualification is removed.

If he should be reclassified into Class I-A after he would normally be inducted and before age 26, he would probably be the oldest man available in his local board and, if qualified, would be the first called.

Because of the need for manpower in the Armed Forces, about six out of ten men who became 26 in 1962 had entered service voluntarily or by induction. Those who had not were almost all disqualified. A few were those who were continuously deferred or exempt through age 26.

It is estimated that well over half of all men who reach 26 through the next four years will be required to enter service to maintain active and reserve strengths. Disqualification, deferment and exemption will account for the remainder.

Virtually no qualified and available man can expect to reach 26 without entering service in the next four years.

Registration

Every man is required to register under the draft law within five days after his 18th birthday. He may register at any local board office but should be certain to give his home address, for that will determine the local board which will always have his recrods and which will deal with his case.

If a man is on active duty with the Armed Forces on his 18th birthday he need not register at that time but must do so within 30 days after he leaves the service.

Aliens born after September 15, 1925, with a few exceptions, must register within six months after entering the United States or at age 18, whichever is later.

Failure to register, like failure to comply with other provisions of the law, may subject men to prosecution or to induction out of turn and ahead of other men.

After he registers each man is required by law to keep his local board informed of any change in his address or any change in his personal situation which might affect his liability to serve.

Classification

Some time after he has registered each man will receive a questionnaire from his local board. His answers will provide the basic information which the board will use to decide whether he should be deferred or exempt or whether he should be considered available for induction for two years of service.

The local board also considers information from other sources such as employers, dependents, and government agencies. But fundamentally the law imposes on the registrant the responsibility for keeping the board informed of anything in his personal situation which might affect his classification.

Every classification is made on the basis of individual status. There are no group classifications.

No classification is permanent. In some cases expiration dates are set. A man classified as available for service may find his individual situation so changed that the local board may defer him, while a man who is deferred or exempt may not remain in that class after the conditions on which the exemption or deferment is based cease to exist.

The classification assigned by the board determines whether a man will enter service in his turn or remain temporarily in civilian life. The boards are made up of unpaid volunteer citizens of the community. They cannot be members of the military service.

The local board may require a registrant to appear before it and has the authority to subpoena witnesses. Every registrant is required to submit to the board any information requested of him. (A14

Fire Razes Converted Barn

Atcher's House Loss Is Estimated at $200,000

Loss from a May 19 fire which leveled the home of Schaumburg Village President Robert Atcher is being estimated at up to $200,000.

Atcher, while declining to make an estimate until after an inventory is completed, said the 22-room structure would cost $150,000 to replace, but predicted this never will be done.

Indications were that a value of up to $100,000 might be placed on the personal possessions destroyed, including musical instruments, rare guns, jewelry and cowboy paraphernalia of the Western-style singer-entertainer.

ATCHER, COWBOY singing star and owner of a local radio station, had lived for the past eight years in the house—which a quarter of a century ago had been converted into four floors of living space out of a pre-Civil War barn. The house sat on a knoll near Meacham and Schaumburg Roads in Schaumburg Township.

Cause of the fire remained undetermined, except that it started under the peak of the roof.

A neighbor, Merna Busche, spotted smoke pouring from the roof about 4 p.m. and telephoned Atcher, who was relaxing inside the home with his wife, Maggie, and their three children.

AFTER running outside to see, Atcher returned inside to escape with an armload of musical instruments and Mrs. Atcher carried out a strongbox with valuable papers.

By that time the ceiling of the living room had crashed to the floor, and the house was hopelessly engulfed in fire.

Seven fire departments rushed to the home — from Hoffman Estates, Palatine, Elk Grove, Bloomingdale, Roselle, Bartlett and Ontarioville.

SINCE THE area is beyond the reaches of hydrants, the firemen hauled water to the site in tanker trucks.

But no amount of water or equipment could have doused the flames, in the estimate of Schaumburg Police Chief Martin J. Conroy.

The firemen did save a nearby cottage belonging to Atcher and a 300-gallon fuel tank. A tractor was pulled from the garage at the lower level of the burning home.

AS SMOKE billowed skyward, hundreds of cars lined all roads near the fire. Conroy estimated that more than 3,000 spectators gathered, many in cars with vehicle stickers from villages in DuPage County.

Conroy told his officers to warn the motorists they would have to move on or they would be ticketed for illegal parking. The chief said fire trucks were able to move unimpeded despite the heavy traffic.

Curiosity-seekers continued to drive into the area Monday, May 20, while a police guard was maintained at the smouldering ruins.

ATCHER, wearing the only suit of clothing he was left with, came to survey the remains with two insurance adjusters.

Two huge chimneys, standing approximately 40 feet high, stood at either end of the twisted mess of steel and hot ashes, lying inside the thick brick and masonry first floor wall of the old barn. Conroy was trying to contact a local construction man to dynamite the chimneys.

Atcher said the building was 104 feet long and 40 feet wide. Floor space on the four floors covered more than one-third of an acre. In addition to the 22 regular rooms, the house had six full bathrooms.

EACH CHRISTMAS, Atcher recalled he had erected a 22-foot high Yule tree in his living room. The entire interior of the house had been wood panelled.

In the ashes, Atcher spotted the remains of two pianos, lost with an old zither, two fiddles, a guitar, radios, record players and other musical equipment. He also lost copyrights for 200 songs he has written.

He clutched in his hand a twisted piece of metal, all that was left of a saddle set for which he had paid $10,000 and recently was appraised at $17,000.

He had sat in the saddle atop his palomino pony for eight years in a row to lead the Chicago State Street Christmas parade.

SOMEWHERE in the ashes lay his gun collection, including two Colt revolvers once owned by Buffalo Bill.

Atcher said he moved into the house in 1955 and it had been converted from a barn in 1939-1941 by L. D. Kern, a leading insurance executive.

One testimony to the sturdiness of the building, he said, is an old photograph which shows the surrounding structures had the barn standing intact after all been leveled by a tornado. (A

REMAINS OF A $10,000 SADDLE outfit used to lead Chicago's State Street Christmas parades are examined by Atcher, a member of the Arlington Heights Chamber of Commerce and owner of a local FM radio station.

SMOULDEDING ASHES and twisted metal fill the foundation of the razed home of Robert Atcher, cowboy entertainer and Arlington Heights businessman. Atcher is pictured above viewing the remains of the house which burned to the ground Sunday, May 19. The house was a reconverted barn built before the Civil War. Loss is estimated at $200,000.

Ex-Contractor Sets Up Home Diagnosis Business

The anxious about-to-be homeowner can get an appraisal of the home he is to buy.

An Arlington Heights resident, Emmett Stains, 31, has set up a business, Home Quality Surveys, 822 S. McKinley St., Arlington Heights, to tell the home buyer what he is getting in his home — whether the construction is sound, the heating system workable, the taxes in line with his pocketbook.

Price of the service which is considered unique in the midwest is ¼ of one per cent sales price of the building. For example, on a $20,000 home this would mean the buyer would pay $50 for the survey.

Stains uses a checklist which starts on the exterior construction from the foundation to the roof and then proceeds to the interior—floors, walls, ceilings, and furnace.

Beside the concrete details of home construction, Home Quality Surveys gives the prospective buyer information on taxes, finding out for him what the present owner of the home paid the previous year.

STAINS ALSO takes into account whether the couple buying a home has children and with what church they are affiliated. He then gets appropriate information on schools and churches in the vicinity.

Stains, a former general contractor, is building a file of information such as what villages are having bond issues, what programs for special assessments on sewer or streets are underway, and what schools might be having a bond issue. The homeowner then will know what to expect as a result of his home ownership.

Home Quality Survey also is a help to the man who is building a new home. Stains will check the plans to see whether the individual is getting all he wants. He will inform him whether the brick he has chosen is cheap brick and give the reasons why he should or should not use it, whether heavier drywall is more advisable, and whether hot water heat might be more suitable than hot air. Stains will inspect items such as insulation, footings, and floor drains—finding things which may save the homebuilder money.

IT IS sometimes hard to convince a couple buying a home in the $20,000 bracket that spending a few more dollars at the time of construction will save them money over a period of time, Stains said.

People are blind in certain respects when they purchase a home and don't see the bad points, he added.

Stains does not tell a prospective buyer which house to buy but simply tells him what he is getting in the home.

In some instances a man moved by his company to this area will house hunt and narrow his search to two homes. Stains then will give him an appraisal of the two homes and he and his wife can decide which one they want on the basis of the information.

STAINS decided to set up this business when he found friends would ask him, as someone who had been in the construction business for 15 years, what he thought about the homes they were purchasing. With his experience as a partner in Cleveland Builders in Arlington Heights, and another contracting business, he felt he could give the homeowner some valuable information.

Stains looks to a bright future with the buying and selling of homes as a result of American mobility. If his business of three months succeeds, he has dreams of developing it into a national concern. He now is serving the metropolitan and suburban Chicago area. (B8

LOOKING OVER A HOUSE for a client, Emmett Stains of Home Quality Surveys, 822 S. McKinley, Arlington Heights, checks off the exterior points of home construction. Stains also gives an appraisal of business building construction for prospective buyers. In essence the buyer pays for Stains' trust in giving him the real story on a home.

Robber Waves Machete

KALAMAZOO, MICH., (UPI)— Police here are looking for a holdup artist with a unique angle—instead of carrying a gun, he waves a machete to get his point across.

Early Sunday morning the man robbed the Clark's Service Station of $480 in cash and checks.

Station Attendant George Caldwell said the man wore stockings over his face and hands. He waved a machette and demanded the money.

Caldwell didn't argue. (B8

Q: WHERE CAN I BUY A "LIKE-NEW" USED CAR?

A: YOU CAN'T!

Despite claims to the contrary, the only car that's "like-new" is new. Regardless of how well maintained a car is, once it has left the showrooms, it will never be "like-new" again.

But there is a difference between a used car and an abused car. Unfortunately the difference is all too often hidden. So you can buy a so-called "like-new" car and then find out it needs extensive work on the transmission, engine, etc.

In buying a used car, you'd be wise to consider a Gold Medal automobile from the extensive selection at Grove Dodge. You see, we give you a written guarantee covering the entire power train of the car (including the radio, battery, rear end, etc.), that covers 100% of all parts and labor. You also receive a 1,000 mile service warranty to cover all ordinary adjustments on the brakes, engine timing, etc.

Needless to say, you get bank rate financing, on-the-spot delivery, and an unusually fair trade-in allowance for your present car.

A "like-new" used car. There is no such thing. But the closest thing to it is a guaranteed Gold Medal used car.

THE 50-VOICE GLEE CLUB of Sacred Heart of Mary High School played a major role in the music-drama program presented for parents and area residents on Sunday, May 19, and Wednesday, May 22. The program was held at the St. Viator Boys High School auditorium on Oakton St., Arlington Heights. Pending completion of the new Sacred Heart of Mary High School (now under construction in Rolling Meadows) the girls are using borrowed space in the boys school. Director of the Glee Club is Mother Mary Charles, RSHM. (B9

20,000 Reply to Rumsfeld Questions

Over 20,000 returns to the "1963 National Issues Poll" have arrived thus far, U. S. Rep. Donald Rumsfeld, R-13th, reported this week.

Because of the size of the response, a final tabulation will not be available for another week.

Early returns, however, indicate much interest in reducing the "planned deficit" of $11.9 billion in the budget, displeasure with the current agricultural subsidy programs, and deep concern with the Soviet military buildup in Cuba, Rumsfeld said.

SEVERAL hundred residents included letters with their answers and the many comments and suggestions are now being analyzed.

Although it is impossible to reply individually to all people who returned questionnaires, each one is given personal attention and every respondent, as well as the press, will receive results of the poll as soon as they are tabulated, Rumsfeld said.

More than one-fifth of the residents of the district received copies of the questionnaire. Rumsfeld's office will send a copy to any person requesting one.

"THIS POLL," Rumsfeld stated, " is a trial, and I will decide whether to continue it after analyzing the returns. A good questionnaire helps to inform people of national issues and stimulates discussions at work, at the dinner table, and in the classroom.

"It is interesting to note that requested additional questionnaires for use in their classrooms.

"About 40 per cent of the respondents have indicated 'no opinion' on the question of making the Civil Rights Commission permanent," Rumsfeld noted. "Obviously, there is a need to supply information about the commission and this proposal."

"As to how my votes are cast, I take full responsibility, as often the final decision to vote 'yea' or 'nay' on a bill is between two imperfect alternatives."

Snah - Da - Yo - Ki Camp Fire Group held a Council Fire May 21, to which members invited their mothers as guests. The girls were awarded a pin and honor bead for taking part in the Needlecraft Guild as well as honor beads in the Seven Crafts. They have also passed the final requirements toward Wood Gatherer's Rank at on June 9.

Members of the Ta-Cin-Ca Junior High Group plan to march in the Memorial Day Parade May 30. Ellen Olsen and Rosemary Saidikowski have decorated a coaster wagon on which the group plans to transport their colorful Totem Pole during the parade.

All Blue Bird and Camp Fire groups who plan to march in the parade should meet at South Junior High School at 9 a.m.

Outdoor training for Day Camp Counselors is to be held May 28 at Busse Woods from 10 a.m. to 2:30 p.m.

Membership March dates for this Spring are April 15-June 1. During this time, Mrs. Marolyn Scheffel, group organization chairman, has been helping to organize new Blue Bird and Camp Fire groups to help Camp Fire grow.

3 Firemen Felled In Melrose Park

MELROSE PARK, (UPI) — Three firemen suffered heat prostration while fighting a half million dollar fire Sunday night in four factories in Melrose Park.

Melrose Park Fire Chief Anthony Prignano called in the state fire marshal's office to investigate the possibility of arson.

The fire began in a paper box factory on the town's border with Northlake.

PRIGNANO said he listed the cause as undetermined with a possibility of arson.

The three firemen were treated at a local hospital and sent home, Prignano said.

Assisting the Melrose Park fire department in fighting the blaze were other departments from Maywood, Stone Park, and Northlake along with the Melrose Park Civil Defense.

The factories are located on Roberta Road which divides the communities of Northlake and Melrose Park. (A14

Kenosha Expels John Doe

KENOSHA, WIS., (UPI)—There was a John Doe investigation here Friday, but it ended without fanfare when police allowed John Doe to board a train to Chicago.

John Doe, 37, was picked up after police said they had received complaints that he was talking of pushing over a park statute. They said he had left town some weeks ago after being picked up on similar complaints.

A brief investigation again cleared Doe, and when he said he wanted to go to Chicago police took him to the station and saw him off. (B8

Every Dog Has His Day

MILWAUKEE, (UPI)—Timmy, a German Shepherd whose mistress was ordered to get rid of him after he snarled traffic on a local expressway by taking a midnight stroll there, found himself a friendly judge and got charges against him—and his owner—dismissed.

County Judge Christ Seraphim told Mrs. William Verscharen Saturday he "thinks differently in dog cases" since he acquired a dog himself, as he dismissed a charge brought by an irate assistant city attorney.

Mrs. Verscharen had told the prosecutor she'd go to court rather than give up her pet, who jumped out a window to freedom one night before his evening stroll. (B8

THE MOST UNUSUAL number in the music-drama program presented by girls of Sacred Heart of Mary High School last week was a choral-speaking presentation "The Lonesome Train." The scene depicts residents of a small town as the Lincoln Funeral Train passes. The girls are members of the school Drama Club. The number was directed by Miss Therese Cuny, school drama instructor. (B9

ONE OF THE HIGHLIGHTS of the music-drama program last week by girls of the Sacred Heart of Mary High School was a one-act comedy "Grandma Pulls The String." Shown here is Madeline Collins as Grandma; Janet Sanders as Hildegarde; Charles Heinrich as Bill; and Susan Sajdak as Julia. The play was directed by Miss Therese Cuny, school drama coach. Heinrich is a student at St. Viator High School, where the girls school has temporary classrooms. (B9

Modern Etiquette

Q. What is expected of the bride's parents when the groom's parents are strangers and are coming from out of town for the wedding?

A. The bride's parents should help them find accommodations and show them every courtesy possible. This does not mean, however, that they must invite them to stay in their home, or even to pay for the hotel.

Q. When a woman is paying her first call on a new neighbor, how long should she remain?

A. From 15 to 20 minutes should be long enough. Usually a woman who has just moved into a new home has plenty to do, and it would show a big lack of consideration to keep her from her work too long.

Q. Is it proper to place the elbows on the table while drinking from a cup, holding it with the fingers of both hands?

A. This is not considered the best of manners.

Q. When drinking from a goblet, how do you hold the goblet?

A. It is held firmly between thumb and forefinger at the junction of the top of the stem and the bottom of the flared part of the goblet. Avoid spreading your whole hand around the flared top of the goblet.

SUE WILLIAMS, Arlington Heights, will find her studies for a teaching career a little easier with the award of the annual District 21 PTA scholarship last week. Miss Williams, a Prospect High School senior, will enter the University of Illinois in the fall. The scholarship presentation was a highlight of the Randhurst Council of PTA's annual workshop and luncheon program last week.

FOUR SCHOOL SUPERINTENDENTS were luncheon guests of the Randhurst Council of PTA's at the council's annual school of instruction. On hand to greet them were Mrs. Arnold Lomar of Evanston, director of PTA District 21, and Mrs. Charles Nelson, second-term President of the council. Obviously pleased with their luncheon invitation were Superintendents George Propeck, Prospect Heights; Herman Meiners, Feehanville; L. R. Murphy, Mount Prospect; and Roger Bardwell, Elk Grove. Superintendent Kenneth Gill of Wheeling-Buffalo Grove schools was a program speaker but was unable to stay for luncheon. The five school districts comprise the Randhurst Council of PTA's area of service.

The Tax Bill

Seek Court Review Of Deerfield Case

Washington, (UPI) — Attorneys for a Chicago housing development corporation Monday asked the Supreme Court to take a second look at the Deerfield Park segregation dispute on the strength of last week's opinions in the sit-in cases.

The court on April 15 refused to examine a decision of the Illinois Supreme Court which allowed the all-white Chicago suburb to condemn land on which the corporation was building integrated housing.

The counsel for Progress Development Corp. said Monday that the reasoning in the court's sit-in decisions, particularly the New Orleans opinion, applies to the Deerfield situation.

DEERFIELD condemned for park areas the site on which the housing was going up. The state court refused to consider evidence designed to show that the move was a device to keep the area white.

The petition for reconsideration filed with the Supreme Court Monday noted that in the New Orleans case the court said "A state may act as authoritatively through its executive as through its legislative body."

The petition said "By the determination and exhortation of Deerfield officials in favor of continuing segregation, the supposed neutrality of state judicial involvement was as effectively lost in the Deerfield condemnation action as it was in the trespass action in New Orleans."

The petition said another thing has happened since April 15. Originally Deerfield included four other sites in its condemnation action in addition to the two properties of the corporation. Of these, the petition said, no parks have been developed on three and the fourth has never actually been condemned at all.

THE PETITION said a local paper had the news that one of the four additional sites is to be used for private housing development — "Needless to say, not one open to negroes."

"The contrast between the hasty taking of (the corporation's) lands on which building was in actual progress, with the failure to initiate park development on the other four unimproved sites, adds the final insult to the constitutional injury in this case," the petition said.

Some time in the near future the court will announce whether it will reconsider its April 15 action. Once the court has denied review, however, it seldom changes its mind. (B8

Shriners To Meet Tuesday

The Northwest Shrine Club will present its monthly dinner-meeting Tuesday, June 4, at Plentywood Farm in Bensenville.

Potentate Walter Vartan of Medinah Temple has made arrangements for an official representative to outline plans for the Imperial Council session scheduled for Chicago, July 7-11.

The Imperial Council session is estimated to attract 500,000 Shriners and visitors from all over North America.

Club President Neil Stenholt, 345 Hawthorne Terrace, Des Plaines, will direct activities for the June 4 meeting. (B9 DUO-PIANISTS Anthony Mostardo and JoAnne Kalina presented their 10th concert of the season at the Lyon & Healy music store in Randhurst May 16, under the auspices of the Arlington Heights chapter of Modern Music Masters. Mrs. Kalina of Rolling Meadows teaches area piano students, and Mostardo is presently principal of Clearmont School in Elk Grove Village. The team is planning a full schedule of performances for the coming season. (Bill

New Choir Has 20 'Regulars'

The Northwest Choral Society, now in existence for five months under the direction of Clarence Luke, reports "fine progress" from a regular group of 20 voices that make up the choir.

The group is currently rehearsing Handel's "Messiah," works of Gounod and Bach, and Mendelssohn's "Hymn of Praise" for June and July performances.

The Choral Society meets Monday evenings, 7:30 p.m., at St. John United Church of Christ, Fellowship Hall, 310 N. Evergreen, Arlington Heights.

Anyone interested in joining or aiding the choir's activity should call Clarence Luke, 529-1684, or Emil Holzwart, DU 1-4416. (B8

Wheels Turning for 2 More High Schools

Board Approves Citizens Group

Plans for the fifth and sixth schools to serve High School District 214 were set in motion Friday night.

First step in the move to construct two new schools will be the appointment of a citizens lay committee. The committee will be charged with a "study of the needs of the school district" and will be asked to "recommend a course of action for the fifth high school and other schools, if deemed necessary."

A second move to have all seven members of the school board act as a committee of the whole to study the selection of an architect for the next high school also was approved.

The early appointment of a citizens committee was urged by board members Charles Fyfe and Mrs. Eugenia Chapman. Both mentioned hearing comments that past lay committees served as "rubber stamps" for board plans. They urged the citizens committee for the next school or schools be appointed early to get in on basic plans for schoolroom needs, site, building plans and bond referenda.

The action by the school board Friday was initiated by Supt. H. L. Slichenmyer, who presented four recommendations to board members.

Slichenmyer urged that while the board continue to study the enrollment and building problem, plans include the possibility of developing two 2,500-pupil high schools for opening in 1966-67. Sites for the two schools should be Elk Grove Village and a north side site (to be selected), Slichenmyer said.

THE FOURTH school of the district, Wheeling High School, is slated to open in September, 1964. Other schools now in operation are Arlington, Prospect and Forest View.

As an alternate plan, Slichenmyer suggested a fifth 2,500-student school be planned to open in September, 1966, in Elk Grove Village, with a sixth school built to open in September, 1967, on a north site.

Enrollment projections from the Endicott enrollment and building-needs study (just completed) and the more extensive Childress report on the same subject (two years ago) show a need for at least one new 2,500 high school for 1966-67. The district could hold present boundary lines until September, 1965, when all Rolling Meadows students north of Kirchoff Road would probably have to be transferred from Forest View High School to Arlington High.

A new school in Elk Grove Village in September, 1966, will provide adequate classrooms for one year, but would require shifting of boundary lines to the north, since the 2,500 Wheeling High School that year would have 3,152 students in its attendance area. To compensate for the additional pupils in the central area who would attend Arlington and Prospect High Schools, the southern boundary lines for these two school attendance areas would be shifted north — possibly as far as Grove Street in Arlington Heights and the North Western Railway tracks in Mount Prospect.

A SIXTH school would be required for September, 1967, Slichenmyer noted. This would again readjust boundary lines to near present areas. To avoid the constant shifting of students from one school to another, Slichenmyer urged that the fifth and sixth high schools both be opened in 1966.

The superintendent further stressed the need to have an architect soon to prepare preliminary plans. He emphasized that a citizens committee should be organized early to study the building proposals and make final recommendations for the building program and bond referendum.

Slichenmyer added, "The bond referendum should be held during the school year 1963-64." The bond issue for the Wheeling High School, now under way, was $4.9 million. A bond issue for two high schools to be built at the same time probably would be at least double that figure, or almost $10 million. (ACM-EG

Falcon Frosh Split Pair With Knights

Prospect and Forest View split a frosh doubleheader Saturday. The Falcon "A" squad edged the Knights, 2-1, in nine innings behind the steady pitching and timely hitting of Mike Lebben.

Prospect won the "B" game, 5-3, on Ken Vomacka's squeeze bunt in the top of the seventh.

In the "A" game, the Falcons picked up a run in the second inning on a pair of Knight errors. Prospect tied it up on pitcher Tom Manderscheid's single and Doug Glaser's double.

Lebben drove in the clincher in the ninth with a double, scoring Gary Wellehan, who had singled.

Lebben fanned six and scattered nine hits to pick up the win. Manderscheid, who collected three of the hits himself, gave up six hits and fanned nine.

Van Ostermick fanned eight in pitching a six-hitter to win the "B" game for Prospect. Jim Bejrowski took the loss for Forest View.

With the score tied three-all in the seventh, Vomacka squeezed Dick Lott home from third with a perfect bunt. In the same inning, Paul Peterson stole home with the insurance run.

Tom Straight doubled home a pair of Falcon runs in the fifth, and then scored himself on a Knight miscue. Straight had two hits for the Falcons, and teammate Bob Crum had three for three.

Prospect's "A" team ended the season with a 7-7 record. The "B" squad was 2-5. Forest View's "A" team won four, lost seven and tied two this year. The "B" team lost all three games.

Mark, Kelly Triumph

Mark Motors and the Kelly Olds used two hit pitching from Dick Hoffman and George Cresswell to gain second victories and move into a first place tie in Arlington Classic League games played Sunday at Pioneer Park.

The Marksmen handed the Air Force its first loss, 11-1, while the Rockets disposed of Estes, 4-2. In the third game, the 45th Artillery edged the Colts, 6-5.

Mark Motors held a slim 1-0 lead after three innings, then exploded with six in the fourth and four more in the fifth. Big blow in the four was a three run homer by catcher Ron Weber. The game was called after five because of the ten run rule.

Cresswell outdualed Estes' Keith King in a battle of two hitters. The losers jumped off to a 2-0 lead in the first on a tremendous homer by third baseman Bill Kestler. Cresswell did not allow a hit thereafter, and retired the last 14 hitters he faced.

King was touched for an unearned run in the second inning, and lost the game on a three run homer by Cresswell in the fourth. The chunky Estes' hurler deserved a better fate. Two of the Rocket runs were unearned, and the homer was of the windblown variety. King fanned a dozen hitters, including nine of eleven in one stretch.

Dale Eaughmen allowed eight hits in picking up the Raider win over the Colts.

Folk Singing, Drama Set by Peace Group

The Friends Committee on Legislation (FCL) will present a Docu-Drama Sunday evening, June 2, at the Prospect Heights Community Church, 400 N. Elmhurst Road.

The presentation will be preceded by group singing and individual performances by several local folk-singers.

The program being sponsored by the Northwest Community Peace Center, is scheduled to begin at 8 p.m. and is open to the public free of charge.

The Docu-Drama is a 45 minute documentary presentation of Senate hearing testimonies and actual conversations between congressmen, government officials and staff members of the Friends Committee on National Legislation (FCNL).

Featured in the cast will be FCL executive board members portraying the parts of Secretary of Defense McNamara, General Lemnitzer, several members of the House of Representatives, and E. Raymond Wilson of the FCNL.

THE DOCU-DRAMA, which has been touring Illinois and Wisconsin, is directed by David Beuter, English teacher and director of dramatics at York Community High School and Servite Seminary in Hillside.

The FCL is the Midwestern affiliate of the FCNL, whose staff maintains a Washington office and interviews members of Congress and other government officials, arranges for testimony before Congressional Committees, and in other ways forwards the purposes expressed in its policy statement.

Through a monthly "Washington Newsletter," it helps keep interested persons informed on important issues and events in Washington in order that they may discuss the issues with their friends and neighbors.

IN ADDITION, it encourages them to call upon or write their legislators and public officials to express their own views. An Illinois - Wisconsin newsletter keeps persons informed of issues within these states.

Included in the areas of major emphasis of the FCNL is a commitment to world disarmament under law. It supports the United Nations and advocates using all available UN machinery for peaceful settlement of international disputes.

The FCNL has worked actively in the areas of advancing civil rights and preserving civil liberties. It functions on the premise that "the aspirations of emerging peoples for self-government, equal dignity, and adequate food, health care and education are of primary importance and should neither be sacrificed to military considerations nor subordinated to the politics of the cold war."

FEATURED IN the folk-singing group will be Mary Lou Owen of Arlington Heights. Miss Owen is a kindergarten teacher at the Carl Sandburg School in Wheeling. She has appeared professionally in Evanston's "No Exit" coffee house and several Chicago clubs and also performs for children's birthday parties. Other performers reside in Prospect Heights and Wheeling. (A14

In Track Meet

Pollard, McMahon Set Marks

Jack Pollard and Rich McMahon set a pair of records Friday in leading the Prospect frosh-soph track team to an eighth place finish in the Interim League meet.

Pollard, a freshman, broke a three-year-old mark in the 880 yard run, chopping three-tenths of a second off of the old record held by Glenbard East's Ray Nichols. The new standard is 2:04.3, Pollard's fastest time this year.

Sophomore McHahon cleared the 12 foot barrier in the pole vault, but was second to Morton West's Hal Halik. Both boys attained the same high height, but Halik had fewer misses.

The old Mark was 11 feet, one and three-quarters inches, set by Jim Young of Glenbard East in 1960.

Other Prospect pointgetters were: hurdler Ray Kick, second in the high hurdles; Gary York, fourth in the mile; and Tom Knutson, fourth in the discus.

Bob Charvat of Morton broke another record in the 440-yard dash, covering the quarter mile in 51.9 seconds. The old mark (52.5) was held by Prospect's Gary Marks, and dated back to 1961.

Forest View did not figure in the meet scoring. Proviso West won the team title with 32 points. Morton was second with 27 markers.

Maine Frosh Whip Falcons

Maine West hammered out 10 hits last Wednesday in blanking Forest View 9-0 in frosh "A" baseball. Gary Wellehan got two of the three Falcon safeties. Mike Lebben, who gave up all nine runs, was the losing pitcher.

Strong Field Set For 14th Annual Rex Mays Classic

Three Watson-built roadsters owned by Milwaukee sportsman Bob Wilke and an English-built Lotus that sat on the pole position at the recent Trenton, J. N. 100 mile big car race head the list of 18 entries for the 14th annual 100 mile national championship speedway big car Rex Mays Classic at Wisconsin State Fair Park, Sunday, June 9, on the one mile paved track.

Wilke's cars will be driven by Roger Ward, Indianapolis, winner of the 1962 500 mile Indianapolis race and national USAC big car title as well; Len Sutton, Portland, Ore., and Don Branson, Champign, Ill. Ward and Sutton, one-two in the 1962 500 mile race, will drive new cars. Branson will drive Ward's winning car of last year.

The Lotus entry will be driven by Lloyd Ruby, Wichita Falls, Tex. It will be powered by a 168 cubic inch Coventry Climax engine. Ruby established a new one mile mark of 33.83 second, 107.94 miles per hour and led the Trenton 100 miler until engine trouble hit. This will mark the first time a foreign-built car will appear at state fair park since the Bob Morgan Maserati appeared here in 1957.

Other oll standbys now in the fold include Jack Turner, Seattle, Wash.; Dick Rathman, Roselle, Ill.; Roger McCluskey, Phoenix, Ariz.; Bob Marshman, Indianapolis; Chuck Hulse, Downey, Calif.; Johnny Boyd, Fresno, Calif.; Chuck Stevenson, Garden Grove, Calif., and Paul Russo, Hammond, Ind., along wkith newcomer Johnny Rutherford, Ft. Worth, Tex.

Some Downtowns Make a Comeback

Others Can't Get Organized

Since the shopping center — mecca of the suburban housewife — took a firm hold in the Northwest Suburban area, downtown merchants in core areas of the older suburbs have been taking it on the chin.

Almost unlimited parking, easy accessibility and variety of merchandise are the big selling points of the shopping centers. The downtown stores, basing their appeal on more personalized service and, in many cases, outmoded promotion methods, began to suffer.

Downtown sales decreased as mobile suburbanites, including many two-car families, began to take their business to the shopping centers.

It took the downtown businessmen a few years to recover, make assessments and get up and go. But once they were organized several made the move in high style.

Many others, however, plagued with a series of complicated internal problems ranging from absentee landlordism to just plain obstinacy, have failed to make any real progress.

A PAIR OF outstanding examples to "do something before it's too late" communities are Arlington Heights and Mount Prospect.

The Arlington Heights plan took form in 1958, according to L. A. Hanson, village manager. Village officials and downtown businessmen got together. The result was the "Plaza Plan," a five-pronged offensive designed to revitalize the downtown shopping area.

Similar plans have met with great success in Kalamazoo, Mich., Miami Beach, Fla., and Rochester, N. Y.

Arlington Heights is now in the fifth stage of the plan, and recently acquired railroad land from the Chicago and North Western right-of-way along with an agreement with the Arlington Heights National Bank which will pave the way toward completion of the fifth step.

THE FIRST four phases of the plan included widening of streets in the central business district, installation of 144 new mercury vapor street lamps for improved lighting for night shoppers, creation of commuter parking lots along the railroad, and construction of a new $450,000 municipal building, one of the most up-to-date in Illinois.

The final phase, still in the planning stage, calls for free parking for some 400 cars in an area from Highland to Evergreen and between Northwest Highway to and including Davis Street.

The plan calls for closing of Davis from State to Highland, and installation of a landscaped parking lot and mall. The bank agreed to exchange a sewer easement and install a commuter street in return for the closing of Davis adjacent to the bank. The bank plans to build drive-in window facilities along the vacated street.

Arlington merchants have also contributed a massive face-lifting program, sprucing up store fronts with modern glass and steel facades which replace outmoded brick and wooden fronts.

MOUNT Prospect took action last summer with a similar $1 million facelifting project in the business district. Threatened with the rise of huge Randhurst Shopping Center, local business men have proved equal to the challenge.

New free parking lots accommodate hundreds of cars daily. The lots feature old-fashioned gas lanterns. The remodeling of store fronts follows a stucco and half-timber pattern that is pleasing to the eye.

Park spaces, trees and flowers lend beauty to the entire district. Meanwhile, the village added a new village hall and library addition.

It isn't over yet. This summer, plans are a foot for more remodeling of businesses along west Busse Road.

Finding the going somewhat rougher is nearby Palatine. Although merchants and village officials have favored revitalization for some time, absentee landlords and opposition from other property owners have stymied initial street lighting plans, normally the first phase of all revitalization projects.

THE VILLAGE board did provide a 114-car parking lot, purchased by increasing the village's bonded indebtedness, but little else has found concrete support.

"Around the country there are a few places where serious attempts have been made to improve downtown shopping areas," said Robert Hollander, village manager. "But they have leadership from the property owners. You can't force people to become enlightened.

"The village wants to preserve our downtown shopping area as a unifying force. Without it, the town becomes a hodge-podge without any real focal point. But it's up to the property owners to provide the leadership."

Hollander admitted "most activity" toward the downtown shopping mall idea "died out" several years ago because a new shopping center "put a crimp in the plans."

THE LIGHTING program was nixed in a property owner court suit. They objected to assessments, said Hollander.

"The merchants have tried hard and got hurt somewhat," he said. "The village (officials) is willing to support a revitalization program, but needs grass roots support from the property owners, most of whom rent buildings to the merchants who operate them.

"I think the merchants would like to try again, but since most of them don't own their own stores, their hands are tied."

L. A. HANSON, Arlington Heights village manager, discusses plans for the downtown plaza parking lot with Roland Meyer (seated), of the Armour Research Foundation; village trustee Carl Mees; Harold Carlson, chairman of the Arlington plan commission; and Mayor John G. Woods. The proposed plaza, final step in a five-prong revitalization program for downtown Arlington Heights, should provide free parking for some 400 cars. (Staff photo).

Bill Introduced to Abolish School Trustee, Treasurer

A bill calling for the abolition of the offices of township school trustee and treasurer has been introduced in the Illinois House.

The bill, H.B. 1344, was introduced last week by State Representatives Bernard M. Peskin, D-6th, Robert Marks, D-7th, and Anthony Scariano, D-1st.

Hearings on the bill were scheduled to be held at 2 p.m. Wednesday, June 5 in Springfield before the House Education Committee.

Expected to testify in behalf of the bill were Mrs. Gerald M. Chapman of Arlington Heights, member and secretary of High School District 214 Board of Education, and representatives from other suburban communities.

UNDER TERMS of the bill, township school treasurers would be appointed by local school boards rather than by elected township school trustees.

Title to school property would be held by the county board of school trustees as is the case in the other 101 Illinois counties.

Members of the Bi-Partisan Committee to Abolish Offices of Township School Trustee and Treasurer are as follows:

TRACY COLDREN of Park Forest, president of Rich Township High School District 227 and partner in an accounting firm, chairman.

Eldon Hastings of Calumet City, president of Wentworth Elementary School District 155 and buyer for Lever Brothers Co., vice chairman.

Erie Jones of Palatine, member of Palatine High School District 211 Board of Education and executive vice president of the Home Builders Association of Chicagoland, vice chairman.

MRS. J. R. Stephens of Matteson, past member of Rich Township High School District 227 Board of Education, vice chairman.

Mrs. Chapman of Arlington Heights, secretary.

Mrs. Oliver K. Burrows Jr. of Arlington Heights, member of the lay committee for Arlington High School District 214.

John A. Haas of Prospect Heights, president of High School District 214 and an attorney.

MRS. HOWARD Hanks of Wheeling, member and secretary of Wheeling School District 21 Board of Education.

Thomas E. Leahy of Lansing, member of Lansing Elementary School District 158 Board of Education.

H. Robert Powell of Prospect Heights, member of Elementary School District 23 Board of Education and a financial analyst.

Edward Sykora of Evergreen Park, member of High School District 231 Board of Education and a pharmacist.

DONALD TRUITT of Hoffman Estates, member and past president of High School District 211 Board of Education and sales manager for Motorola, Inc.

Mrs. R. B. Yadon of Arlington Heights, secretary of Parent - Teacher Association District 21.

The committee was organized recently to promote passage of legislation outlawing township school trustees and treasurers.

Anti-Bank Robber Seminar Slated

CHICAGO, (UPI) — The Federal Bureau of Investigation Saturday invited all law enforcement officers and representatives of all financial-type institutions to attend a conference on how to prevent bank robbery.

Marlin W. Johnson, special agent in charge of the FBI's Chicago operation, said recent figures indicate bank robbery has increased 30 per cent.

HE SAID the FBI is sponsoring a conference on bank robbery to be held Wednesday at the park district auditorium. Such conferences, he said, usually are restricted to law enforcement officers.

But, Johnson said, "Representatives from banking and financial institutions have been invited . . . for the purpose of discussing mutual problems of prevention and solution" of bank robbery.

Church Announces Earlier Services

The Christian Church of Arlington Heights will hold earlier services for the summer season. Starting this Sunday, Sunday school will be held from 9 to 10 a.m. and church services from 10 to 11 a.m.

As usual, nursery care will be provided during adult Sunday school and regular church service.

Located in north Arlington Heights at Thomas and Mitchell Avenues, the Christian church serves the northwest suburban area. It is a member church of some 6,000 affiliated with Disciples of Christ churches in the United States.

With almost two million members, the brotherhood is sixth largest of Protestant groups and largest of native American denominations.

Rev. Don L. Jones is pastor of the church. For information concerning the church, Rev. Jones can be reached at the church, 259-0059, or at the parsonage, CL 9-4155. (A

Crime Commission Bill Near Passage

One of Deluge Of Measures

From United Press International

The Illinois legislature continued to wade through a downpour of legislative measures this week, ranging from election reform bills and minimum marriage ages to a liquor tax and a crime commission.

The crime commission bill went back to the state Senate for final approval Tuesday after the measure breezed through the House Monday by a vote of 145-2.

Its chief sponsor, Rep. Anthony Scariano, D-Park Forest, in urging passage, said criminals were using "jet-age weapons and the state is fighting with corn stalks."

A controversial measure dealing with voting assistance, however, fell one vote short of the number needed for passage.

THE PROPOSAL, by Rep. George E. Dolezal, R-Berwyn, received 88 votes, with 89 needed. Democrats opposed the measure.

Dolezal claimed that "improper assistance has become prevalent." He charged that 100,000 persons in Cook County alone received illegal assistance during the last general election.

Democrats said the measure—which would prohibit illiterates and non-English reading citizens from getting assistance in the voting booth — would be disfranchisement of otherwise qualified voters.

Republican Cook County Chairman Hayes Robertson Monday called on Chicago Mayor Richard J. Daley to "remove the roadblocks" preventing the legislature from passing bills designed to clean up the Chicago Metropolitan Sanitary District and reform county election procedures. The sanitary district bills, sponsored by Sen. John Graham, R-Barrington, followed a legislative investigation of scandals in the district.

Other highlights of the session during the week included:

—Introduction in the legislature of the last major administration proposal of the session: a plan to finance state building projects through long-term revenue bonds.

The program is a key part of Gov. Otto Kerner's "no new taxes" pledge on his budget for the next two years. Involved are requests for capital improvements totaling an estimated $82 million, of which more than half has been asked by the six state universities. Another $20 million is sought for new state prison and public safety facilities.

KERNER WANTS the Illinois Building Authority to construct the facilities, sell revenue bonds, and turn the buildings over to the state when the bonds are paid off.

—The Senate judiciary committee has voted to approve a bill to abolish capital punishment in the state for a six-year trial period. The bill's fate on the Senate floor is uncertain. Consideration of a similar measure in the House was postponed after the bill failed to get the necessary votes for passage. The House bill would place a six-year moratorium on all capital punishment while the Senate measure would not cover convicted slayers of policemen and other public officials or hired assassins.

—Rep. Paul Elward, D-Chicago, has introduced a package of 27 bills to eliminate the state's numerous "earmarked funds." He said that 50 cents of every dollar the state spends comes from one of 37 earmarked funds. "It's a little ironic to me that we pay 50 cents of every dollar for driver's training costs but only 20 per cent of the cost of teaching English, history and mathematics," Elward said. One of the state's earmarked funds is for driver's training.

—THE HOUSE blocked a pair of bills aimed at hiking the minimum marriage age. Rep. Ralph Smith, R-Alton, had proposed forbidding marriages involving persons less than 18 years old and requiring parental consent under 21, as opposed to the present minimums of 16 and 18.

—Sen. Alan J. Dickson, D-Belleville, saw his amendment to give merchants a choice between closing on Saturday and Sunday fall by the wayside as did other amendments to permit selling of fruit and prohibit selling of liquor on Sunday when the Senate had the bill under consideration.

—The largest appropriation bill in Illinois history — $975.3 million for state highway construction — was introduced in the Senate Tuesday. The funds — more than half of which would come from the federal treasury — would be used the next two years by the Division of Highways for road building.

—The House has named a five-man investigating committee to look into rents charged public aid recipients. The adopted resolution called for the special committee to report back by June 15.

It was a bad day in the legislature last week for such items as bingo, lotteries, a new liquor and wine tax, and two reapportionment bills.

THE constitutional amendments committee voted 12-4 to kill two resolutions to eliminate the constitutional ban against bingo and lotteries.

Chicago Republican Rep. William Robinson failed in an effort to overturn an unfavorable committee decision on a proposed liquor and wine tax. His bill would have increased by two cents a gallon the tax on alcoholic liquors manufactured and imported into the state. The money would have been earmarked for training and rehabilitation of public aid recipients.

Two representative district reapportionment bills, one introduced by each party, failed to get enough votes for passage in the House. First, a measure sponsored by House Speaker John Lewis, R-Marshall, received only 74 of the 89 votes needed. It was opposed by Democrats and a bloc of Southern Illinois Republicans.

THEN a Democratic bill offered by Minority Leader Paul Powell failed when it got only 81 favorable votes.

Southern Illinois Republicans opposed both maps because they would take two districts away from the southern part of the state and give them to Northeastern Illinois. (A-14

Alert Doctors to Cases of Smallpox

State health officers were notified last week of 10 cases of confirmed and suspect smallpox officially reported from Sweden, Dr. Franklin D. Yoder, state health director said.

The initial case of smallpox arrived in Sweden the last of March and two deaths have occurred. Seven of the 10 cases were initially diagnosed as chickenpox.

The health officers have been asked to alert all Illinois physicians as to the possibility of international travelers who may have been exposed to smallpox. Any suspected case of smallpox must be reported to the Illinois Department of Public Health immediately, Dr. Yoder said.

DR. YODER stressed the necessity for re-vaccination for safe levels of immunity in our population. "We recommend that everyone be re - vaccinated against smallpox every three years. In this manner only can we subdue our concern when smallpox breaks out in a well-traveled country only a few jet hours away from us."

Smallpox vaccine is supplied without cost by the state Health Department to any physician upon request. (A14

Income Tax Drive Pushed in Michigan

Leading the drive was Detroit Mayor Jerome Cavanagh.

Cavanagh and Highland Park Mayor Mark E. Storen and Bernard A. Kalahar, chairman of the Supervisors Intercounty Committee have set July 31 as deadline date for making their proposal to Gov. George Romney. They indicated they would ask the Citizens Research Council of Michigan to help with the technical details.

DETROIT IS the only major city in Michigan with an income tax. Its legality was upheld recently by the state Supreme Court.

Cavanagh indicated that other fiscal reforms would be recommended, but made no secret of his belief that a statewide income tax would be the cornerstone of the program.

At the same time, Kalahar warned that any statewide income tax would have to be paired with reductions or repeals of other levies. A(14

Public Aid Chief to Step Down

CHICAGO, (UPI) — Daniel Walker said last week he would resign effective June 7 as acting chairman and secretary of the Illinois Public Aid Commission but would continue to be a commission member.

He said the governor had been advised of his decision that he could not find time to head the commission and continue his commitments as a trial lawyer.

Walker became acting chairman after the commission's former chairman, Arnold H. Maremont, was ousted by the State Senate. His resignation left the IPAC without a single officer. Samuel Goldsmith, former vice chairman, was not reappointed by Gov. Kerner.

The bi-partisan IPAC includes seven appointed citizens who serve without pay and three state officers. (A-14

Says Fish Barked At Him

MADISON, WIS., (UPI) — The case of Lake Mendota's "something" has apparently been cleared up by a University of Wisconsin zoologist.

A Madison fisherman said last week "something" rose out of the lake and barked at him while he was in his boat.

H. Francis Henderson, a university graduate student, said he caught a 5-foot-long sturgeon in a net just off Governor's Island, where the barking incident happened.

Prof. Arthur Hasler of the University Zoology Department said such sturgeon are known to leap out of the water like a porpoise, and this is probably what the fisherman saw. He said the "bark" the fisherman heard was probably the sound of the fish re-entering the water.

More proof of how Ford is changing Chicagoland's ideas about cars!

Big Wagons, Middleweight Wagons, Compact Wagons ...Ford gives you more to choose from!

Ford offers America's widest selection of wagons—15 different models, 4 basic sizes. And only Ford offers the exclusive Squire series—wagons with distinctive simulated woodgrain side paneling. Ford gives you many extras, too: America's only fully synchronized 3-speed manual transmission is standard equipment with all V-8's and on all full-size wagons . . . cargo mats are vinyl-coated for extra durability . . . brakes are extra big (other manufacturers use sedan-size brakes on wagons).

Big Ford wagons—most loadspace in low-price field!

Fords have more loadspace than any other low-price wagon—more than most medium-price wagons, too. And no competing wagon can top Ford's $10 million ride. New engineering advances (development cost: $10,000,000) enable Ford wagons to ride as smoothly as luxury sedans.

Middleweight Fairlane wagons—unique combination of room and easy handling!

Fairlane is trim, easy to handle—yet it beats many competing standard-size wagons in cargo capacity. With Fairlane you get an extra, below-deck storage compartment in which you can lock valuables . . . and all Fairlanes are built to take an optional third seat.

Compact Falcon wagons—the all-time economy champ offers new savings!

Falcon has more cargo capacity than compacts costing hundreds more. And Falcon (like Ford and Fairlane wagons) reduces upkeep costs—brakes are self-adjusting . . . major chassis lubes are needed only once every 36,000 miles . . . routine maintenance stops are cut to just twice a year or once every 6,000 miles.* *Except Falcon Bus Series wagons

Or maybe you want a bus-type wagon. Falcon bus wagons cost less, have more room than other bus-type wagons. There's room to seat 8, sleep 4. Parking is a snap—these wagons are shorter than compact sedans. No wonder Falcons outsell all other bus-type wagons.

See the Big Change that's changing Chicagoland's ideas about cars.

Wonders About Jet Rerouting

There must be a word (unprintable, of course) that would describe someone or something that awakens people from a deep 3 a.m. slumber, with its screeching noise, then rumbles on its merry way leaving a trail of wakefulness behind it!

I'm speaking of the O'Hare jets that have cut a regular air groove over our village, night and day. Our wishy-washy anti-noise committees haven't accomplished a thing, except to appease us periodically with empty promises. Their one excuse is that planes fly according to wind direction — well judging by the flights over our village, the wind hasn't shifted very much in the five noisy years we've been here!

There should be a more efficient system of re-routing these screaming meemies, (especially the night flying ones), or are the airlines so busy with the comfort of the paying passenger, that they don't give a hoot for the half-deaf suburbanite who must stay below and behind?

After-Prom Ride Chaperone Lauds Conduct of Teenagers

Like most parents of Arlington High students, I have wondered each year exactly what does go on during the annual after-the-prom train ride and outing. This year, as a chaperone, I spent 14 hours amidst the children on their safari. Now I know what happens — and the 700 parents who couldn't make the trip should know also.

Newspapers and magazines the past few years have so effectively portrayed the ever-growing teenage problem that we chaperons were properly apprehensive as we awaited the arrival of nearly 400 teens, all keyed-up after the fanciest dance of the year. Each couple had paid $25 of their hard earned money to have a good time on the trip, and we had been warned that they were out to get every penny's worth.

As if a crowded trainload of active youths milling around all night long were not enough to worry about, ice cream bars and gallons of cheese dip were added to the usual menu of soft drinks, sandwiches and snacks. Then, in the most crowded car of all, the games committee set up for a series of pie eating contests. We could hardly wait for the mess to begin.

BUT NONE of our fears materialized. The no-smoking rule on the long ride up was frustrating to some, but there was no complaining and compliance was virtually perfect. Not a bit of food was tossed around. Very little cola was spilled, and part of this was mopped up with napkins by the students on their own initiative. When we swept out and cleaned the train upon arrival, it was but little more work than for a commuter train at the end of a run.

Romance was in the air, of course. High school upperclassmen haven't changed much in this respect since your generation and mine - except they are more open and frank about their feelings today. Many of the couples were all wrapped up with themselves, but nothing more than you would expect with steady dates. Dancing on the train was lively, but strictly discreet.

We have all heard how destructive teens can be, so the damage reports of this trip should prove interesting. On the train there was one window cracked (a girl lost her balance reaching for her bag on the rack above) and one light bulb dropped and shattered after being unscrewed part way. At the lodge one bicycle came back with a crumpled front wheel. That was all.

DURING THE entire affair there was not a single "incident." Not a hint of a fight. No real rough-housing. No loud mouth show offs. But don't think this was a bunch of retiring violets. From end of breakfast at 6 a.m. to 11 a.m. lunch it was go, go, go: row around the lake, cycle over the hills, tennis, shuffleboard, volley ball, swimming, ping pong, baseball, badminton - with some sun-bathing and a stage show squeezed in. Didn't want to miss a thing. Supercharged. They really had a ball.

As I was rounding up the students beside the pool for lunch, a group of the regular Nippersink guests called me over to inquire where we were from. Then they said, "We have been coming up here summers for eight years and have seen lots of parties come in on week ends this way, but we have never seen such an orderly group or one that had so much real fun. We have been watching them for two hours and have been amazed at how active and how well behaved they are. You chaperons don't have to do a thing."

So the students had a great time, and we sponsors thoroughly enjoyed being with them. Much credit must be given to the planning, organization and plain hard work of the (relatively few) parents* who put on the show, but the ones who really made it a success were the students themselves. I have never seen a large party like this, no matter what age group, that combined so much fun, such good manners and so little trouble. Arlington High School and all the parents have good reason to be proud of, and thankful for, such fine children-every one a teen-ager.

Russell H. Colvin
Arlington Heights

*—I should mention also that other parents loaned bicycles and sports gear. Some local businessmen helped by loaning trucks and equipment and by donating cash, food and prizes. Three registered nurses made the trip donating their services.

Slaughter of Friendly Pig

When a small child first learns to enjoy pictures and stories, he hears about Peter Rabbit, The Three Bears, and The Three Little Pigs, and he learns the farm animals are his friends. And so it was with love and excitement that my three-year-old watched a wandering pig the other day. He was laughing with glee at the "nice piggy" when suddenly — bang! bang! — a policeman had shot the pig (but not killed it).

The laughter turned to tears as the child could not understand what had happened to his friend; why did the pig lie there and groan and squirm so? A seven-year-old also in the house at the time burst into tears because he did understand what had happened. A little later a five-year-old happened upon the scene: squirming pig and blood. These are cases I know first hand. There were many other children on the street at the time.

Was this display of gross poor judgment necessary?

THE CHILDREN nearest the pig seemed to be enjoying his unexpected presence, but kept their distance. I have no doubt that some parent who was concerned about possible danger to their children called the police. However, if they felt there was danger, why weren't the children called off the street? If the policeman deemed the creature to be a threat why didn't he send the children home so that they need not have witnessed the act of destruction? No time to do so? Nonsense, the pig was merely rooting in the yard of a vacant house. He could very easily have been herded back into his pasture and the farmer warned. After all, I understand it was the pig's first offense. (I do understand the farmer had been warned about his horses getting out, but they seem to have disappeared from his pastures.) If, perchance, the farmer was notified, and did give authority for the killing, again, why couldn't the deed have been done a little less dramatically?

I realize there are people who do not understand farm animals, and feel that any creature which escapes its confines is "wild." Could this be the reason the "friendly" pig was shot?

And why didn't the policeman call someone who knew how to slaughter, if slaughter was necessary? This luckless creature lay dying 15-20 minutes despite the well placed rifle and revolver shots. Hurrah for good marksmanship, at any rate.

THERE COULD be further ramifications of this act if the farmer did not know of the incident until it was all over. He has a sand bank in which our children have been allowed to play, and the water and sewage pipelines for part of our development must go through his property. Should he become embittered against the members of our community, he very likely will not cooperate with the furtherment of progress in the community. He is our neighbor—there should be some degree of rational give and take.

I am very much in favor of a police department and police protection in a development such as Bloomingdale Ridge and Boulevard Manor. New homes are always considered plums for thievery and we have a large number of children to be protected. However, the above act of indiscretion (and another recent incident on our street which I felt was handled poorly) leaves me extremely disillusioned as to the value of use of the taxpayers' money in this department.

And how else will you know we are dissatisfied with your work if we don't tell you so? If I should ever be pleased or grateful to your department, I would be as quick to tell you so. From what I have observed thus far, however, that won't be very soon.

Mrs. Richard I. Millar

Raps Simon's Banking Logic

Sen. Paul Simon's letter last week indicated he is uninformed about banking. The senator has read an obscure 541-page report by Rep. Wright Patman (D. Texas) and has drawn a number of conclusions from it.

Mr. Simon has discovered it's easier for a bank to make one loan for $1,000,000 than to make 100 loans for $10,000. The same, of course, is true that it's easier for drug stores to make a $1.00 sale than 100 one cent sales. The compensating factor which has been known for hundreds of years is that the organization or individual borrowing a smaller amount pays a higher rate. The Federal Reserve statistics indicate probably 1½ per cent more than the $1,000,000 borrower.

The senator says: "This means a somewhat natural tendency for banks to lend big, solid business rather than to the small businessmen or individual."

This is precisely what large banks would like to do, but the trend has been away from this type of lending for some years, and the senator apparently is not familiar with enough economics to sense the fact.

BECAUSE OF modern business techniques, tighter inventory control, more advantageous use of funds and a heavier "cash flow" due to depreciation, businesses are generally borrowing less than ever before when compared with their dollar volume of sales.

The trend is distinctly away from large borrowing and more toward servicing individuals and small businesses. It is very strange that the $13,000,000,000 Bank of America would maintain 900 branches to lend money in California when they could lend it all in million dollar amounts at a far lower cost and with less service. What the senator misses and does not seem to understand is that banking is becoming a retail business. Fifty years ago, only the most important businesses and individuals had checking accounts. Today, checks are as common as cash.

Secondly, better credit techniques, generally better credit on the part of the typical citizen, have encouraged banks and other lenders to extend credit more freely than was true 50 years ago. The combination of these changes makes desirable a larger number of small retail facilities, whether owned individually or branches of another bank. The senator also assumes that if we had any form of branch banking in Illinois it would mean the end of the small banks. He apparently does not realize that a number of small banks would use branching power to better serve their own community. Our bank has under contemplation two neighborhood sites in our area, removed from the current banking facilities.

THESE AREAS are too small to support a full-fledged bank with a half million dollar capitalization and the overhead a full bank would have. They could, however, support a small branch of our bank with more facilities than the currency exchanges the public in these areas are currently relegated to deal with.

Sen. Simon, although he does not fully state it, is obviously following the "small business line" of Wright Patman who is concerned that Texas farmers cannot borrow money at one or two per cent. Of course, Patman does not discuss the fact that this is incompatible with the interests of tens of millions of savers in America who are being paid more than two per cent for their thrift.

Rep. Patman indicates in his report that independent bankers do not have to check back with the home office in some remote metropolis as the branch manager would. This is hardly the case. Certainly, policies are set down in any organization, but the decisions are still made by local officers. If this were not true, there would be no need for officers.

Finally, Sen. Simon assumes the head of the Illinois Branch Banking movement is deeply indebted to a Loop bank because of a loan. Knowing how competitive banks are for loans, this is illogical. As one who has had dealings with the individual and the bank mentioned, I know it is silly to assume that large correspondent banks with or without loans, can influence an independent bank's operations or affairs.

Tells Position Of School Band

As a result of a recent letter to the Fence Polst, I should like to clarify the position of the Forest View High School Band with regard to forthcoming Memorial Day parades.

Because neither uniforms nor practice facilities were available to our band at the outset of the 1962-63 school year, we have not had a marching unit at all this year. Our inability to participate in this year's Memorial Day parade is based solely on the fact that the students have not been trained as a marching unit to this date.

OUR LOCATION in the high school district does pose an additional problem when considering invitations to march in such parades. Our student body is drawn from the communities of Rolling Meadows, Elk Grove Village, Des Plaines, Mount Prospect, and Arlington Heights. It will be impossible in the future for us to honor requests from more than one civic organization in any of these communities for any given Memorial Day parade. We sincerely hope that we will continue to receive invitations and that our band will be able to make appearances in the various communities over a period of years.

I want to assure you that this administration and faculty is fully cognizant of its obligations to the local communities supporting the high school's educational program. We join with you in being concerned about the promotion of patriotism and loyalty; and, within the limitations imposed by our geographic location and the time of our students, we will be most happy to cooperate with civic organizations such as yours.

"Good thing we saw these bargains advertised in Paddock Publications"

Your Newspaper Is YOUR SHOPPING GUIDE

In newspapers the news of better products and services is as important to today's modern family as that of current events or features concerning home and family, food and fashion, hobbies and health.

For newspapers are the medium by which most people shop. No other medium supplies the variety and detail of advertising by which one may compare prices and benefits and choose the comforts and conveniences that make for a full living standard.

There's much significance in this for local advertisers. For only in the newspaper can people of all age and income groups find the information and inspiration so necessary for good citizenship and for the enjoyment of a better way of life.

And because newspapers gain their friendship and regular readership, newspaper advertisers are provided the most productive medium of communication with customers.

HOFFMAN ESTATES - SCHAUMBURG

Many local troops are closing their Scout season with trips to Camp Pine. May 17, Spruce Cabin was occupied by 28 girls from Troop 649, fourth to seventh graders. Leaders accompanying the girls were Mrs. F. White, Mrs. R. Johnson, Mrs. R. Petersen, Mrs. D. Rasmussen and Mrs. C. Knapp.

Good weather prevailed for hiking to the Nature Center.

Three troops were campers this past weekend, two of them for two nights. Friday, sixth grade Troop 662 arrived with Mrs. E. Bradtke, Mrs. J. E. Lehman, Mrs. F. Kocher and Mrs. D. Van Huele. Mrs. M. Helsper's and Mrs. M. Duntemann's Troop 799 had a 2-night stay, with a Court of Awards as one of the highlights. A Friday, Saturday and Sunday campout was enjoyed by Troop 899, led by Mrs. W. Reynolds and Mrs. A. Peterson.

Cooking out at Deer Grove last Friday was Troop 861, fourth graders under the leadership of Mrs. L. Hippensteel, Mrs. R. Semmens and Mrs. M. Fry. A Fly-up Ceremony was part of the afternoon's fun.

At Hillcrest School last Friday, Intermediate Troop 914 presented a play for fly-ups from Troop 913. A fairy tale, the skit gave the girls an opportunity to make costumes and complete the Dramatics Badge. They also received the Health Aid Badge, a troop project. Troop committee members received World Pins as a thank-you for their help this season. Leaders are Mrs. R. Daulton and Mrs. G. Van Auken.

SOUTH ARLINGTON

May 6, girls of Troop 355 had a party for their mothers at Pioneer Park. Pioneer Patrol presented a skit, "Bringing Up Father," Explorer Patrol prepared and served refreshments of punch and cookies. Leaders Mrs. D. Galloway and Mrs. K. Koeneke, and Miss Karen Blatt accompanied the Scouts to Camp Pine for a 48-hour overnight beginning May 17. Requirements for Wild Plant Badge were completed, and the skit "Johnny Appleseed" was presented by the Explorer Patrol.

Troop 521 made puzzles for the Pediatric Ward at Northwest Community Hospital; Mrs. J. Guilfoil will deliver them.

Ten Scouts from Troop 131 visited Troop 66 to teach songs. May 11, 18 and 25 the Scouts went to the Elk Grove Forest Preserve to practice fire-building and cooking skills. Baking in coffee cans and using a reflector oven was a new experience for some. Leaders Mrs. E. Christopherson and Mrs. B. Wood, and Mrs. W. Hagenbach have accompanied the Scouts.

Leaders Mrs. I. Quackenbush and Mrs. G. Pierre, and Mrs. R. Thomson accompanied Troop 108 to the Allison Woods Nature Center May 20.

PROSPECT HEIGHTS

Springtime has been busy for fourth grade Brownies in Prospect Heights as it is also fly-up time. Mrs. W. Kuhns' Troop 896 flew up May 22 at Prospect Heights Community Church in the presence of mothers and fathers of the girls. The program consisted of the flag ceremony, Scout songs and the Fly-up Ceremony, including the presentation of wings and pins. This event was celebrated with refreshments.

May 29, Troop 67 Brownies will have their Fly-up at 309 Golf Lane, home of their leader, Mrs. John Czerechowicz. A candle ceremony and bridge crossing will designate the big step into the role of Junior Girl Scouts. Mothers and fathers will be invited to participate in refreshments after the program. This troop's final outing will be a visit in June to the Stagelight Theatre in Wheeling.

Troop 608, Mrs. Clyde House's sixth grade troop, has been coaching Brownie Troop 67 on Girl Scout songs and dances. They have a big affair coming up June 1, a Mothers' Luncheon to be held at Mrs. House's. Badges earned throughout the year will be awarded.

SOUTH MOUNT PROSPECT

Troop 597's "Queen for a Day" contest is over! The winning patrol, Edith Clark, Patty Dibling, Sandy Peterson, Karen Glyman, Sue Hecker and Patty Long, and the second-place patrol were treated royally at a 2-night stay at Camp Pine May 24-26. Breakfast in bed and no assigned chores were the coveted rewards.

Patrols earned points by making hospital scrapbooks, selling cookies, passing surprise uniform inspections and collecting premium coupons. More than 2300 coupons were sent to the Open Door Children's Home in Hazard, Ky. Troop 597 will have a rummage sale June 1 at Lions Park Field House from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. Leaders are Mrs. R. C. Nordli, Mrs. M. H. Crandall and Mrs. E. Glyman.

Troop 703 Intermediates took to the water May 25, boarding a ship in the Chicago River for a 2-hour boat trip on Lake Michigan. These girls recently embroidered hankies for their mothers.

Busy Brownies are in a whirl of activity. Troop 47 had a cookout at Camp Pine May 23 at which third graders flew up to Junior Scouting and second graders received Friendship Pins. Troop 411 third graders had a cookout and Fly-up Ceremony at Camp Pine the same day. 'Up the Garden Walk" was the theme of Troop 30's fourth grade Fly-up at St. Raymond's School May 27. The girls repeated their St. Patrick's Day song and dance skit for their mothers. (B9

Vault in Indiana To Hold Microfilms

Microfilm of village records will be stored in Logansport, Ind., it was decided Monday by the Arlington Heights Village Board.

For $50 per year, the Clem Corporation will store the microfilm in underground vaults, Village Manager L. A. Hanson reported.

He said the village has completed all ordinances, agreements, dedications and deeds, and that the work required 23 100-foot rolls of film.

The Clem firm is the only company to provide this service in the immediate area. It is a three-hour drive to Logansport. (A

Liquor License Case

No Penalty Given In Bowl Violation

Mayor John J. Woods, as liquor control commissioner for the City of Rolling Meadows, has ruled that no suspension or revocation of the license of the Rolling Meadows Bowl is warranted because of "extenuating and mitigating circumstances" surrounding a March 8 violation, when beer was sold to a minor.

Testimony in a May 11 hearing before the commission brought out that an errant youth, Charles Strother of Arlington Heights, had presented a fraudulent "U.S. government motor vehicle operator's identification card no. 107" showing the incorrect date of his birth as Nov. 17, 1961, to the bartender.

IT WAS STROTHER'S purchase of beer two bottles at a time, and passing along one bottle to an underage youth, that tripped him up, and Bowl management called in the police.

A strong point in favor of the Bowl was its self-imposed strict regulations and attempt to cooperate with the state and city laws.

"Unpleasant occurrences of this nature should serve as a means and an opportunity for each of us to not just familiarize ourselves with the liquor restrictions, rules, laws which govern and guide us," Mayor Woods admonished, "but to study and fully acquaint ourselves with them. We will then, and only then, be safely prepared to prevent our becoming involved in a future situation which may result in an unfavorable judgment."

Past and present city councils, he noted, "have persistently passed legislation accepted throughout the city as being fair and adequate not only in keeping with the city's other high standards for the benefit of all who reside in the city, but considered as reasonable, practical and of sound interest to the operators of the city's liquor establishments.

"CONTINUED strict adherence to existing laws, broader knowledge of same and improved means of instructing all employees on every level of management and staff as to their part in the responsibility of their employer as a licensee will assist greatly to insure the perpetuation of the rational attitude of the city's legislators."

He offered the services of all city personnel to assist in "the quest of greater understanding of local and state laws and the means of eliminating problems not only as they arise but as they may be anticipated.

"To not avail oneself of this city government's service is the acceptance by a licensee," he warned, "of the full and possibly harsh consequences of future decisions resulting from existing laws applied to instances of reported and established violations." (A

MORE THAN 200 PEOPLE attended a benefit card party Wednesday night, May 22 sponsored by Arlington Heights Newcomers Club. Proceeds will be used to buy sewing machines for an industrial school for girls to be established in Comas, Peru, as part of an Inter-American Friendship project between Arlington Heights and Comas. Pictured above in Pioneer Park are (standing) Mrs. George Sisk, Mrs. John Cornell, and Mrs. Lloyd Grimes; (seated) Mrs. Donald Kennedy, Mrs. Julian Garcia, Mrs. Laddie Janda, and Mrs. Reyman Branting. So-chairmen of the benefit were Mrs. Janda and Mrs. Cornell.

Parade Planned

Arlington Heights Elks Lodge 2048 will sponsor its annual Flag Day parade and ceremony on Sunday, June 9, it was announced this week.

According to Arden Purvis, Elks spokesman, the parade will consist of bands, drum and bugle corps, floats and decorated automobiles.

Guest speaker will be Capt. Martin A. Shellabarger, commander of the U.S. Nava Training Center at Great Lakes.

Synod Head to Speak At Church Dedication

Rev. Robert J. Marshall, president of the Illinois Synod of the Lutheran Church in America, will speak at the dedicatory rites for the new church building of the Lutheran Church of the Cross congregation, 2025 S. Goebbert Road, Arlington Heights this Sunday at 3 p.m.

Dr. Marshall heads a synod consisting of 344 congregations with 149,000 confirmed members. He was born in Iowa, has degrees from Wittenberg University, Chicago Lutheran Theological Seminary, and Carthage College, and has done graduate work at the University of Chicago.

At the dedication service, Rev. Lavern Anderson, regional secretary of the Board of American Missions of Lutheran Church in America, will assist in the dedicatory rites.

The pastors of the Northwest Chicagoland District of the Illinois Synod will also be present. Walter Kroeber, local architect, and Norman Bullerman of Des Plaines, general contractor, will participate in the service of door-opening.

John Oliver, minister of music at St. John's Lutheran Church in Lincolnwood, will be present to dedicate the organ which his church has given as a gift to the congregation.

Village President John G. Woods, will represent the Village of Arlington Heights. The community is invited to an open house at which the congregation will serve supper refreshments from 4:30 to 6 p.m.

Members of Lutheran Church of the Cross, serving on the dedication committee are Mrs. John Lundin, chairman; Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Teske, Mrs. Philip Ellefson, Mrs. Walter Erickson, Mrs. Herbert Anderson, Mrs. Frank Sagadine, Mrs. Robert Schalk, Robert Alexander, Mrs. Harold Alexander, Clifford Dotseth, Raymond Lloyd, and George Thal. Notes from Arlington Acres

Marie Marshall — CLearbrook 5-2936

Thursday was a flag raising day at the Lyle Longrie home, 429 S. Forrest. Son Chuck came home on leave from Laughlin AFB at Del Rio, Tex., where he has been stationed for almost a year. Enrolled in an intensive course in commercial transportation, Chuck stands at the top of the class, and on his return to the base in mid-June will be awarded his airman second class stripes.

One of the nicest birthday presents received by Mrs. Ray Chappell, 440 S. Forrest, last Tuesday was a visit from her mother, Mrs. Helen Witoslowski of Natrona, Pa. The Chappells are planning no specific entertainment for awhile, as Grandma Witoslowski is enjoying the time spent with Jimmy and Patty.

A May 23 wedding anniversary for Mr. and Mrs. Don Slusser, 516 S. Prindle, was celebrated by dining out in the Loop.

WHEN THE Archie Lochs, 2124 E. Park, and their six sons sit down to the table, the air always has a party flavor, but the dinner last Sunday was a bona fide celebration in honor of the first birthday of David, who was delighted by a lusty chorus of "Happy Birthday." sung by Tommy, Timmy, Terry, Raymond and Michael.

Bruce Smolinski, 2105 E. Grove, 8 on Sunday, enjoyed being the center of attention at his birthday dinner. The climax of the day came with the surprise planned by his parents, the Leo Smolinskis, when Bruce and his brothers, Brian and Eric, were taken to McVickers Cinerama to see "How the West Was Won."

Happy birthday wishes go to Gary Kremer, who was 7 May 24. Gary is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Kremer, 417 S. Prindle.

JOAN MARIE Ganzer, 408 S. Prindle, sat in the chair of the guest of honor at a family dinner to mark her eighth birthday May 21. Toasting the birthday girl were her parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Ganzer and brothers and sisters, Billy, Mary Pat, Tommy, Kathy and Janet.

Mr. and Mrs. Arvid Alvin, 513 S. Phelps, are being congratulated by their friends on their sixth wedding anniversary May 25. The Alvins passed up a formal celebration in favor of a quiet evening at home.

Spencer, son of the Lynn Lemons, 504 S. Prindle, had his day of glory Sunday, his third birthday. Many gifts and a special dinner in his honor were the order of the day.

The program chairman of the Arlington Acres Civic association is planning a "Scotch-Doubles" bowling party to be held Saturday evening, June 15, at Beverly Lanes. All association members are invited and enthusiasm is running high because of the success of last year's street dance. Reservations must be made with the block captain by June 1. Prize will be awarded and a light buffet served. (A

Engineer Explains Weller Creek Legislative Bills

The history and background of the present legislation for Weller Creek improvements before the Illinois General Assembly was explained in detail last week before members of the Mount Prospect Park District Citizens Advisory Committee.

A bill requesting a $1,184,600.00 appropriation to improve the creek as it flows through Mount Prospect and Des Plaines was introduced into the legislature last week by State Rep. John W. Carroll (R) and co-sponsored by Bernard M. Peskin (D). It also has the support of Rep. Arthur E. Simmons (R) and is expected to be steered through the senate by Sen. John A. Graham (R).

EXPLAINING the improvement plans in detail May 20 was William Bauer, of Bauer Engineering, the firm which drew up specifications for the park district to assure the preservation of park land along the creek and to guarantee that the improvements will be done in a manner which will enhance the beauty of the property and adequately alleviate flooding.

The bill was drawn up by members of the Weller Creek Action Council. Provisions for preservation of park property were insisted upon by Bauer, Park District President Charles W. Payne and Victor Koelzer, WCAC citizen representative of the park district.

Payne read a three-page statement giving the background when he introduced Bauer to the citizens committee.

He said the reason for his statement was "so that our citizens will understand that this is not strictly a park district project." He then proceeded to point out how the legislation had been handled and how the agreement of the WCAC was reached.

THE COUNCIL is made up of representatives of the villages of Mount Prospect and Arlington Heights; the cities of Des Plaines and Rolling Meadows; the Park District, the Weller Creek Drainage District and the Metropolitan Sanitary District.

The entire council approved the amendments offered by the park district during a meeting held last month in sanitary district offices.

Mount Prospect Village President C. O. Schlaver represented that village during that meeting. He is currently the only village representative on the council and is a vice president of the group. The village can, according to by-laws of the council, appoint one more member to the council, although the main responsibility of the council was to draft the current bill.

The park district requested amendments agreed upon by the entire council included one which recognized the principle of the possible future need of retention basins upstream. Another included the plan drawn up by Bauer and approved by Vinton Bacon, general superintendent of the sanitary district.

The third amendment provided for the recognition of the urgency of doing all stages simultaneously.

FOLLOWING THE meeting held in the sanitary district offices, Payne, Mayor Herbert Behrel of Des Plaines, WCAC president; Schlaver, Park District attorney Robert Downing and Bacon met in Springfield with Francis Lorenz, director of public works and building, and William Casey, chief engineer for the state department of waterways.

Lorenz told council members that the plans met with his approval and informed Casey of the fact.

According to Payne's statement, "He (Casey) then asked Mr. Schlaver whether it was agreed that the creek should not be covered from Central Road to Lincoln. Mr. Schlaver said that he was in agreement, that the building of the fence had assured the safety of school children. He added that he realized that enclosure of this part of the creek in conduit was not feasible when he learned of the additional amount of water to be introduced into the creek by Arlington Heights when its new sewer is completed."

Legislation passed during the 1961 session appropriated money to cover the creek in Mount Prospect from Central to Lincoln. The money for this portion, known as stage 5 of the bill, was never released by the Governor.

MONEY TO DO work in Des Plaines, known as stage 1, was released and the work is being done at the present time. The present legislation will provide money to do five stages, stages 2, 3 and 4 as originally drawn up by the state department of waterways.

The new stage five will eliminate the original covering but provides for the deepening of the channel, the sloping and planting of the sides so as to prevent erosion, removal of restrictions and the building of new non-restrictive bridges.

Payne said, "The entire legislation has been handled by unanimous consent of all members of the Weller Creek Action Council. To date there have been no negative votes.

"It has been a matter of cooperative effort." (A

Rev. Petersen Is Elected to Board

Rev. John P. Petersen, pastor of Our Savior's Lutheran Church, 1234 N. State Road, Arlington Heights, has been elected to serve a three-year term on the Board of Social Ministry of the Illinois Synod of the Lutheran Church in America.

The lection took place at the convention of the Illinois Synod held in Peoria May 20-23.

PASTOR Petersen has served on the board for the past year, having been elected at the constituting convention of the Synod last year. He is also a former director of the Illinois Lutheran Welfare Association.

As a member of the Board of Social Ministry, he is currently serving as vice chairman of the Department of Pastoral Care and chairman of a committee negotiating the merger of Lutheran Social Service of Illinois and the Lutheran Welfare Association. (A

Our Public Officials Deserve More Than Distrust

It's often popular for individuals and the press to spread distrust of public officials, elected in the democratic way to serve their communites, state and nation.

This is not new. Back in 1843 Charles Dickens complained about the attitude of "distrust" toward American public officials. Said Dickens: "You carry this jealousy and distrust into every transaction of public life . . . You no sooner set up an idol firmly than you are sure to pull it down and dash it to fragments . . . Any man who attains a high place among you, from the President downwards, may date his downfall from that moment; for any printed lie . . . appeals at once to your distrust and is believed . . ."

James Reston, the New York Times' famed Washington correspondent, after quoting Dickens, comments:
"There is still an element of truth in this. Having raised some fundamental issues about the military services, McNamara and Gilpatric are being challenged directly, which is fair enough. But they are also being attacked personally and obliquely, which is not fair and merely blurs the great questions of policy control which have divided Washington since the turn of the century."

'We Belong to God' Is School's Theme

Lutheran Church of the Cross will conduct its first vacation church school at the new church 2025 S. Goebbert Road, Arlington Heights (next to Forest View High School), from June 17 to 28, 9:30 to 11:30 a.m., five days a week.

Classes will be offered for nursery children (age 3) up to and including the junior high school grades. The theme will be "We Belong to God".

There will be no registration fee or daily offerings, and all children of the community are invited to attend. For further information regarding registration, phone HE 9-1322 or 392-1979. (A

Winners

First place winners in the duplicate bridge game at Pioneer Park on May 17 were O. E. Auer of Arlington Heights, Nuri Bulut of Mount Prospect, Nona Bruns of Palatine, Ruth Myers of Roselle, Grete McKenna and Cornelia Skouland of Fox River Grove, Les Funke of Northbrook and Miriam Rumpf of Arlington Heights. This was a 17-table game. (A

Flood Hazard Maps Now Sold

Citizens, officials, developers, and prospective property holders in the Arliington Heights-Des Plaines area can now obtain a single - sheet map showing the land subject to periodic flooding along the Des Plaines River and several of its west-rising tributaries, including Higgins Creek, Weller Creek and McDonald Creek.

The new sheet features a finely finished map, in several colors, of a 57-square mile quadrangle containing the communities of Mount Prospect, Prospect Heights, most of Arlington Heights and Des Plaines, and parts of Elk Grove and Wheeling.

Also included is an explanatory text and a number of graphs and tables which make it possible to calculate record depths of inundation and to estimate the probability of flooding at particular points in the flood plains along streams.

PREPARED by the U. S. Geological Survey, the new sheet is the first finished product of the five-year $296,000 Northeastern Illinois Flood Hazard Mapping Project, in which 44 topographic quadrangles are to be mapped covering more than two-thirds of the metropolitan area.

The Arlington Heights quadrangle map was previously issued (May 16, 1962) as a preliminary "open file report" for the immediate use of local governments. Now it is available to anyone with 75 cents.

Copies of the map may be ordered, under the title "Floods in Arlington Heights Quadrangle, Illinois" (HA-67) from the Northeastern Illinois Planning Commission, which will be distributing the map and other flood hazard maps as they are issued in single-sheet form by the U. S. Government Printing Office.

TO DATE, maps of nine quadrangles have been prepared, distributed to local governments, and explained at local meetings arranged by NIMAPC, which is mapping project. The other maps are now in process of publication in single-sheet form and will be announced as they are issued.

One other map now avialable is HA-39 ("Floods Near Chicago Heights, Illinois), which was the prototype for the mapping project. It shows areas of periodic flooding along the Little Calumet River and Thorn and North creeks in southeast Cook County.

The flood hazard mapping project is financed jointly by the Geological Survey and the metropolitan counties of Cook, DuPage, Kane, Lake, McHenry and Will. (A

Church to Mark 'Pioneer Sunday'

Our Redeemer Lutheran Church of Prospect Heights will hold its annual church picnic Sunday, June 2 in area 5-A of the Deer Grove Picnic Grove.

General Chairman Ray Kielack said that the regular 8:15 a.m. Sunday service would be held at the church and, weather permitting, the second service would be held at 10:45 a.m. at the picnic area. No Sunday school is planned for June 2 outing.

KIELACK stated that luncheon would be from noon to 1 p.m. Participants are requested to bring a lunch basket. Hot dogs, pop, ice cream, coffee and doughnuts will be available.

Walther League President Janet Sternberg will furnish a "fish pond" in which the church members will "fish for prizes."

Games chairmen Helen Thiele and Charles Stearns advise that scheduled competition will be held from 1:30 to 3:30 p.m. Games will be staged for age groups from nursery toddlers through to adult competitors.

ASSISTING Kielack will be Marie Noll as choir chairman, Art Herrmann representing the Couples Club and Lois Wiecek as publicist.

Refreshments will be served by the Couples Club and members of the choir.

"We invite the public to join our annual church picnic for a day of Christian fellowship with family and friends," said the general chairman. (ACM

Forest View News

Just another reminder that there will be no school Thursday, Memorial Day.

FOREST VIEW

A thank you and farewell luncheon was given Wednesday by Lorraine Gorgius for all who cooperated so well with her for the past years in editing this column. No words could express her gratitude, so a large thank you from her for everything. Attending were the past board members of the Mothers Club of Forest View Elementary School: president, Phyllis Paus; vice president, Betty Kijak; secretary, Bernice Ayres; and treasurer, Dorrie De Luccio; and the reporters for this column, Goldy Baldassari, Frances Swenson, Geri Kingsborough, Helen Olson, Doris Larson, Julia Luczak and Edith Olson. Reporters unable to attend were Beverly Mallion, Esther Jorgenson, Lillian Hughes and Nadine Cameron. The director of correspondents for Paddock Publications, Alice Terrill, also attended; it was a pleasure to meet her. Now it is my weekly chore to have the column in on time. So, from me, Marge Gale, I only hope I can do as well as Lorraine.

JEANETTE, 6, daughter of Bob and Eleanor Hanke, South Douglas, is home after a month's stay in Ravenswood Hospital, Chicago.

Jan Dwyer was a luncheon guest of Lorraine Gorgius on Thursday. Later Lorraine and Jan visited Mrs. Mark Kearns in Franklin Park.

Scoop and Jim Larson helped their brother, Larry, celebrate his 14th birthday Wednesday. Mr. and Mrs. Don Larson supplied the dinner and making it complete, grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. John Beystehner were present from Chicago.

Joyce Olson, Elk Grove Road, celebrated her 10th birthday May 16 with an after school party for Linda and Jackie Nitz, Becky and Terry Olson, Jeanine Kijak, Nanette Holfeld, Terry Walton and Roxann Koxann Kiolbasio. The girls played games and took turns at pony rides.

Sunday dinner guests of the Bernard Olsons, Elk Grove Road, were Mr. and Mrs. Donald Dradda and sons of Des Plaines.

FRIDAY evening Ruth Grismer, West Golf, attended her bowling leagues annual dinner dance at the Concord Hotel in Chicago.

Tuesday evening, fifth grade students with their parents were invited to Dempster Junior High. Mr. Chappelear talked to the group explaining that there could be no running in the halls, no slacks on girls and no fancy hair-dos on the boys and girls. He explained about the schools plays and other activities that can be participated in at the school. Dr. Bardwell talked about the bus service available to all children within a mile area. The evening was completed by a tour of the school.

Happy anniversary wishes this week go to Mr. and Mrs. Roy Swenson, Crestwood Drive, and happy birthday wishes go to Donald Drewes, Robert Louis and Diane Wangler.

LAKE BRIARWOOD

Some of the small fry are getting ready for the summer fun at Lake Briarwood by taking swimming lessons at the local YMCA. Grace Printz has been taking her youngest son, Terry, and a neighbor, Richard Rice, for lessons, once a week. Virginia Ellefson and Grace Printz are also taking lessons. Good luck and don't let the fish bite when you swim.

Speaking of fish biting, Raymond Rice, Lake Briarwood, caught 13 minnows. Seriously, we understand that Chuck Teske catches a lot of fish. We'd love to keep track of who catches what in the lake, and post the big fisherman of the season in the Labor Day edition of the column. No minnows counted. Report all catches to the "game keeper," Betty Rice, 439-2697.

There's a prince in our midst. Terry Printz was the prince in the play "Snow White" on Friday, at St. John Lutheran School. We've heard the saying —Mother wore tights—well, in this case, it was boy wears mother's leotards. What sacrifices we make for art.

ANYONE FOR cards? The ladies bridge club of Lake Briarwood meets once a month at the different homes. This month it was at Jeanne Zimmerman's. There were two tables and a coach, Jeanne, an excellent player, ran around helping both partners and opponents in all the games. She claims that she was an impartial observor. The other players were Ann Buchman, Dorrie De Luccio, Lorraine Fern, Irene Lawrence, Peg Teske, Lynn Petrolito, who won first prize, Vangie Peterson, who won second prize and Betty Rice, who was the winner of the consolation prize. Women who live around the lake and are interested in joining should contact Ann Buchman.

The horse story of the year is what happened to Joseph Engel, Friday morning. As he was peacefully outside in his yard, a house almost fell on top of him. A local builder was moving a farm house to a new location, next to the Engels'. When they were putting it down off the rollers, onto the concrete footing, the whole two story, plus attic house, slipped and fell and crashed on its corner into its new foundation hole—just seven feet from Mr. Engel.

COLONIAL HEIGHTS

The second meeting of the Colonial Heights Home Owners Association met Monday. Spokesman for the group was Fred Surganty. The new officers are: president, Waller Smith; vice president, Richard Seloover; recording secretary, Marge Gale; corresponding secretary, Ann Seloover; and treasurer, Frank Serpone. The constitution and by-laws have been amended and accepted, thereby making the association a formal group.

The main topic of interest is the boundary line—Kim Avenue on the north, the west side of Busse Road on the east, Crestwood Avenue or any unincorporated area in the future on the west and now, it is Martha Lane on the south, but any unincorporated area south of Martha in the future.

The neighborhood club of Martha Lane met Wednesday at Arlene Lowe's. Not too much business was accomplished, but the homemade dessert was discussed quite diligently.

It was a busy day for the Bill Camerons, Martha Lane, Saturday. Dinner was served at the Senior Camerons', Elmwood Park, and the day was spent painting the outside of their house.

Rusty Lane is quickly filling up with new home owners. A welcome to Colonial Heights is due Le Roy and Marion Kloske from Chicago and their children, Ralph, Kathy, Susie and Barbara to 1725 Rusty Lane. On April 25, a new baby, John Roy, joined the family.

Mother-Son Shine in Bridge Play

A mother - son combination was among the top pairs in Friday night's duplicate bridge competition at the Northwest Suburban YMCA.

Virginia Carlson and son Stephen from Des Plaines, were second place finishers in the 23½ table master point session.

Winners were Mr. and Mrs. Les Funke, Northbrook; Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Valentine, Des Plaines; Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Kaye, Arlington Heights; and R. McPhail and Nuri Bulut, Mt. Propect.

OTHER second place awards went to Helen Whitlock and Mrs. Charles F. Froula, Sr., Mount Prospect; Sally Leonard, Park Ridge, and Bob Doughty, Chicago; and Walt Shimer and Bob Fine, Arlington Heights.

Due to a sectional tournament in Chicago this weekend there will be no duplicate game at Arlington Heights' Pioneer Park field house.

Action will resume at the park June 7 and at the "Y" June 14.

Simon Warns Taverns

A "special notice" was issued this week by County Liquor Control Commissioner Seymour Simon to all licensees in the unincorporated area of Cook County.

The notice stressed the establishments' obligation to keep premises free from "gambling in any way whatsoever, including any games of chance, pin ball machines, and betting on race results."

The liquor establishments were also cautioned to "keep premises free from minors, unless accompanied by parents, and to observe the opening and closing hours established by the Cook County Board of Commissioners.

"Any violation of this notice or of the terms of the application for a license to retail liquors will be considered good and sufficient reason for the immediate revocation of a license." (ACM

Four All-A Students Named Valedictorians

They are Nancy Bohac, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Bohac, 2209 Heron Court, Rolling Meadows; Jan Ferry, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Ferry, 637 S. Bristol, Arlington Heights; Charles King, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles King, 350 S. Burton, Arlington Heights; and Jane Oldenburg, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Oldenburg, 715 Mayfair, Arlington Heights.

Salutatorian is Rosemary Rodgers, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Rodgers, 707 S. State Road.

DEPARTMENTAL and major activity awards were announced Friday at the annual Senior Awards assembly.

Jay Lemke, son of Mr. and Mrs. David Lemke, 3729 Oriole, Rolling Meadows, received departmental awards for outstanding work in English, Latin, science, and mathematics.

Other recipients of more than one award were Dan Bedford, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bedford, 1302 W. Sigwalt, who won honors in English, over-all activities, and as Student Council president; Rosemary Rodgers, who in addition to being salutatorian, won awards in Latin and forensics.

Suburban Living

Especially for Women

Family-Planned

'Living Kitchens' Do Double Duty in Home

"Living kitchen" is an up-to-date term applied to an old idea which is stretching both space and living enjoyment in modern suburban homes.

Combing the kitchen with some of the features of a family room started generations ago in farm homes where the kitchen was the center of family life, devoted equally to work and relaxation, points out Ralph Sherwin, chief designer of Libbey-Owens-Ford Glass Company. Now, with usable space a prime consideration, living kitchens are coming back into prominence.

"Today, budgets and smaller lots are limiting the size of many homes, making it increasingly important to use every square foot of living space to the fullest," Sherwin commented. "This means that rooms often must be called on to do double duty."

EQUIPPING THE KITCHEN to double as a family room is a good way to make efficient use of space in modern homes. An easy chair, a lamp of two, and possibly a couch where space allows, are the necessary furnishings for relaxation. A sturdy yet attractive table for family meals can double as a work place for hobbies. Thermopane insulating glass sliding doors in this "living kitchen" heighten the feeling of space and make the patio into a handy outdoor room.

THE KITCHEN is a prime example, the designer noted. Although it receives a lot of use during the day, there are many hours when it could be doing valuable extra service as a hobby center, a spot for informal entertaining, TV viewing or just relaxing. It can often double as a gathering place, relieving crowding by accommodating the "overflow" from the family or living rooms.

And, food service is already built-in, the designer noted, adding to its convenience, especially for teenagers.

In planning a living kitchen there is no need to be elaborate. Often an easy chair, sofa and a sturdy table will serve the purpose and keep the room from becoming overcrowded. This is important if it is to remain efficient in its primary function as the food preparation area. The table should be informal enough for everyday family meals, yet handsome enough to provide a focal point for the living area. Furniture should be upholstered in easy-to-clean fabrics with work counters and tables covered with stain-proof material to simplify housekeeping.

"THE SIZE of the room will naturally determine the extra facilities it can provide, but even a small area can give a lot of satisfaction when it is properly planned," Sherwin said. "The ideal time to plan for a dual-purpose kitchen is when remodeling or building a new home. It is more convenient then to provide for the things you want than to add them later. The areas for relaxation and kitchen chores can be laid out so they don't interfere with each other, and appliances and cupboards can be arranged for the most efficiency."

Wherever possible, Sherwin advises using large Thermopane insulating glass windows to let in plenty of light and make the room look spacious.

If the kitchen adjoins a part of the lawn which can be made into a patio, he suggests using sliding glass doors. In summertime they can be opened to make the kitchen and patio into a convenient indoor-outdoor room, ideal for casual entertaining.

Honor Sorority For Services

Alpha Eta Sorority, represented by Mrs. Robert Goebbert of Arlington Heights, president, was honored at the Annual Award Program for Volunteers at Chicago State Hospital Monday evening, May 27. The sorority's members reside in Palatine, Arlington Heights, Mount Prospect, Park Ridge, Skokie and Northwest Chicago.

Can Satisfy Bride, Guests

With the "I do!" season fast approaching, the clever shower hostess who plans ahead will win the gratitude of bride and guests.

It's a fact that the sooner a shower is held before the wedding, the better for all concerned. A bride needs time to exchange duplicate gifts and write thank you notes to the givers. She's frantic enough with last-minute fittings, photos, travel arrangements and house preparations, so give her a break!

Essentials for the party include the correct theme, comfortable guests, and imaginative food and games. here is a "Successful Shower Check List."

Who Should Hold the Shower?

A DEAR friend of the bride is the proper hostess. Custom dictates that it is not appropriate for mothers, sisters or grandmothers of the bride or groom to hold a shower.

What Should Be the Theme?

If it's to be a surprise party, first consult the bride's mother. She can tell you which date will be convenient and will give you a list of things still needed. The list will provide you with the theme. Remember that as a rule, silver and expensive furniture and appliances are appropriate as wedding gifts. Showers traditionally provide the bride with the practical articles she needs to start homemaking.

Here are some appropriate shower themes:

Kitchen and Spice Showers — each guest brings an item for the kitchen, plus a container of spice. Cutlery, cookware, Cook and Serve tools and various handy gadgets head the list. Potholders, baking pans, dish-drying racks, plastic refrigerator jars and canister sets also make good gifts.

A rolling pin is not only a useful gift but one that always causes jokes at showers. Another good "conversation piece" is a whistling teakettle that reminds the bride to get back to the kitchen if she's somewhere else in the house.

IF THE BRIDE has picked her kitchen color scheme, remind guests with a line on the invitation.

A charming added touch is an index card enclosed with the invitation, for each guest to write her favorite recipe. The hostess can provide an index box as her gift, and all guests will thus be remembered whenever the bride consults her recipe file.

Linen Showers — every young homemaker needs bedsheets, pillow cases, spreads, tablecloths, napkins and towels. Again, guests should be informed if the prospective bride has her bedroom and dining room colors picked out.

Closet and Bath Accessory Showers — towel and washcloth holders, soap dishes, and shower curtains will be needed in the bathroom. Sets of fine clothes hangers, skirt and blouse valettes, belt holders, garment bags and space-saving double-bars will be much appreciated.

PERSONAL or Lingerie Showers — slips, negligees, hosiery, hankies, cosmetics, and stationery sets will make the bride feel she has lots of assets in her glamour bank.

Good Housekeeping Showers — brooms, brushes, waxes, polishes, cleansers, dusting mops and sponges are all useful.

Gourmet and Wine Showers — canned delicacies, such as smoked oysters, anchovies, and mixed nuts can be combined with the gift of a bottle of wine, and the bride will be prepared for entertaining in her new home. The hostess can give a wine rack.

"Party Showers" — cocktail, champagne and pilsener glasses, coasters and hors d'oeuvre trays, cocktail measures and shakers are needed for entertaining.

Who Should Be Invited?

A shower is "ladies only." The bride's and groom's relatives are customarily invited, unless it's a shower by her sorority or the girls where she works. About 25 to 30 girls is a large group. Remember that many guests will be strangers to one another, and it's the job of the hostess to introduce everyone around.

Send invitations at least two weeks before the party. Include information about the theme, date and hours for the shower, if it's to be a surprise, bride's color scheme, and if food will be served. Include R.S.V.P.

THE GUESTS, whether or not they are working women, will prefer weekends for the party. Saturday or Sunday afternoons are most convenient.

To make it a surprise, clever planning is necessary to get the prospective bride to come. A dinner engagement for the couple, with the men clued in, works well. When the two arrive, preferably 15 minutes after other guests, the hostess' husband or boy friend can slip away with the groom.

What Food to Serve?

A buffet is almost standard for showers. With warmer weather, keep it light and simple, but tasty! Macaroni salad, spicy cold cuts, tangy cheese and a fruit gelatine make a good combination. Put some zip into your refreshments with a special punch.

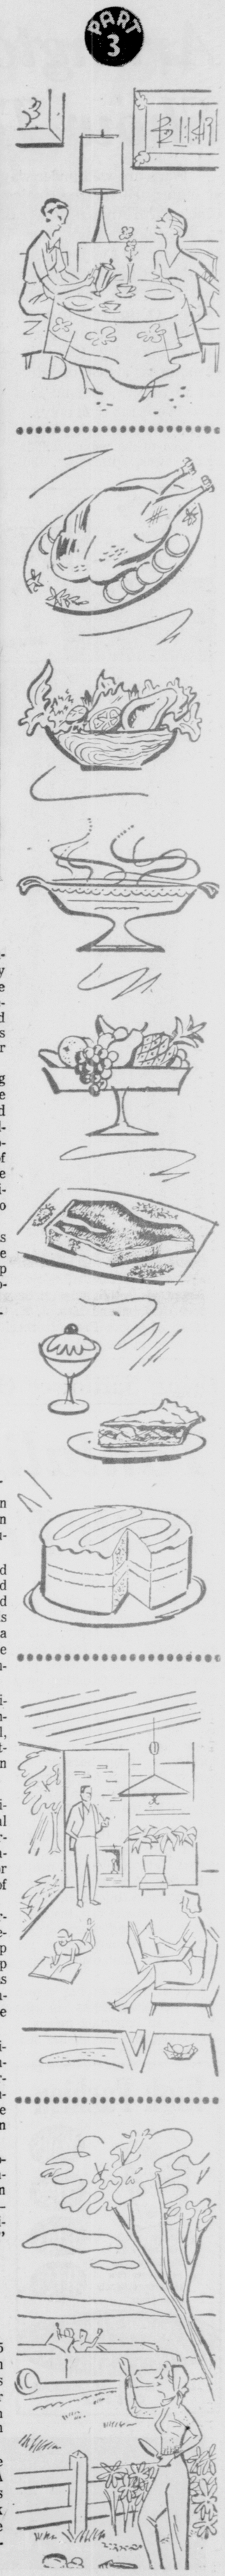
What About Entertainment?

GUESTS want to really enjoy themselves, and they were invited simply to provide gifts for the bride. So be prepared with party games and prizes. Bridge and charades are stand-bys as shower games.

Traditions also include tying gift bows into a paper-plate centerpeice for a memento and predicting the number of children from the number of ribbons broken upon opening of the packages. The guest whose gift is opened seventh is unanimously acclaimed the one to be married next.

Finally, one of the guests should be asked to take on the task of helping the bride keep gifts and cards in their appropriate boxes.

MAKING A DINING TABLE centerpiece of the bows from gift packages is traditional for briday showers, whether it is a kitchen, linen or personal shower.



Says Palsied Can Help Themselves

MADISON, WIS., (UPI) — Mental retardation due to physical handicaps can be prevented in cerebral palsy victims, an internationally known physician told the University of Wisconsin Medical School staff and students Friday.

Dr. Karel Bobath advocated an extensive treatment and management program designed to develop the patient to his fullest potential. Left alone in a crib to stare at the ceiling he is bound to be impaired mentally, he said.

Dr. Bobath, consultant physician to the Cerebral Palsy Center at Harperbury Hospital, England, is conducting an eight-week workshop at the Wisconsin Central Colony Hospital.

DR. BOBATH said an experimental program with cerebral palsy victims at the Harperbury proved many of the patients could learn to care for themselves and spend most of their time outside the hospital.

"We work to make the cerbral palsy patient as self-dependent as possible — to keep himself clean, feed and help dress himself, have some means of locomotion and verbal communication and enjoy life to the utmost," he said.

In addition to obvious physical difficulties, the child's sensory handicaps — such as partial hearing loss, visual and kinesthetic distrubances — must be recognized and treated early in life, Dr. Bobath said.

Under the experimental program "A great number of patients — both young children and those in their twenties — have shown considerable physical and mental improvement," he said.

Mrs. Scheffel On Committee

Mrs. Norman B. Scheffel, 1305 W. Heather Lane, Arlington Heights, is taking reservations from Paddock area women for the spring luncheon of the North Shore Chapter of the Christian Woman's Club of America.

The luncheon will be held June 3 in Glenview Country House. A program including a cosmetics presentation, a soloist and talk on the relationship of the Bible and science are on the afternoon's agenda.

Loss of Independence

Psychiatrist Warns That Suburbia Spurs Conformity

The belief that the first years of a child's life determines personality throughout the adult years was discounted last Wednesday evening by Dr. Leo Rangell, immediate past president of the Psychoanalytic Association of America.

Speaking at Forest Hospital, Des Plaines, Dr. Rangell declared that "it is a fallacy to assume that profound changes in personality and behavior patterns cannot take place at various stages of human growth."

Dr. Rangell, a Fellow at the Center for Advanced Study in the Behavioral Sciences, Stanford University, California, delivered the final lecture in the 1962-63 scientific lecture series conducted at the psychiatric treatment center for Chicago area psychiatrists and other professional workers involved in the prevention and treatment of mental illness.

"OUTER SPACE is receiving national emphasis at this time," Dr. Rangell stated. "Inner space within the human being is equally important," the speaker declared. Dr. Rangell is Clinical Professor of Psychiatry at the University School of Medicine and Training Analyst at the Los Angeles Institute for Psychoanalysis.

He explained that by inner space he was referring to the human personality and "the brains of man." Speaking before an audience of 200 psychiatrists and others participating in mental health work, he stated that the movement "to suburbia has hastened and abetted the current mood of conformity." Colleges and educators throughout the country are deeply concerned with this phenoma, he said. The individual, he added, is under the influence of "mass media" and group psychology. There is a tendency to look alike, dress alike and think alike, he said.

THERE IS, he added, a natural dread of "alienation." One fears to be an "odd ball" or an outsider. The result is a loss of individuality and of independent thinking.

Dr. Rangell, presently the Chairman of the Committee of Post Graduate Development of the American Psychoanalytic Association, stated that exterior circumstances in the life of man plays a major part in shaping personality. "Life is amenable to continuous change," he said. Periods of change, he said, can almost be labelled. "From 25 to 40," he noted, "the younger man is establishing himself, finding his place in life, having children and worrying about his reputation." This age, he said, is crucial in shaping the personality. Enusing stages of growth and change come about when the children and the parents disengage themselves emotionally and go their separate ways, with the children, in turn, having their own offspring, thus imposing grandparenthood upon the parents.

"A psychiatry of old age" is now being introduced throughout the country," he stated. "We are beginning to see that older people can refurbish their lives, set out on new careers and new marriages, in those cases where a spouse has died, with a remarkable cultural bounce."

EMOTIONAL and physical health are directly related, Dr. Rangell stated. "Inner resources based upon an outward-looking view of existence and a capacity to learn can sustain physical health," the speaker stated. "Those functions which are used prevail and maintain themselves. On the contrary, a passive and withdrawn attitude hastens physical and emotional decline," he said. He cited Churchill, Bernard Baruch and Konrad Adenauer as examples of older people whose intellectual vigor has prevailed over physical age.

Dr. Rangell summed up his presentation by warning his audience not to attach importance only to the early years of growth. Man can and does change, he said, from age to age, "from one great life experience to another, as seen from the point of view of the individual." He added that successful therapy with emotionally disturbed people would not be possible if the personality structure were irrevocably set at the very outset of life.

He noted, however, that certain deeply ingrained patterns of behavior are established in the first years. "One may spend one's life hunting for a lost love object, for instance, or find within oneself the strength and capacity to sustain oneself without dependency fear." He added, however, that even these deeply rooted patterns can be altered by later experience.

"I AM NOT against going to the moon," he said, "but the emphasis on outer space today must now have its counterpart in a concern for the inner space of man. The individual must be encouraged to strike out, to be his own critic and to evaluate himself in his own eyes, and not through the eyes of his neighbors."

Dr. Rangell traced the growth of the human personality from adolescence through adult years and into old age in his lecture. "New years of human existence bring new problems," the speaker said, "as well as new possibilities of human expression and adaptation.

The May 22 lecture wound up a monthly discussion series which has been attended by more than 2,000 psychiatrists, social workers, school counselors, and others since its inception last September.

Arlington Garden Club's '63 Show To Be Held June 15, 16

Plans are well under way and enthusiasm is running at high pitch for the coming Arlington Heights Garden Club's Fifth Annual Flower Show, "Vacationland U.S.A." to be held Saturday, June 15, and Sunday June 16, at Pioneer Park Fieldhouse.

Mrs. Charles Moser, general flower show chairman, has filled the invitational classes. Of interest to men, is the Northwoods-Sportsmen's Specialty Class incorporating article of interest to the sportsman. This class is open to men only.

Horticulture exhibits, which are open to the public, will include roses, perennials, bulbous and rhizamotus plants including corms: late tulips, scillas, iris, peonies, bleeding heart, painted daisies, columbine, oriental poppies, viola, lily of the valley, day lilies, delphinium, sweet william, coral bells, shasta daisies and any other perennial not listed.

There will also be classes for annuals, house plants, flowering shrubs or trees and vines.

ALSO IN THE vegetable section there will be exhibits of asparagus, peas, onions, lettuce, radishes and other produce. Fruits such as rhubarb and strawberries can be entered, too.

The junior section will have two divisions, artistic and horticulture, open to children 6 to 10, and 10 to 16. Seedlings in egg shells or paper cups should be planted soon, as some seeds take two to three weeks to sprout.

Advance ticket sale is under the direction of Frank Stewart and tickets can be purchased at the show.

President of the group is Mrs. John Miller and general flower show chairman is Mrs. Charles Moser. Co-chairman is Mrs. Robert Wold. (S

Installation of newly-elected officers is on the agenda for the final meeting of the season for the Women's Evening Guild of Our Redeemer Lutheran Church, Prospect Heights. The meeting will take place at 8 p.m. Sunday, June 2, in the church's social hall.

Mrs. Wilbert Thiele, 13 Lynnbark, Prospect Heights, will be completing the final year of a 2-year term, as will Mrs. Arthur Herrmann, treasurer and Mrs. Charles Sterns, board member. Officers to be installed for a 2-year term are Mrs. Gerald Andrews, first vice president, Mrs. Harvey Hayden, secretary, and Mrs. Stanley Bacon, board member. The second vice president, Mrs. Eugene Wiecek, will be installed for a term of one year, completing a vacated 2-year term.

THE PRESIDENT'S appointed committee are Mrs. Arthur Streccius, ways and means; Mrs. Herman Noll, Lutheran Women's Missionary League Secretary; Mrs. Arron Best, hospitality; Mrs. Al Griesch, purchasing; Mrs. H. W. Schoephoester, visitation and membership.

New members of the group include Mrs. Bacon of Arlington Vista, Mrs. Schoephoester of Buffalo Grove, Mrs. Michael DeLuca, Mrs. Heyden and Mrs. Wiecek of Prospect Heights, and Mrs. Best, Mrs. Robert Crittenden, Mrs. Gene Fricke and Mrs. John Lucht of Wheeling.

Pastor Herman Noll will discuss "Where Will the King Find You?" following devotions by Mrs. Andrews, and the program to follow will be "Fun Night." Hostesses will be Mrs. Charlotte Thorsen, Mrs. Wayne Zimmerman and Mrs. Henry Dietz.

500-HOUR MERIT PINS for service in Holy Family Hospital Auxiliary were presented recently by Sister M. Siliosa to Mount Prospect residents, Mrs. Thomas Dunk, Mrs. Anthony Brossart and Mrs. Claire Ericson, and Mrs. Norbert Leja, center, while the ladies at the right, Mrs. J. C. Weides, Prospect Heights, and Mrs. J. E. Orlick and Mrs. C. J. Badalamenti of Mount Prospect received 100-hour certificates. Not included in the picture were Mrs. William McGuire, Mount Prospect, and Mrs. Edward Sypniewski, Wheeling, who received 500-hour pins, and Mrs. A. P. Miller, Palatine, Mrs. W. R. Christiansen, Mrs. Rex Rogers, Mrs. William Sommers and Mrs. Ross Miller, Mount Prospect, and Miss Evelyn Spoerlein, Arlington Heights, who received a 100-hour certificate. Awards were presented May 21 at Annual Recognition Awards luncheon. Stephany Photo). (S

Designed for Dieters

Three Way Fruit Chiffon Is Luscious, Calorie Low

Oscar Wilde once claimed that he could resist anything but temptation. Most dieters have the same problem, particularly at dessert-time. Chiffon desserts are spectacular enough to provide temptation — but there's no struggle with the conscience involved. The waistline-whittler can have her fill of the low-calorie sweet.

FRUIT CHIFFON is made with whipped non-fat dry milk rather than whipped cream and maintains its fluffy texture with unflavored gelatine. Fruit Chiffon, unlike many dieter's desserts, looks elaborate enough to serve to dinner ugests.

This delectable dessert may be made with canned fruit cocktail, blueberries or diced peach slices. Because of its unflavored gelatine content, it needs no involved cooking. Simply combine the ingredients and pop the mixture into the refrigerator. During the coming days when the thermometer soars, you'll welcome the convenience of this speedy dessert.

FRUIT CHIFFON proves additional versatility in the shape in which it comes to the table. The pudding can be turned into a mold, baked pie shell or cookie crumb crust or into dessert dishes.

To make a towering chiffon topping to a cake layer, chill the mixture until firm on a cake layer. Just fit the cake layer with a paper collar that extends two inches above the cake and secure the collar with transparent tape. Pour in the chiffon mixture, chill for a hour or two and remove the collar.

However you choose to serve it, you'll be delighted with this low calorie, easy-to-prepare dessert. For the dieter, Fruit Chiffon provides temptation . . . and no need to resist it!

THREE-WAY FRUIT CHIFFON

- 1 envelope unflavored gelatine
- ½ cup sugar, divided, or equivalent non-caloric sweetener
- 1 can (1 pound) fruit cocktail, blueberries or peach slices*
- 6 tablespoons lemon juice, divided
- ½ cup ice water
- ½ cup non-fat dry milk

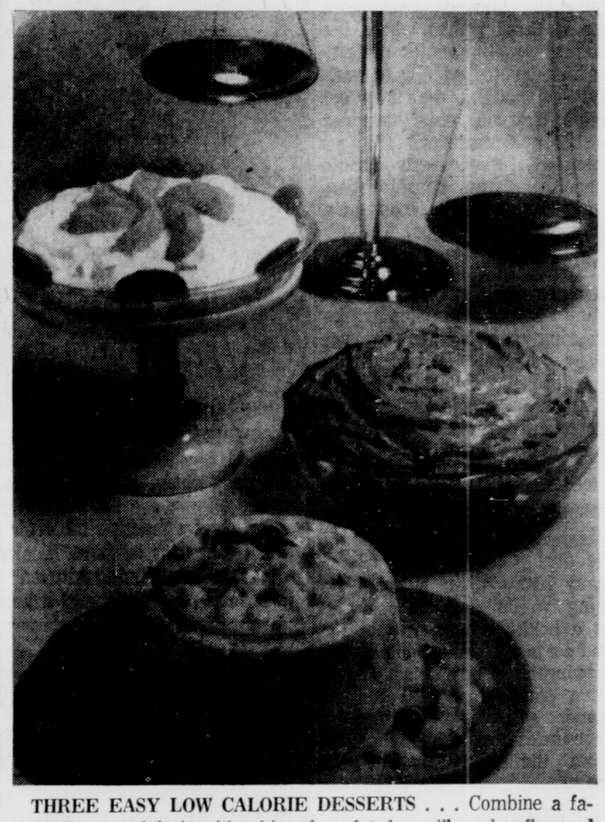
Mix together unflavored gelatine and ¼ cup of the sugar or equivalent for ½ cup sugar in saucepan. Drain syrup from fruit into saucepan. Place over low heat, stirring constantly, until gelatine is dissolved. Remove from heat; add 4 tablespoons of the lemon juice and drained fruit.

Chill, stirring occasionally, until mixture is the consistency of unbeaten egg white. While mixture is chilling, whip non-fat dry milk. Pour ice water into mixing bowl; add non-fat dry milk. Whip until soft peaks form, 3 to 4 minutes.

Add remaining 2 tablespoons lemon juice and continue whipping until stiff, 3 to 4 minutes longer. Add remaining ¼ cup sugar. (Do not beat with sugar if equivalent is used.) Fold in gelatine mixture. Turn mixture into a 9-inch pie plate; put vanilla wafers around sides. Or, turn into a 6-cup mold or 1 large serving bowl.

YIELD: 6 servings, 173 calories per serving with sugar, 109 calories per serving with non-caloric sweetener.

*Cut peach slices into small pieces. (SH



THREE EASY LOW CALORIE DESSERTS . . . Combine a favorite canned fruit with whipped nonfat dry milk and unflavored gelatine for a dessert that is light, refreshing and low in calories. This chiffon dessert needs no cooking and may be served as a festive mold, spoon pudding or pie filling. (SH

Using Safflower Oil

Tantalize Appetites With Fruited Crepes

Cooking with safflower oil is a chef's delight, as more and more homemakers are finding out. Pastries are fluffy, salads are flavorful, and fried foods are light and crisp when prepared with this exciting new vegetable oil.

And because safflower oil is so highly poly-unsaturated, many tasty desserts whcich once were taboo because the man of the house found himself on a low-fat diet, can now be enjoyed by the whole family.

SAFFLOWER OIL has a ratio of poly-unsaturated to saturated fats which is nearly twice that of corn oil, its nearest vegetable oil rival. Since all vegetable oils rate the same calorie-wise, safflower oil offers more poly-unsaturates per calorie than any other vegetable oil available.

Medical research has shown that poly-unsaturates in the diet are an important means of controlling cholesterol, the substance in the blood which contributes to heart ailments.

New on area grocery shelves is an all-purpose cooking and salad oil which is 100 per cent safflower oil: Saffola. Its lightness and bland flavor enables it to enhance the natural flavors of other foods.

An elegant and colorful dessert which combines fresh fruit with Saffola-made pastry are these mouth-watering, strawberry-orange crepes.

Note: Additional recipes are available by writing Pacific Vegetable Oil Corp., Ferry Terminal Building., San Francisco.

STRAWBERRY-ORANGE CREPES
(Makes 6 servings)

- 1 cup sifted all-purpose flour
- ¾ teaspoon salt
- 3 teaspoons baking powder
- 2 tablespoons sugar
- 2 eggs, beaten
- 1¼ cups milk
- 1/3 cup Saffola safflower oid
- Safflower oil for frying
- Strawberry-Orange Filling*
- Confectioner's sugar

Sift together flour, salt, baking powder and sugar in bowl. Mix eggs, milk, and 1/3 cup safflower oil; gradually stir into flour mixture until smooth. Let stand while preparing filling recipe, given below.

Lightly oil and heat 6-inch skillet; pour in 2 tablespoons batter tilting pan to spread batter evenly and thinly. Cook 1 minute on each side, or until lightly browned. Place a spoonful of strawberry filling on each crepe; roll up and keep warm.

When all crepes are baked and filled, arrange in chafing dish; spoon remaining filling over crepes and heat thoroughly. Sprinkle with confectioner's sugar.

*Strawberry-Orange Filling—Mix 2/3 cup sugar, 1 tablespoon cornstarch, 1 teaspoon grated orange rind, ¼ teaspoon cinnamon and 1/16 teaspoon cloves in saucepan; stir in 1¼ cups orange juice, and 1 tablespoon lemon juice.

Cook over medium heat, stirring constantly, until thickened and clear. Stir in ¼ cup Saffola margarine and 1 pint strawberries, sliced. (SH

THE TANGY AROMA of fruit and spices, wafting from a hot chafing dish, is enough to tantalize any appetite. Pastry for these strawberry-orange crepes is extra light when made with safflower oil. (SH

Week's Best Food Buys

With Memorial Day festivities in mind, picnic and barbecue meats take the promotion spotlight for the week of May 27-June 1, reports the University of Illinois.

Beef steaks, ground beef, rib roasts, spareribs and late-week pork roasts are better buys. Fresh produce bargains include bananas, strawberries, cantaloupe, tomatoes, lettuce, sweetcorn, green onions, cucumbers.

The June calendar produce values list the following:

Fruits: Apricots, bananas, blackberries, blueberries, cherries*, figs, lemons*, nectarines, peaches, pineapples, plums, raspberries, rhubarb, strawberries*.

Vegetables: Beans, beets, cauliflower, cucumbers*, green onions*, kohlrabi, lettuce*, mustard greens*, okra, peas, peppers, radishes, sweetcorn, spinach, squash, Swiss chard, tomatoes.

*Denotes peak supply month.

KAPPA DELTA

Mrs. Malcolm F. James, 1322 Central Road, Mount Prospect, has been named 1963-64 president of the Northwest Suburban Kappa Delta Alumnae Association. Outgoing president is Mrs. Robert Dallstream, also of Mount Prospect.

Other officers of the group are Mrs. John Riecss of Palatine, vice president; Mrs. R. W. Johnson, Arlington Heights, secretary; Mrs. A. O. Paulus, Mount Prospect, treasurer. An Arlington Heights woman, Mrs. Richard L. Witt, is magazine chairman.

The group's schedule of monthly programs will resume in September.

ALPHA CHI OMEGA

Alpha Chi's last meeting until fall will be a salad luncheon in the Palatine home of Mrs. Paul Heal, 2112 S. Linden Lane, at 1 p.m. Tuesday, June 4. Assisting Mrs. Heal will be Mrs. George Gardner, Mrs. Richard Johnson, Mrs. Bernard Josif, Mrs. Robert Stoner and Mrs. E. Gordon Young.

New Alpha Chi's in the area are invited to call the group's president, Mrs. E. Gordon Young, 392-4837. (S

'Two for the Grill'

You can't go wrong and you can't do better than steak and potatoes for a gala barbecue. Get the best steak you can find and keep the seasonings simple. Ac'cent monosodium glutamate will bring out the rich steak flavor to perfection.

Line your grill with aluminum foil for even heat control and quick clean-up afterwards. Hash brown potatoes cooked in foil alongside the steak are quick, easy and delicious. Keep decorative copper-colored salters and peppers by the grill and on the table.

A GREAT STEAK

- 1 porterhouse or sirloin steak (about 1½ inches thick)
- 2 teaspoons Ac'cent, divided
- Salt
- Pepper

Trim excess fat from steak. Slash fat edge to prevent curling. Place steak on aluminum foil lined grill. Sprinkle with 1 teaspoon of the Ac'cent. Grill to desired degree of doneness, turning once and sprinkling with remaining Ac'cent. After grilling, sprinkle with salt and pepper. Yield: 4-6 servings.

GRILLED POTATOES

- ½ package hash brown potatoes
- ¼ cup melted butter
- 1 tablespoon chopped parsley
- 1 tablespoon chopped chives
- 1 teaspoon dill seed
- ½ teaspoon salt
- ¼ teaspoon Ac'cent

Simmer and drain potatoes according to package directions. Combine with remaining ingredients. Wrap tightly in 15 inch length of aluminum foil. Cook on grill 15 to 20 minutes, turning occasionally. Yield: 4 servings. (SH

Historic Wisconsin Ideal for Weekend Trips

STONEFIELD, ON THE BANK of the Missippi River near Cassville, presents the story of the rural Midwest. Located in Nelson Dewey State Park, once the plantation of Wisconsin's first governor, it includes the home of Dewey, frontier lawyer, land speculator and experimental farmer; the State Farm Museum and Stonefield, the rural village of the 1890's. A horse-drawn bus takes the visitor through a covered bridge to the village square. (T

Tourists Discover Convenient Spots

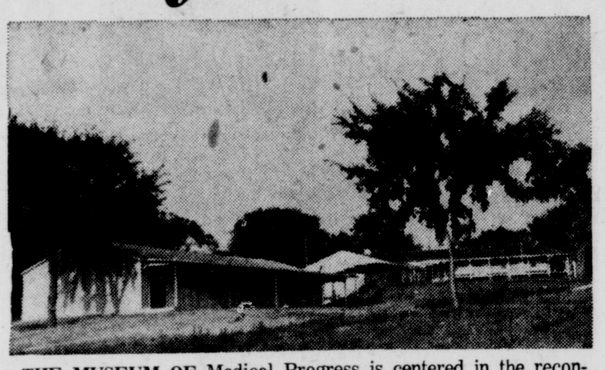
Visits to the places where history was made are becoming increasingly popular among vacationers and weekend tourists in Wisconsin, according to the State Historical Society.

The six sites and museums operated by the Society and the 63 sites and museums operated by local communities and historical societies had nearly half a million visitors last year.

The State Society's Museum in Madison is open throughout the year. Villa Louis and the Museum of Medical Progress at Prairie du Chien; Stonefield at Cassville and Wade House at Greenbush are open from May 1 through October 31 as are most local sites. The Circus World Museum is open from May 11 through September 15.

To assist people in planning their summer trips, the State Historical Society of Wisconsin has prepared two pamphlets, "Se Historic Wisconsin," and a listing of more than 60 historic sites and museums in Wisconsin.

Copies may be obtained by writing the Society, 816 State Street, Madison, or from tourist bureaus, or at historic sites and museums throughout the state. (T



THE MUSEUM OF Medical Progress is centered in the reconstructed military hospital of the second Fort Crawford at Prairie du Chien. It explains the history of medical science from primitive Indian medicine to modern day diagnosis and treatment of the ills of man. Stovall Hall of Health is the newest addition to the site, which is owned by the State Medical Society and operated by the State Historical Society of Wisconsin. (T

Travel and Adventure

VILLA LOUIS AT Prairie du Chien is built on a 2,000 year old Indian mound. British and American forts stood on the mound and huge Indian councils took place nearby before the site was acquired by Hercules Dousman who built Villa Louis in 1843. Remodeled in the 1870's, it is today one of the finest and best known examples of mid-Victorian architecture and decor in the midwest. The story of the Dousman family which help to develop the frontier is told here. (T OLD WADE HOUSE at Greenbush was opened in 1851 as a halfway point stop on the plank road from Sheboygan to Fond du Lac. Restored and equipped with much of its original early American furniture, Wade House, and its companion, Butternut House, tell the story of early travel by stage, freight wagon or immigrant wagon into the wilderness of Central Wisconsin. Wade House State Park is on the northern edge of Kettle Moraine State Park. (T

THE CIRCUS WORLD MUSEUM in the heart of the Central Wisconsin vacationland at Baraboo, is an exhibition of the history of America's greatest entertainment spectacle. Demonstrations of behind-the-scenes circus activities and live circus acts are highlights of a visit. Located in the old winter quarters of the Ringling Brothers Circus, the museum contains the world's finest collection of historic circus wagons, including this operating caliope. (T

Cleaning Habits Are Important

There's No Deep, Dark Secret In Keeping Floors Beautiful

The conscientious homemaker who is disturbed about the appearance of her smooth-surface flooring may find that the deep, dark scret behind flor care success is amazingly simple if she'll only change a few of her old cleaning and polishing habits.

While modern flooring materials and floor care items have gone a long way toward reducing the burdensome aspects of routine floor maintenance, many housewives have neglected to keep pace with the times. Despite their efforts, the gray, cloudy floors in their kitchens, bathrooms and family rooms indicate incorrect floor care procedure.

ALL FLOORS require a regular program of washing, polishing and waxing. Reasons for floor care dissatisfaction normally involve one or more of these activities and they often point to neglect of a few basic floor care steps.

Chief among these, according to home economists is washing floors too frequently with strong soaps and cleaners. With some types of flooring, these strong solutions can fade and discolor the material more readily than constant wear.

Thorough washing can be limited to three or four times a year, or when exceptional soiling has occurred, if spills are wiped up before they become sticky or dry. In all cases, strong cleaners should be avoided unless diluted as their high alkali content can ultimately cause chemical changes in color pigments or compositions.

When floors are exceptionally soiled and need a thorough cleaning, a good all-purpose solution is a half-cup of household detergent and a half-cup of ammonia diluted with a gallon of warm water. This solution will also remove excessive wax accumulations which cause graying or yellowing.

APPLICATION of a protective wax or polish should always follow thorough cleaning, but should be started only after the washed floor has dried completely.

The inconvenience of scrubbing a floor, waiting for it to dry and then applying wax has been removed by new products that clean and polish in one step. The development of combination cleaners and polishes and other liquid, self-polishing products over the past few years has cut the time required for floor care and has erased the need for hand-and-knees application of paste waxes.

In choosing cleaners, waxes and polishes, a good rule-of-thumb is to use products recommended by the manufacturers of flooring. Because of their natural interest in effective floor care, some manufacturers produce maintenance products especially designed to be safe and efficient for their types of flooring. Labels should be read carefully to insure that the correct care item is used for the flooring.

SOLVENT-TYPE waxes are not recommended for asphalt or rubber tile or some types of flooring such as linoleum installed in six-foot widths.

One common mistake is the application of wax too thickly. A thin film hardens more quickly and gives better protection because the moisture content of the wax can fully evaporate. Thick coatings leave sub-surface wax soft, increasing the floor's vulnerability to denting and surface scratches. Because of the nature of their formulations, the cleaner-polish combination products provide a safeguard against thick applications.

Equally important, liquid polishes and waxes should be applied in a single direction to avoid the spotty and "checkered" appearance of floors when they have dried.

In addition to immediately wiping up spills, a thorough sweeping is all the care normally required for daily maintenance. A soft hair broom used only for floors will help reduce scratching and will prevent dust from becoming ground in.

FURNITURE rests will help prevent denting caused by heavy furniture and modern pieces with pointed legs. These rests spread the weight of the furniture over a larger area and remain flat even when the chairs are tilted. Roller casters are more likely to dent floors because weight is concentrated in a small area.

Deep gouges are often caused by moving furniture across the flooring without dollies. Where furniture is too heavy for lifting, small scraps of carpeting or heavy cloth should be placed beneath legs to give protection needed. (S

Travel Tips

Paris Is Planning Gay Birthday Fete

by JEANNE WELCH
Travel Editor

Those who are fortunate enough to be in Paris in June will see a birthday celebration commemorating one of France's most famous and beloved landmarks. The celebrant will be the cathedral of Notre Dame—the birthday will be its 800th!

The week-long series of civic and religious ceremonies will begin on June 16 and will include church music concerts, historical exhibits, and special masses.

PERHAPS THE most elaborate of the celebrations is being staged on June 23 when visitors to Notre Dame will see recreated for them much of the pageantry of the cathedral's past. Using stereophonic sound and brilliant lighting techniques, history is brought to life through modern technological advances. This is the same technique which is used with such impact in certain of the castles which are on the traditional tour of French chauteaux.

Notre Dame stands on ground which has been consecrated for twenty centuries. A Gallo-Roman temple occupied the site in Caesar's time. In 1163 construction began which was to continue for 182 years and which survived in its original form until the end of the 17th century. Then Louis XIV, imbued, no doubt, with a desire for "modernity," began to institute changes. He demolished the high altar, the pews and bas-reliefs at the entrance to the apse and the tombs. As a result, much of what visitors see today are restorations of the original earlier cathedral, restoration done in the 19th century, but done perfectly. In the Paris of today, as in the Paris of eight centuries ago, Notre Dame is an oasis of peace in a turbulent age.

IT IS RATHER late to make plans now to be in Paris for the birthday celebration of Notre Dame, but it is none too soon to think about the possibilities of attending another natal festivity. One of Britain's—and the world's—most beloved poets will have a 400th birthday in 1964. The poet is William Shakespeare who, 400 years after his birth, is today's most popular theatrical writer in English.

Of course, Britain is planning many special anniversary events, some of which sound as colorful as some of the bard's own dramas. The year will see the opening of a new permanent Shakespeare Center at Stratford-upon-Avon. In addition a huge temporary pavilion will be erected on the banks of the Avon which will contain exhibits illustrating life as it was lived in the time of the poet-playwright. The pavilion will be moved to Edinburgh in August and then will be taken to London for erection in one of the major parks there.

IT WILL BE a big year for the Royal Shakespeare Theatre, too, and although its schedule has not yet been announced it is common knowledge that Britain's brightest stars will all take part in the festival-year productions.

As a contribution to the festivities the British Travel Association has prepared a booklet on "Shakespeare land" which is available free from its offices at 680 Fifth Ave., New York 19. It's an interesting booklet which offers background to make a tour of that land, in the festival year or in any year, vivid and meaningful. (T

Builder Tells Homebuyer How to Get Money's Worth

How can a prospective homebuyer know when he's getting maximum value for every housing dollar?

The problem is one of foremost concern among prospective homeowners surveyed by Able Construction Company, Norridge. In listing their biggest areas of concern in buying a new house, virtually all prospective homebuyers mentioned "value" as one of their most important considerations.

THERE ARE several ways in which you can be sure you're getting the full value out of a new house, Able points out:

1. Select your builder as carefully as you'd pick your family physician. Some builders might be cheaper than others, but no one wants to buy a "sick" house just to save a few dollars. On the other hand, a good builder will be able to save you a great deal of money on your home — without sacrificing quality.

2. Look for the "hidden" costs, such as insurance, taxes, "ups" and extras. Know exactly what your house is going to cost — now and in future installments — so that you don't go over your head financially.

3. Inspect other homes the builder has constructed. Is the craftsmanship good? Do you see building materials, fixtures and appliances with well-known, nationally-recognized brand names? What do the owners think of the builder?

4. CHECK THE location of the property. Is it convenient to schools, stores, transportation? Because of its location, will the value of the lot hold up over the years?

5. Check the neighborhood in which the house is built. Are the other houses of comparable value and style? Is the community well kept? These things also tend to hold values high over a period of years.

6. Once you have selected a builder, place your confidence in him and listen to his suggestions. His years of experience can show you how to get more house for less money, producing a home that will be as desirable 10 years from now as it is today.

For a free checklist on how to find real value in a new home write to Able Construction Company, 8524 West Lawrence Avenue, Norridge, Ill. or phone GL 6-9050. (S

Says Tourism Is S. Illinois Hope

EQUALITY, ILL., (UPI) — Efforts to achieve full employment in southern Illinois must be based on tourism and recreation, the Illinois field coordinator for the Federal Area Redevelopment Administration said last week.

Chet Townsend, of Herrin, told a meeting of the Shawnee Hills Recreation Association here that industry will never be able to take care of the employment needs of all communities.

"Industry today knows what it wants and how to get it, and not all communities meet the requirements," said Townsend.

HE SAID there were 1,594,852 visitors to state parks and memorials in southern Illinois in 1962 and another 1.5 million at the Crab Orchard National Wildlife Refuge.

Using a United States Department of commerce estimate of $10 spent per visitor, Townsend said these visitors could have spent $30 million in the area. He said no single industry could come close to matching that figure.

"Southern Illinois possesses the largest untapped recreation resources in the midwest," Townsend said. (T

Give Advice on Fishing, Hunting

EAU CLAIRE, WIS., (UPI)— Concurrent statewide opening dates on seasons for all species of fish except bass, and for geese and ducks were favored Friday by the Wisconsin Conservation Congress.

The concurrent fish seasons would go into effect early in May, possibly the second Saturday, and would include muskies, walleye, northern pike and brook, brown and rainbow trout.

Black bass is the only species excluded from the concurrent opening list and would continue to open early in June south of the highway 64 boundary.

IN OTHER actions on fish regulations, the congress voted against the proposed bag limit of 25 on panfish in northwestern Wisconsin. This proposal had won favor in the county meetings held earlier this month. The congress also voted to open Chippewa Flowage, on the Chippewa River, to ice fishing.

All actions by the congress are advisory only with the state conservation commission making the actual decisions.

While the congress favored concurrent openings for geese and ducks, it rejected a proposal for a season limit of 8 on horicon geese. The congress approved a lesser limit of five.

IN OTHER actions on game regulations, the congress approved a statewide ruffed grouse season of Sept. 28-Dec. 15, except for the area north of highway 64. The season in that area would close three days before the start of the deer-gun season.

The delegates favored a pheasant season of Oct. 19-Nov. 24, and extension of two weekends or nine days from the present season.

In other actions, the congress approved a statewide raccoon season of Sept. 28-Dec. 31; a muskrat and mink season of Oct. 28-Jan. 15; and a uniform bag of three and possession of six rabbits of all species, except the snowshoe hare in the north.

Frost Nips Wisconsin Cherries

STURGEON BAY, WISC., (UPI) — Thousands of acres of cherry trees in Door County were subjected to temperatures as low as 19 degrees at midweek and an appraisal of damage to the 1963 crop was underway this weekend.

Orchards in the southern half were hardest hit because trees in the north of peninsula had not yet bloomed.

DOOR COUNTY cherry growers, who normally harvest more than 10,000 acres annually, had been counting on better prices this season because the severe winter caused extensive damage to southern Michigan orchards.

Dr. Clifford Ehlers, fruit specialist at the University of Wisconsin, said Door County will still have a crop despite the damage. (T

Two days of celebration were in order for the May 6 50th wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Schiffhauer, 619 N. Harvard, Arlington Heights.

Sunday, May 5, was an open house and buffet for friends and relatives and the following evening the couple were honored at a surprise dinner at Poppe's Alpine Lodge in Lake Zurich. The dinner was given by their nieces and families, the Otto Muusses and LaVerne of Des Plaines, and the Dan Johnsons and Laura of Barrington.

The Schiffhauers have been residents of Arlington Heights for 25 years, having owned the Park View Tavern and for several years operated the restaurant in Loretta's Cafe in Arlington Heights. Mr. Schiffhauer is a butcher by trade and was employed by Jewel Food and IGA Stores until his retirement several years ago. (S

Exam Swipers Face Expulsion

VINCENNES, IND., (UPI) — Three students caught trying to steal a history examination paper at Vincennes University face immediate expulsion, Dr. Isaac K. Beckes, president of the school, said this weekend.

The youths, a freshman and two sophomores, were interrupted in their early-morning raid on the school's administration building Friday by a policeman who had staked out the building, apparently as a result of a tip.

BECKES said the university had no intention of pressing charges in the break-in but would expel the students.

Authorities indicated the youths intended to sell copies of the examination papers.

"Most students are honest but it's a constant battle to keep cheating under control," Beckes said. (B8

Hospital Enrolls 7 For Pastoral Care

Seven pastors and theological students have been named as residents in the program of pastoral care at Lutheran General Hospital, Park Ridge.

The seven will spend 13 months at the hospital taking instruction in clinical training and hospital chaplaincy. They begin their residency on June 1.

SEMINARY students are Henry J. Boschen, Columbus, Ohio; Corwin C. Hutchison, Minneapolis, and Kenneth Melby, St. Paul. All three are students at Luther Theological Seminary in St. Paul.

This is the third class to enter the 13-month program at Lutheran General Hospital. They gain practical experience in institutional chaplaincy under supervision of trained supervisors. (B9

Burger Idea Uses Pickles

With the coming of National Pickle Week the last week in May, see if you can't put your imagination to work and think of different main course combinations of pickles with other foods.

Meat and pickle duos offer a number of possibilities, such as Dillburgers. You'll enjoy a variation of the hamburgers so frequently cooked outdoors this season.

SEASONED ground beef is shaped around lengthwise slices of dill pickle. A bacon strip encircles each, and the Dillburgers broil about 15 minutes. Turn them occasionally so they brown evenly. You may do the cooking on a charcoal grill or indoors in your broiler, says meat expert Reba Staggs.

GRILLED DILLBURGERS

1½ pounds ground beef
1½ teaspoons salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
3 tablespoons chopped onion
3 dill pickles, cut in half lengthwise
6 bacon strips

Mix ground beef, salt, pepper and onion. Shape seasoned ground beef around dill pickle strip. Wrap each dillburger with a strip of bacon and fasten with wooden picks.

Broil on outdoor grill or in range broiler about 15 minutes, turning occasionally. Six servings. (SH

Apple Cake a Family Unique Souvenir For J. Lindseys

by LOIS SEILER

One of the best souvenirs that the James G. Lindsey family brought back from a trip out West last year was an appealing recipe for a fresh apple cake.

"A cousin who lives in Nebraska served it to us, and we all loved it," Mrs. Lindsey explained. "Since then it has become a family favorite."

Fresh apples are sliced into the cinnamon-flavored cake batter, which also contains chopped nuts.

"The apples don't sink to the bottom in this cake," Mrs. Lindsey commented, "but are spread throughout the batter."

Baked for an hour, this moist apple cake is so flavorful that it doesn't even need an icing and is delicious eaten plain. However, Mrs. Lindsey often frosts it with a powdered sugar glaze or sprinkles the top with powdered sugar.

"With eight children in the family, this cake disappears in a hurry. But it is so easy to mix together that I can make it often," she said.

'Find' Way Out West

EAGERLY ANTICIPATING A piece of their mother's delicious fresh apple cake are Penelope and Michael Lindsey of Arlington Heights. Mrs. James G. Lindsey has made this cake many times since her family first tasted it out West last year, and it has become a great favorite with all eight Lindsey children. (SH

Wisconsin to Probe Obscene Literature

by THOMAS PLEDGE

MADISON, WIS., (UPI) — The State Senate last week passed by a solid, 24-9, vote a bill to create a six man legislative committee to investigate the publication and distribution of obscene literature in Wisconsin.

Sen. John Potter, R-Port Edwards, author of the smut investigation bill, said the measure was designed specifically to see if Wisconsin corporate law was so lenient that it encouraged formation of firms publishing "lusty books."

"This is not a committee that would sit down and look at girlie pictures . . . neither are we publicity hungry. This investigation is for legislative purposes — to see whether we are giving these corporations some unwarranted breaks," he said.

POTTER SAID the bill was triggered by an article in a national magazine (The Saturday Evening Post) last month that named a corporation in Northern Wisconsin as publishers of obscene literature. He said an investigation showed the firm had backers in Chicago, but other than that investigators "ran into a brick wall."

The firm named in the article has since filed papers to dissolve the present corporation, Potter said, but "in a month or six weeks they could form a new corporation, using a title associated with agriculture, or medicine, as a front — and they'd be right back in business."

The committee would be empowered to subpeona witnesses and records to a public hearing. It would be composed of three assemblymen and three senators and be required to submit a written report of its findings to the legislature by Jan. 1, 1965.

BEFORE PASSAGE the bill was amended to cut the funds allocated for the investigation from the proposed $15,000 to $3,000 and to require at least one Democrat from both Houses be named to the committee.

"We will be looking for two things," Potter said. "One is, why did this corporation named in the article locate in a remote area up north? Two is, what are the district attorney's powers in such a case?"

The proposal is now in the assembly for more debate. (B8

'Wee' Pizzas For June Graduates

If you have a son or daughter graduating from high school or junior high this year, a celebration is in order. A party for the gang will surely be greeted with enthusiasm.

WHEN IT comes to the food, teenagers have certain favorites in party snacks. Pizza is definitely one of these, so you will please everyone with Bit-Size Pizzas. They have the same zesty flavor, plus the appeal of cute little circular servings.

No rolling of the yeast dough is needed. It's just shaped into the circles, allowed to rise, topped with seasoned tomato paste, salami, mushrooms and cheese . . . then baked. Considering the usual ravenous teenage appetites, you may want to double or triple the recipe.

BITE-SIZE PIZZA

½ cup milk, scalded
¼ cup lard
1 package dry or 1 cake compressed yeast
1½ cups sifted enriched flour
½ teaspoon salt

Grease 2 cooky sheets. Add lard to scalded milk and cool to lukewarm. Add crumbled yeast and let soften about 10 minutes. Add flour and salt and mix thoroughly. Knead dough about 5 minutes. Place on a greased cooky sheet. Cover with a tea towel and let stand in a warm place until double in size. Punch down and pat to ¼-inch thickness. Using a biscuit cutter, cut into 18 2¾-inch rounds. Prepare topping.

PIZZA TOPPING

½ pound hard salami
¼ teaspoon sweet basil
¼ teaspoon oregano
¼ teaspoon salt
1 can (2 ounces) mushroom stems and pieces, chopped
1 can (6 ounces) tomato paste
¾ cup grated American cheese
¼ cup grated Parmesan cheese

Cut salami into small pieces. Add basil, oregano, salt and chopped mushrooms to tomato paste and spread evenly over rounds of dough allowing about 1½ tablespoonfuls for each round.

Sprinkle each with cheeses. Bake in a hot oven (400 degrees) 15 to 20 minutes. Yield: 18 pizzas. (SH

Sales Increase

Members of Super Market Institute had sales gains in 1962 averaging 6 per cent over 1960, while the Bureau of Labor Statistics Index of Retail Food Prices advanced only 1 per cent in 1960. This, says SMI, makes it clear that sales increases came primarily from selling more food rather than from higher prices.

Sweetbreads Ala Canadian

Quick broiler meals on lazy days, when you feel like spending as little time as possible in the kitchen, can be full of surprises.

Take the unique grill combination of Canadian-style bacon, pineapple and sweetbreads. It's on the table in a jiffy and yet is such a treat to eat. The use of a less-frequently prepared meat attracts attention, too.

SWEETBREADS fall into the classification known as variety meats and are considered a delicacy by many gourmets. Introduce this delightful meat variation to your family, if sweetbreads aren't already familiar to them.

For serving broiled, chilled or in creamed dishes, sweetbreads should be pre-cooked. Meat cookery expert Reba Staggs says that a little vinegar or lemon juice added to the water keeps them firm and white.

SWEETBREADS CANADIAN-STYLE

1 pound sweetbreads
1 quart water
1 teaspoon salt
1 tablespoon vinegar or lemon juice
6 slices Canadian-style bacon, cut ¼-inch thick
6 pineapple slices
2 tablespoons butter or margarine, melted

Wash sweetbreads. Add water, salt and vinegar or lemon juice. Simmer 20 minutes. Drain. Remove membrane and divide sweetbreads into 6 servings.

PLACE CANADIAN-style bacon slices and pineapple on broiler rack. Insert broiler pan and rack so the surface of the meat and pineapple is about 3 inches from the heat. Broil 4 minutes, turn meat and pineapple.

Arrange a slice of Canadian-style bacon on each pineapple slice and top with sweetbreads. Brush sweetbreads with butter or margarine. Continue broiling 3 to 4 minutes or until lightly browned. Six servings. (SH

FRESH APPLE CAKE

4 cups apples, peeled and sliced as for pie
2 cups sugar
½ cup Wesson Oil
1 cup coarsely chopped nuts
2 well-beaten eggs
2 teaspoons vanilla
2 cups all-purpose flour, sifted
1 teaspoon baking soda
1 teaspoon cinnamon
1 teaspoon salt

Mix apples and sugar together. Add the Wesson Oil, chopped nuts, beaten eggs and vanilla.

Sift together the flour, soda, cinnamon and salt. Add to the batter and mix until blended. Turn into a greased and floured 9 by 13 inch pan and bake at 350 for one hour or until cake shrinks from the sides of the tin. Frost with a powdered sugar glaze. (SH

Scientists Confirm Pesticide Hazards

Tighter Reins Recommended

by BOB CUMMINS

President Kennedy's Scientific Advisory Panel in a report released last week on its study of pesticides called for broader and tighter controls over these chemicals.

By implication, the report was critical of the Department of Agriculture for past shortcomings in protecting the public health from possible harm by pesticides.

The report vindicted those who have warned of the dangers of pesticides and called for reforms and additional controls.

Paddock Publications has written and editorialized in this vein frequently in the past two years.

The 43-page report was presented under four headings: advantages (of pesticides), hazards, regulation by U.S., and recommendations.

Under recommendations the scientific panel called for greatly increased research on pesticides and their effects on health, together with adoption of a stricter safety program.

Specifically, the scientists asked for research on the effects of the chemicals on the brain, liver, fat and reproductive organs of adults and infants.

THEY RECOMMENDED research to find out if "toxic" (poisonous) residues are transmitted to unborn children, and if they are present in mother's milk.

They asked a continuing check-up on the levels of poison residues in air, water, soil, man, wildlife and fish.

And they asked that federal funds be given to states to help them protect the public against possible poisons in foods which are grown and consumed within state boundaries, and are thus outside federal jurisdiction.

Illinois is one of the states which does little to protect the public from poisonous residues in food.

The scientists propose a speedy review of "residue tolerances" (permitted amounts of poisons).

They ask that the federal apparatus attempting to cope with the problem be revised to provide clear assignments of responsibility. "Present mechanisms are inadequate," the report stated.

In this connection, the scientists proposed that power of decision on chemicals affecting health be taken from the Department of Agriculture and given to the Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

The scientific panel noted that the Department of Agriculture has been less thorough on matters affecting health than on matters affecting increased production.

The scientists recommended a goal of eliminating use of the so-called persistent pesticides ("persistent" ones are those whose poisonous effects persist for long periods of time, even for decades).

THE BEST-known persistent pesticide is DDT, used to spray elm trees among other things.

The panel asked that research emphasis be shifted from "broad spectrum" chemicals (which kill a whole spectrum of living things) to other controls which are selective of what they kill and which are applied in selective ways.

The development of non-chemical controls is recommended.

The panel spoke against secrecy. It said, "Data used as a basis for granting registration (of pesticides) and establishing tolerances should be published, thus allowing the hypotheses and validity of the data to be subjected to critical review by the public and the scientific community."

The report said that programs which attempt to wipe out species of pests are unrealistic. Eradication efforts against the gypsy moth, fire ant, Japanese beetle and white-fringed beetle have failed. Control, not eradication should be the aim.

In considering approval of new pesticides, the report said the government should expect that they be equally or more efficient than existing ones and less hazardous.

Also, the government should "modify the use" of some specially hazardous and persistent materials now approved, the report declared.

The report noted good that has been accomplished by pesticides "by facilitating the production and protection of food, feed and fiber in greater quantity and quality; by improving health, and by keeping in check many kinds of nuisance insects and unwanted plants."

THE PANEL credited pesticides with improving the quality of such foods as sweet corn, potatoes, cabbages, apples and tomatoes.

It noted that large losses of cattle from tick fever and grubs no longer occur.

"Pesticides have freed man from communicable diseases to a large extent," the report said.

When discussing hazards, the scientists cited other dangers beside poisonous residues in foods. One such danger is contamination of dishes, utensils or foods by household use of pesticides.

Another danger is skin contamination by contact with clothing or blankets after mothproofing or dry cleaning. This subject has not been adequately studied.

Another area of potential danger which has not been adequately studied is synergism, which means the joint action of two agents producing an effect greater than the sum of their individual actions. An example is the effect produced by the joint action of a lighted match and gasoline fumes.

The report cited several examples of the decimation of wildlife as a result of pesticide programs.

The report looked upon regulation of pesticides as only one aspect of a broader health protection effort.

"The hazards resulting from their (pesticides) use dictate rapid strengthening on interim measures until such time as we have realized a comprehensive program for controlling environmental pollution," the scientists declared. (A-14

INSIDE RANDHURST

Center Meets Modern Needs

by BARBARA ANN DAVIS

With few exceptions, there is no industry in America today that is as large, new and dynamic as the shopping center industry. It is almost unbelievable that shopping centers have progressed to their present form and position in a mere 13 years. This rapid growth didn't happen accidentally. It was more of a case of filling a specific need.

In the early history of shopping centers, their pace and development moved behind the population exodus to suburban areas. In the days right after World War II, the so-called "strip" centers developed at the junction of main roads. The majority of these were hastily constructed in order to serve the shopping needs of mushrooming communities. Property costs were low, therefore, 10 or 15 stores could take up a considerable amount of acreage, and by leveling off the area in front of the stores for parking spaces, they were in business.

As competition grew, the shopping centers grew and, little by little, added various features to entice trade from their competition. Little plots of greenery and floral arrangements were added. Benches, which long ago disappeared from the village square, reappeared at the shopping centers. Colorful canopies were added . . . parking lots were lighted and shows and carnivals found a new home. This, however, was not enough.

DAVIS

Suburbanites had grown out of the backyard barbecue, the recreation room in the basement, the home-hobby age and were now looking for something or someplace to satisfy their cultural needs. As suburban areas grew, so did the shopping centers and the shopping center industry. No longer was the real estate speculator able to buy undeveloped property, put up some buildings and lease the space to any and all types of tenants. This was now big business. The communities were big and their physical and cultural appetites were big. The shopping center had now become a community center as well.

Big things require big people. Major department stores, long established in the downtown areas, looked to the outlying communities for their future growth. Big names in this field such as J. L. Hudson Company in Detroit; Neiman-Marcus in Dallas; the May Company in Los Angeles; and, Carson Pirie Scott and Company, Wieboldt's Stores, Inc., and the Fair stores of Chicago became the new leaders in the shopping center field.

The type of shopping centers created by these companies would have to reflect the reputation their companies have built up over the years. Thus, today, the modern shopping center is designed by famous architects such as Victor Gruen, who designed Randhurst, and many other centers throughout the United States and Europe.

The modern concept and design of today's multi-million dollar shopping center includes beautiful fountains, sculpture and art work, plus air-conditioning and other conveniences for the shopper's comfort. Individual art shows, concerts and exhibits are added to help fill the cultural needs of the community.

Now the life of the suburbanite can compare with that of the city dweller in most all respects, and he can settle down and feel at home in his own community. Rh

THE U.S. ARMY Air Defense Command Choral Group from Colorado Springs, Colo., will present a special Memorial Day Concert in Randhurst in Mount Prospect Friday, May 31, at 6 p.m. in the main mall and at 7:30 p.m. in the Randhurst Town Hall. Admission is free. The 35 soldier-singers comprising the group, who have won international acclaim since their first appearance five years ago, will be heard in a program of classics, folk songs and Broadway show tunes. Their appearance at Randhurst is another step in a continental tour that has brought them before audiences in the United States and Canada. They are directed by 2nd Lt. Anthony B. Schmitt Jr. (Rh

Hospitality Too Much For Sailor

KENOSHA, WIS., (UPI) — Erhard Meissner, 20, a sailor on the German auto transport ship La Loma, lost no time availing himself of what he considered the unusual hospitality of this city when his ship docked Friday.

The West Berlin resident helped himself to one of the many shiny new Ramblers parked near the ship — all with keys in locks — and drove off — smack into the side of an old house.

He told police he thought when he saw all the cars they were for the use of crewmen. He had company. At least three more new cars were found abandoned around the city. (A14

$116,000 Given by Anonymous Donor

An anonymous gift of $116,000 has been given to the Alexian Brothers Hospital Building fund program.

The donation was announced this week by Brother Flavian, CFA, Superior of Alexian Brothers Hospital.

The gift will be used to build the chapel, altar and tabernacle in the proposed new $7 million, 220-bed Alexian Brothers Hospital in Elk Grove Village.

Brother Flavian explained, "The individual donor, who wishes to remain anonymous for the present, has long been a friend and benefactor of the Alexian Brothers Hospital."

Commenting on the donation, Brother Flavian said, "This is certainly a generous gift which will aid us immensely in providing a non-profit inter-community hospital for the northwest suburban area."

GROUNDBREAKING for the new Elk Grove hospital is slated for summer, with completion scheduled for 1965. Alexian Brothers consistently have stressed the hospital will serve all citizens regardless of race, religion or financial status.

Primary usage of the hospital is expected from the townships of Elk Grove, Palatine, Schaumburg, Barrington and Wheeling in Cook County and Bloomingdale and Addison in northern DuPage County. This area is listed by the Illinois Bureau of Hospitals as the "most critically" in need of hospital facilities in the entire Chicago Metropolitan area.

A public subscription program for a minimum of $600,000 as the "public's share" is now in progress in the suburban area. (A14

Beat Wisconsin Fair Housing Law

MADISON, WIS. (UPI) — The state assembly last week rejected by a 50-47 vote a bill to create a "fair housing law" in Wisconsin.

The action came after two hours of debate and rejection of six amendments and the adoption of two others.

The bill would have prohibited discrimination in the sale, lease or renting of property except for religious organizations, occupant-owners of two-family residences and rooming houses with three or less roomers.

ONE OF THE amendments adopted would have required the person charging discrimination to prove "clearly and convincingly" the charge. The other amendment would have required judgment bond by the complainant and payment of the defendant's attorney costs if he lost the case. A14

Jobless Youths: 'Social Dynamite'

How Nation Is Facing Crisis

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Dull-eyed and disenchanted, a million youths are without jobs in the United States today. "Social dynamite," cries one authority. "A time bomb we must all take a hand in defusing," says another. Here, in this concluding article by the senior editor of World Book Year Book, are a few steps that are being taken to help rehabilitate them as useful citibens. Copyright 1963 Field Enterprises Educational Corp. Reprinted by permission.)

by PAUL C. TULLIER
(Last in a Series)

School counseling and guidance services are now trying to keep a finger on the pulses of faltering students. Primarily, counselors help youngsters choose a vocation and work out the high school program that will best prepare them for it. They give them pointers on where to look for a job and how to apply for it.

The trouble is that a gap exists between the ideal ratio of guidance personnel to students. The national average now stands at slightly less than one to 600. But the ideal is considered one to 300. The gap is being narrowed, however, largely through funds made available to the state guidance systems via the National Defense Education Act of 1958. More than 7,000 new counselors have been added since the NDEA was passed. Many schools are switching counselors into the lower grades as well as in the usual 11th and 12th grades. Too many students quit in the 10th grade, before the counselors can reach them.

These are not merely holding actions limited to just the nine-month academic term. Many pupils decide during vacation that they will drop out of school. To plug this loophole, school dropout programs are spilling over into the summer months.

In St. Louis, Mo., a city youth commission, several civic groups, and the Missouri Employment Service have pooled their knowledge and efforts to obtain summer jobs for selected high school students, who, teachers suspect, won't return. The kids get jobs; the jobs raise ambitions; the ambitions send them back to school, eager to carry on.

THE TRADE schools are taking a new, more down-to-earth look at the courses they offer and the way they teach them. This is an area that has often been under fire both inside and outside the school system.

"It exists in a kind of fairyland that hasn't much relation to the real world of work," says Mrs. Mary Conway Kohler. Mrs. Kohler, a retired judge from the San Francisco Juvenile Court, recently completed an 18-month study of youth employment for the Taconic Foundation of New York City. "Frequently," she says, "there is no relationship between the skills the trade schools teach, and the actual requirements for job entry."

In answer to such criticisms, many trade schools are overhauling their systems and clearing out the deadwood. Wood High School in Indianapolis, Ind., for example, pioneered in setting up courses in barbering, dry-cleaning, beauty shop work, and auto-body cleaning; jobs that are realistically geared to the community's job openings. Other schools are now following suit.

"But we are badly mistaken if we think the schools can solve this problem by themselves," says Edwin H. Freidrich, director of curriculum services for the public schools in New Orleans. "It's a time bomb we all have to take a hand in defusing—businessmen, union leaders, church leaders, state commissions, federal agencies, parents, teachers, social workers."

SUCH VIEWS are getting the green light in many places. More and more, unions are facing the fact that an apprenticeship is one of the few bridges by which teen-agers can cross the gulf separating school from work. The Communications Workers of America is one such pace setter. It works hand-in-glove with the Bell system, for example, in recruiting and training telephone operators and equipment workers to replace the normal loss among Bell's 781,000 employees.

The unions in Rockland County, New York, are also blazing a trail. They not only help the county's youngsters master a trade by supplying qualified teachers, but, in the case of the electricians' union, they actually pay the teachers' salaries. The local carpenters' union automatically accepts as apprentices the graduates of the training program it sponsors and drastically reduces their initiation fees from $125 to $20. Thanks partly to this program, only 20 per cent of Rockland County's students quit high school before graduation—much less than the nation's average. Other unions around the country are reading the message loud and clear.

Industry is taking a second, harder look at the role it, too, must play in youth employment. Companies like Sperry Rand, Thiokol, Hercules Powder, and dozens more are now encouraging high schools to set up prevocational courses. There, boys learn the basics of welding and machine shop practice, electronics, and metalwork that usually leads to their employment. Other companies, such as Socony Mobil Oil Co., Johnson & Johnson, and Dan River Mills offer adult classes in education that enable their plant employees to progress from elementary to college levels. Many firms extend these services to the wives and children of their employees.

AND WHAT ABOUT those million-odd unemployed youngsters who have already quit school?

They are no longer being shrugged off. In cities from coast to coast they are being offered a second chance. Millions of dollars are being spent to convert them from useless minuses into social pluses. Dozens of cities have adopted work-study programs. Detroit, Mich., for example, sponsors a split-shift Job Upgrading Program for 16-to-20-year-olds. Mornings, they attend informal classes with special teachers. Afternoons, they work in community-subsidized jobs. With valuable work experience under their belts, they can be helped to find permanent, full-time jobs.

IN CHICAGO, an experiment called the Double EE program is under way. The E's stand for Education and Employment. Spurred by Superintendent of Schools Benjamin C. Willis, Carson Pirie Scott & Company, a large department store, agreed to hire "unemployable" dropouts provided they went back to school part time. Selection was made by school guidance people. Two private classrooms were set up near the store and staffed with four full-time teachers. A $50,000 grant from the Ford Foundation helped the project along.

Fifty-nine youngsters who had quit school were invited to join the program. Two days a week, the students attended classes where they were taught retailing—as well as civics, business English, mathematics, and typing. Subjects were fully accredited and could be applied toward high school diplomas. Three days a week, they worked in the store as sales clerks, clerical workers, or at other jobs. Each was paid $1 an hour to start. Each was befriended and guided by one of the store's junior executives. Of the original 59 who began work, 30 became full-time employees at Carson Pirie Scott while others are employed elsewhere, and some have returned to full-time school attendance.

Things are stirring on the federal level, too.

President John F. Kennedy, "particularly disturbed over the serious plight of our unemployed youths," presented Congress in 1962 with a program for retraining them. This Youth Employment Opportunities Act consists of two pilot programs. The first one lines out an on-the-job training project in government and private industry for youths between the ages of 16 and 21. The second part calls for a Youth Conservation Corps similar to the Civilian Conservation Corps (CCC) of the 1930's.

OTHER WHEELS are beginning to turn at the federal level. The United States Employment Service (USES) is making plans to play a bigger role in wiping out teenage unemployment. Its counseling and aptitude-test services are reaching out to include the dropouts. But, says USES Director William U. Norwood, "I'm not at all satisfied with what we are able to do for these young people. Our percentage of placement isn't high enough."

Such reservations are common among the people who have worked with these unschooled, unskilled, unemployed youngsters. "A terrible waste," one of them called it. "Social dynamite," was the phrase used to describe them by Dr. James P. Conant, a former president of Harvard University.

Strong words? Perhaps they are. But remember those used by Thomas Jefferson: "If a nation expects to be ignorant and free," he said, "it expects what never was and never will be."

Randhurst Manager To Attend Meeting

Robert J. Flynn, general manager of Randhurst Corp. in Mount Prospect, will attend the seventh annual convention of the International Council of Shopping Centers in Montreal, Canada, from June 2 to 5.

Flynn will join with nearly 1,500 other shopping center professionals taking part in the "University of Shopping Centers," which is the format for the 1963 convention. The convention is being held in Montreal's Queen Elizabeth Hotel.

AMONG THE featured guest speakers will be U.S. Sen. John Sparkman of Alabama, former candidate for vice president. He is chairman of the Senate Small Business Committee.

The "university," the first of its kind in the shopping center industry, is made up of 30 different class subjects in five basic schools—the schools of leasing, financing, construction, management and merchandising and promotion.

Shopping center developers, owners, managers, chain store real estate executives, mortgage lenders and others in the industry will attend class sessions on those subjects they are most interested in. (RH

The money you're putting into U. S. Savings Bonds today will probably some day go into college tuition, or new furniture, or the walls of a new home.

Until you need it, this money is earmarked for a very important job. And you can be sure it isn't building a 27-mile barrier of brick, barbed wire, and concrete.

Every dollar you save with Uncle Sam goes directly into keeping our country strong, with its affairs in good order, so that we can carry on the struggle for freedom—at remote outposts, at conference tables, in outer space.

Tens of millions of American families have accumulated $45 billion in E and H Bonds—part of our strength as individuals. And part of the strength of the nation.

Start putting part of your savings to work for your country while it works for you. Buy U. S. Savings Bonds at your bank regularly or where you work, and see if you don't feel good about it.

What Was Behind the Farmers' Wheat Vote

Hayenga Tells Bureau's Stand

by TOM EDWARDS

It didn't make as big a splash as changes in steel prices; it developed little interest outside farm circles; and little more will probably be heard about it immediately unless there is an economic boom — or bust.

But the decision may have been equivalent to putting our money on a sentimental favorite horse in a star-studded field — and little realized by the crowd is that riding with the nag is much of our destiny as well as our sentiments.

Wheat growers - the 60 per cent of the 2,500,000 that went to the polls Tuesday, May 21- rejected the U. S. Agriculture Department's (and President's) proposition for greater controls in return for somewhat greater price guarantees.

(The result should make little difference this year to taxpayers, who pay for the supports. The former support program remains in effect.)

Opposition campaign was ostensibly based on principle — keeping the farmer free. Perhaps another important factor was that the opponents are hoping for more favorable legislation.

The opposition was organized mainly through the American Farm Bureau Federation. Practically all other agriculture agencies were for it.

"Farmers have got to have the right to succeed, and the right to fall," explained Melvin Hayenga of the Cook County Farm Bureau office in Arlington Heights.

THE USDA campaigned vigorously on economic grounds: $2 a bushel wheat with the program, maybe $1 a bushel if it was voted down.

Attempt of the government was to get controls passed by "waving money," Hayenga summarized. If approved, the now defeated program would probably have led to more and more agricultural controls, the Farm Bureau reiterated. "The real issue in the referendum is the. . .philosophy of (farm) supply management."

These were the surface arguments.

However, it would be a superficial observer that would say that government thinking was limited to wheat prices and not the overall economy—or even only the overall economy.

And it would be a narrow critic that would accuse the government of merely attempting to extend its bureaucratic controls, despite evidence that the USDA seems to have strong tendencies that way.

In the plan was a major attempt for soil conservation. It appears to be somewhat of an attempt to re-institute the "soil bank" program without its loopholes and drawbacks.

And for probably the first time in American history, it was a deliberate program to hold down production per acre. Support prices were offered only on wheat not exceeding past average yields.

Why, since the U.S. has long bragged profusely of its high acreage yields? Wouldn't even greater per acre production improve the world image of America?

THERE IS more publicity given to steel prices. But it appears that the government feels that the real base of our economy, and the world's economy, is still agriculture.

Even more, don't health and food go together - and food and agriculture? It is often stated that the U.S. has the "best and cheapest diet in the world."

But it appears that the government is getting somewhat worried about both the quality of U.S. agricultural products and their cost. Even with a surplus of food there can be diet deficiencies, and it would be totally unrealistic to exclude the funds that are put into food price support programs from the cost of food to the consumer, as is invariably done.

Steel prices may affect all our pocketbooks. But civilizations have fallen because of agricultural failures - perhaps to a greater degree than historians have given credit.

FOR INSTANCE, we all have heard the story of the Hebrews being driven out of Israel. Rarely mentioned is that the Hebrews perhaps set themselves up for conquest by rendering the land of milk and honey a barren desert because of ignorance of conservation.

And perhaps the U.S. Agriculture Department has a foreboding about whether U.S. agricultural patterns are going to lead us to the fate of the Mesopotamians and Incas.

Its plan would not only have limited the number of acres that could be put into wheat, but would have required that 11 per cent of last year's wheat acreage be retired from crop production of any kind. Price of wheat would have continued to have been supported at what would have worked out as a little higher rate, and the farmers would also have received compensation for the land taken out of production.

Additionally, the farmers would have been encouraged to put up to 20 per cent more wheat acreage into conservation uses. Those that did would receive a substantially higher rate of compensation from the government for doing so.

WHAT THE FARM Bureau is essentially asking, it seems, is price supports with no production controls. Apparently the farmers, in voting down the USDA proposal, are hoping for more favorable legislation from Congress.

Wheat prices have been supported by the government since 1929. But production burgeoned, generally encouraged by the supported prices, it can be assumed.

Acreage allotments were begun in 1938. Farmers that complied with allotments continued to be eligible for price supports.

The now defunct "soil bank" program was also instituted a few years ago, with farmers paid to take land out of production. It and the price support program backfired in many respects.

INCOME received by farmers from supports and for taking land out of production was often used to rent other land, some of which had not formerly been in production.

And the farmer used the additional cash to buy more fertilizers with which to force larger yields.

Another result was that farmers began to cease rotating crops, a voluntary conservation program that the government had worked hard to bring about in years gone by. In effect, the new government price and conservation programs were driving out former salutary practices.

THE GOVERNMENT began paying farmers a few years ago to go into strip cropping and terracing. The farmers took the money and did it for a few years, but many quickly reverted back when an opportunity appeared to make a fast buck on a few cash crops.

After half a century of working to get farmers away from bare land practices and single continuous crops, new production methods have brought a return to them, apparently for expediency and short run economy.

Additionally despairing is that the land put into the soil bank program is soon due to be released, making more acres available for wheat and other crops.

"We are concerned here chiefly with the way some of our best soils are deteriorating," the University of Illinois Extension Service warned in a 1958 pamphlet entitled, "Watch Your Soil Tilth."

American farmers would find quite strange the pains taken in southern European vineyards to preserve topsoil and fertility. There farmers may be seen each year carrying in baskets the topsoil that has been washed down to the bottom of the hills back up to the top — by hand. Farmers here would probably have difficulty in even comprehending it, if the eroded gullies as deep as houses that cut through the Kansas wheatfields are a criteria.

By paying the farmers to do so, the government was evidently hoping to encourage some conservation practices. When they are lacking, the government is left holding the tab anyway.

TAKE THE SIX MILE Creek watershed in Arkansas, a 275-square-mile area cited in the May 19 issue of the Saturday Evening Post. Farmers played out the land, soil erosion was tremendous, streams were choked up, and floods resulted.

In 1953 the government made a "pilot" project of the Six Mile Creek area. About 105 miles of terraces were built, 775 farm ponds, and 1,200 acres of trees, and 45,000 acres of grass were planted. There were 24 dams built, and lakes were created from eight to 75 acres in size. Cost was about $4 million — to rectify past errors.

But how long will the farmers continue conservation farming? Too often, when they see a chance for making some quick profits, everything will go under the board for a few extra dollars, it seems.

The government's "payoff policies" haven't met with great success. Its proposal this year, the USDA stated, was an attempt to get off the hook in the long run. In former wheat referendums, farmers had a choice of one or two price support policies. This time they were given a choice of one, take it or leave it.

FOOD SURPLUSES are inundating storage facilities. In addition to price supports, the government was paying about $800,000 a day just to store excess wheat, evidently not including cost of spoilage and shrinkage.

Unable to sell much on an already glutted market at the artificial price it is maintaining, the government gave large quantities of food surpluses away, to school lunch programs, needy, and hard pressed foreign countries.

But it couldn't give too much away without creating chaos on both the world and domestic markets, knocking out the very prices it was attempting to maintain.

The Farm Bureau believes more wheat can be sold on the world market that the government has permitted to date. Evidently the government is afraid of undercutting the economies of friendly nations.

On the other hand, many of these friendly nations are getting back on their feet, exporting more, threatening to undercut the artificially high U. S. prices.

BESIDES, THE double price standard of the U. S. is also apparently chafing the nations that depend on importing food, according to the Farm Bureau.

Back home the allotment and price support program was causing a somewhat artificial rise in land prices. The allotments possessed by the farmers began to have an intrinsic value of their own. And with price supports, profits can be made on farming marginal land.

Farmers are leaving the land, yes, but many retain ownership of their farms. But farms have to be bigger today. The result is that nearly every farmer of any size is renting as much land as he owns. Besides, to buy it is expensive.

On rented land, a cash crop is practically a necessity to make a profit, and conservation programs are economically unfeasible to a renter.

THE WHOLE complex was resulting in a burgeoning agricultural administrative bureaucracy, which costs money, too, the Farm Bureau recited. The proposed wheat program also did not differentiate between qualities of wheat, offering the same price for all of them, it pointed out.

A healthy sign perhaps is the Farm Bureau's emphasis on quality and freedom rather than quantity and money.

Over the whole issue hung the world problem of skyrocketing populations.

It was maybe a tribute to Democratic processes that the issue was put to a vote — except that the majority of the taxpayers who will pay the price supports were not eligible to vote, only wheat farmers. Illinois farmers voted about 2½-1 against the government proposal.

IN A WORLD divided between capitalism and socialism, little note is made that both systems employ much of the other. In the wheat referendum the farmers resisted heading more toward socialism.

But if the bottom falls out of their markets, they might change their minds next year.

If the government steps out and lets the farmer loose, perhaps conservation would be achieved the hard way. The land would be alternately retired and farmed as the farm market plunges up and down over the decades. (A14

Modern Etiquette

by ROBERTA LEE

Q. I notice more and more women are shaking hands when acknowledging introductions. Is this really considered proper?

A. There is never anything wrong about a sincere handshake. It is optional with a woman whether or not she shakes hands, but certainly she indicates more pleasure over a meeting when she does offer her hand.

Q. When introducing one person to a group, are you supposed to introduce him first to the women in the group, then to the men?

A. There are no rules of precedence in this case. Perform your introductions in the easiest way—by introducing the person around the group in order.

Q. If a small paper cup of applesauce is served on one's dinner plate, is it all right to empty the contents into the dinner plate?

A. Yes. Scoop out the contents with your fork, then put the empty cup on the dinner plate to one side, out of your way.

Paddock's 8th Annual Team

by BOB FRISK
SPORTS EDITOR

The boys who made the headlines in another spectacular high school track season in Illinois are honored this week on Paddock Publications' Eighth Annual All-State team.

Based on the consistency of performances throughout the season, the coveted honor squad includes standouts in each of 12 individual events.

Five trackmen are honored in 10 events with six named in both the 880 yard run and 120 yard high hurdles. Placing in the state meet was not a prerequisite for selection although state champions automatically earn berths.

The All-State squad is open only to those individuals competing on teams that were eligible for the state finals.

Handsome certificates and tear sheets are sent to each All-Stater.

EIGHT BOYS are repeaters from the 1962 aggregation. Making the select listing for the second straight year are George Hunt of Alton, Jim Isaacson of Glenbard West, Eddie Federick of Chicago Phillips, Andy Johnson of Alton, Brian Oldfield of Elgin, Charles Burt of Urbana, Ron Presswood of Oakwood, and Vernon Brooks of Chicago Phillips.

Four Paddock area athletes gained slots on the All-State team with Palatine's Bob Frost named in the 880 yard run, Prospect's Tom Bremner in the 120 yard high hurdles, Arlington's Bill Truax in the discus, and York's Johnny Koblik in the 880.

Frost, a senior, place third in the state finals behind record-setting John Laidlaw of New Trier and Hunt of Alton.

Beaten only once in a major meet outdoors, Frost turned in a 1:56.5 for his season best.

BREMNER, another senior, skimmed over the high hurdles in a snappy :14.5 to finish fourth in the state finals. Tom was a key member on Prospect's classy hurdle shuttle team. He qualified for the state finals for two straight years.

Arlington's Truax, a junior, finished sixth in the state meet and was as consistent a performer as there was in the discus alignment. The only major meet he failed to win was the state, and he broke records in both the Palatine Relays and Hinsdale Relays.

Truax boasted meet victories in the Lake Shore Invitational, Palatine Relays, Hinsdale Relays, Prospect District, and West Suburban attraction.

York's Koblik didn't place downstate but was shooting for slots in both the low hurdles and 880 and this obviously affected his performance. Among the honor roll leaders all spring, John finished second in the rugged West Suburban Conference half-mile.

Presenting the 1963 All-State track team:

100 Yard Dash:

Bill Zillman — state champ from Hinsdale at :09.8; conference champ in both dashes; fine football halfback.

Jack Buresh—third in state century after placing fifth as junior; Evanston standout for three years with best time of :09.9 this spring; topped Mooseheart Relays.

Curt Holliman — best in Rockford area, fourth in state; had :09.8 for season.

Doug Holloway—pride of Thornton; second in state 100; rarely pushed in area.

Doug Harford—stocky football All-Stater from little Piper City; consistent four-event winner in duals; had :09.9 in 100; reached state finals and placed sixth.

220 Yard Dash:

Jack Buresh—state champ at 21 flat after finishing second last spring; his state clocking tied record but was disallowed because of favoring wind.

Doug Holloway—a very close second in state furlong; photo finish with Buresh; also equalled 21 flat.

Doug Harford—fourth in state 220; carried :21.8 clocking into state.

Curt Holliman—third in state 220; had :21.4 mark for best time in state preliminaries.

Wayne Anderson — Chicago Public league champion from Taft; fifth in state finals.

440 Yard Dash:

Ron Gummerson—consistent performer all spring; qualified for state but failed to make finals; had :50.3 before conference when he turned in sparkling :49.6.

Steve Halliburton — state champ from Marion with :49.7; also finished fifth in 100; fine college prospect.

Tom Erickson—third in state finals; among honor roll leaders all spring; had :50.2.

Jim Dreyer—Evanston standout; fourth in state meet; consistently around 50 flat mark; tied Suburban League record of 50 flat in outdoor test.

Vernon Brooks—had state's third best time of :49.2; finished sixth in finals; bothered by injury; won quarter-mile in Chicago Public League.

880 Yard Run:

John Laidlaw — state champion from New Trier; tied state record at 1:55.0; only a junior; hampered by injury for part of season; set Suburban League mark at 1:55.7.

Jim Isaacson—also bothered by injury but got back in action early in May; fourth in state finals after finishing fifth as junior; won West Suburban Conference with 1:56.6; an All-State repeater.

Norm Witek — honor roll leader most of spring; has best of 1:55.5; finished third in conference, fifth in state.

But Explode Against East Leyden

Knight Bats Silenced By Niles' John Knety

John Knety, the other half of Niles West's one-two pitching duo, fired his second Interim League no-hitter May 22, setting down Prospect, 7-0.

Prospect, fooled Wednesday by an assortment of Knety's breaking pitchers, came back Thursday to vent its frustration on East Leyden. The result was a convincing 18-4 victory behind the seven-hit pitching of junior Grant Gentry.

KNETY, a flashy righthander, walked leadoff batter Dave Leekley in the first inning and then retired 21 straight Knight batters to just miss a perfect game.

Earlier this year, he blanked Deerfield for his first no-hitter.

Knety got enough batting support from Kim Harfst, the other half of the Indians' powerful pitching staff, in the first two innings.

Harfst scored three runs and lashed out a pair of hits, including a double, to lead the Indian attack.

LEFTHANDER Al Koehler was charged with the loss, his third against two wins this year. He gave up eight hits, including two for extras bases, but was the victim of seven Prospect errors.

Niles scored six runs in the first two innings and coasted the rest of the way.

Prospect took advantage of 10 bases on balls and 11 hits, including a grand slam home run by Leekley, and another by Bob Geller to demolish East Leyden in a make-up game.

Leftfielder Leekley led the assault off of the three Leyden pitchers with a pair of singles in addition to his third homer of the season. He scored three runs and drove in five more.

RICH BECK, replacing Chuck Halverson at third base, had two hits, including a two-run triple, and Geller, leading hitter on the Prospect team, went two for two, including his two-run homer in the sixth. Beck and Geller also scored three runs apiece.

Even catcher Rick Lytle, who hasn't had a hit all year, lashed out a pair of singles.

East Leyden's Dan Veller drove in two runs in the opening frame with a double. The Franklin Park crew picked up its third run off of Gentry in the third inning with the aid of a walk, wild pitch and a base knock by Doug Patti. The final tally came in the seventh with the help of three Prospect errors.

Gentry walked four and struck out nine in picking up his only win of the season. He has not lost a game, but was knocked out after five good innings in an earlier Prospect win over Deerfield.

Maine, Niles Tie In Interim Golf

Maine West and Niles West had to settle for a half crown each in the Interim League Golf Meet Friday at White Pines Golf Club.

But Niles won the league crown because it had more dual meet wins. The league championship is based on a point scoring system which gives two points for each dual meet win; one point for each tie; and two points for every team under the leader in the dual meet standings.

Prospect ended up fourth in the league meet and fifth in the conference standings. Forest View, which took 10th place in the meet Friday, wound up last in the final standings, largely because the Falcons did not win a dual meet this year. Prospect won eight of 12 dual meets this season.

Maine West was powered by Mike Greene's 75, including a hot 35 on the back nine.

Niles, which was out in front after nine holes, faltered on the second nine to lose the meet title. Ed Zastrow's 75 was good enough to tie Maine's Hank Blenner for third place in medalist honors. Greene was second.

Low medalist honors went to Deerfield's John Fleming, who fired a 39-34—73.

Prospect got a 78 from Bob O'Day, and Forest View's Russ Barger had an 83 to lead his team.

Other Knight scores were: Warren Luebcke, 79; Dave Huntley, 81; and Norm Milner, 82. Behind Barger were Don Campbell, 86; Chip Julin, 86; and Bob Glass, 88.

Prospect took a fourth in the frosh-soph meet. Forest View finished in a tie for fifth place in its first year of competition.

Glenbrook South's fine club took frosh-soph honors with a 331 team total. Proviso West was one stroke back at 330, and Niles West finished third with a 334 score.

Prospect had 335; Glenbrook North and Forest View, 346.

Proviso West and Glenbrook South tied for first in the final conference standings. Niles was third, Prospect fourth, and Forest View fifth.

Rick Lynch led Prospect's team effort with an 81. Doug Lytle added an 82; Bill Becker, an 83; and Dave Lovgren, an 89.

Forest View was paced by Jim Junkunc, who fired an 82 to tie Lytle for 10th place on the low medalist list.

Jerry Kalwitz carded an 86 for Forest View. Bob O'Keefe was one stroke behind with an 87, and Al Piehl had a 91.

Low medalist honors went to Morton West's Dave Slobodnik, who shot a 78.

Dale Stegall Paces Cards

Hurdler Dale Stegall posted two firsts and sparked Arlington High School's frosh-soph track team to an impressive third place finish Saturday in the West Suburban Conference finals.

Stegall covered the 120 yard high hurdles in :15.9 and 180 yard lows in :21.4 for ten of Arlington's 33½ markers.

A victory in the mile relay gave LaGrange 34 markers in the frosh-soph competition for a slim half-point advantage over Arlington in the battle for second place.

YORK WALTZED to the team championship with an amazing total of 72 points. The powerful Barons registered eight firsts in the conference finals at the Arlington High School track.

Five records were established with the most impressive standards set in the 880 yard run and mile run.

Maine East's brilliant soph Larry Kelley raced to a 1:58.1 clocking in the 880 to snap the conference mark by six full seconds. York's George McGregor took eight seconds off the mile standard with a nifty 4:30.0 race.

Although Stegall was Arlington's individual standout with two firsts, several other boys turned in sparkling performances for Russ Attis' entry.

John Jamison was a busy soph with a second in the 100 yard dash, third in the 220, and anchor leg on the 880-yard relay team that placed third.

Working with Jamison on the half-mile unit were Steve Ewart, Chuck Hood, and Terry Clark.

ALSO SCORING for the Cardinals were Jim Welton with a fourth in the broad jump (19-¼), Bob Hoban with a second in the discus (128-8), Scott Somers with a third in the pole vault (11-0), John Brunner with a third in the mile run (4:36.0), and the mile relay team with a fifth.

KICKIN' IT AROUND

ANYONE WHO RAPS POLE VAULTERS today as just a "bunch of catapulters" will get some pretty stiff arguments from Prospect High School track coach Dick Calisch.

A former high school and Big Ten standout in the pole vault, Calisch admits that the new fiberglass poles have turned records upside-down, but he emphasizes that they actually "require more skill than those used in the past."

"Owning a fiberglass pole and 'using' it are two different things," Dick stresses. "Boys have to use the spring right. So many are trying to go over before—or after the pole has snapped. You get the height on the snap.

"Techniques are changing," he continued. "Starting blocks, asphalt surfaces . . . they're all helping make track a much better sport. The pole vault is undergoing a big change right now, and there's no telling how high these boys will go.

"I look for a big change when today's college boys start in coaching. But it'll all stabilize someday. They'll get up to a certain point and then you'll see only a few inches separating the top vaulters again."

A sixteen-foot effort in the pole vault was once believed impossible, but . . .

In 1962 five men exceeded 16 feet. In 1963 vaults over 16 feet have been commonplace.

Vaulters now are eyeing 17 feet.

DICK CALISCH

Illinois' schoolboy record was just snapped by over nine inches. Only three pole vaulters in the history of the state (Calisch is one at 13-1) had cleared 13-0 prior to the past season. Four reached that coveted height in 1963.

Rich Ellison of Morton West, who set the new state record at 13-9½, mastered the secret of handling his pole better than any of the other vaulters in the finest state field on record. He hangs upside down and waits a split second until the pole snaps him over the bar.

Ellison, only a junior, explains that he first started using the fiberglass pole at the beginning of the outdoor season and that it took him about a month to catch on to waiting for the snap.

A good majority of the vaulters in the state finals used the new glass poles. "It seemed like 95 per cent," Prospect's assistant coach George Gattes pointed out.

It was emphasized at the schoolboy finals that there is a difference in the poles, too. Some act almost like metal poles. They have little spring and remain stiff. This is due to the boy's weight and the test-poundage of his pole. Primarily it is in the composition of the pole.

What's the technical explanation behind these new fiberglass poles?

At take-off the vaulter using a metal pole follows a nearly true arc. The change of direction of the vaulter is severely abrupt at the very start of the climb and most of the climb must take place before the pole is half way between its starting point and vertical.

Much of the momentum of the run and take-off is lost through the severe jar as the pole meets the box.

With the fiberglass pole much of the vaulter's forward momentum is absorbed in the pole as it bends. The vaulter's initial climb is less abrupt and thus much smoother. As the pole reaches a 60 degree angle it starts thrusting the vaulter up with the momentum it has stored.

The fiberglass pole has a resilient spine which permits a higher hand hold, a smoother take-off, and "power thrust" to support the catapulting action of the vaulter as he consummates the pull-up, turn, and push-over.

Actually, it takes a little extra nerve to wait for the right moment with the new poles. Not all vaulters have the nerve to ride the snapping pole to the proper moment.

Calisch used a bamboo pole in high school while clearing 13-1 and a swedish steel pole in college while reaching 14-0. "The concept of the whip as it is today never occurred to me," he smiled. "However, we are getting back to the same breakage problems that forced a switch from bamboo."

"I can remember when you'd see poles stacked in piles at the big meets," Don Williams, weight coach at Prospect, added. "No one seemed to worry too much about them.

"Times have changed. They're guarding 'em with their lives now!"

Knights 880 Relay Team Sets Mark; Prospect 3rd In Interim; Falcons 10th

Interim League track and field athletes broke eight meet records and tied two others in the 14-event competition held Saturday at Proviso West High.

Proviso's Panthers retained the title they won last year, compiling 37 points to runners up Willowbrook and Glenbard East. Both teams had 27 points.

Prospect finished third with 22 points, and Forest View, largely because of the efforts of broad jumper Jim O'Keepe and Scott Armstrong, took six points to finish 10th in the 13-team field.

The only first place finish by District 214 entries was scored by Prospect's 880-yard relay team. John Carsello, George Morris, Dan Johnson and Jim Renner covered the distance in 1:31 flat, carving 1.7 seconds off of the old mark set by Glenbrook North last year. The foursome also hold the conference indoor mark.

"It was our fastest time this year," said Coach Dick Calisch. "Our other relay team ran its fastest time this year too, but Willowbrook beat us out."

Calisch's crew of Jim McMillan, Carsello, Morris and Renner was clocked at 3:25 flat, but lost out to Willowbrook's John Lundquist, George Moriarty, Bob Koch and John McKinney, who were one-tenth of a second faster.

Forest View took a fifth in the 880 relay, a pleasant surprise for Coach Dick Ohl. O'Keefe, Armstrong, Gregg Garlisch and George Mittenbuler were clocked in 1:34 flat, just three seconds behind Prospect's speedsters.

O'Keefe also captured a second in the broad jump.

"He went over 20 feet on his first jump and just stayed out there," said Ohl. "We were very happy that our boys did so well in their first year."

The other Falcon points came from the strong legs of Armstrong who took a fifth in the 180-yard low hurdles. Glenbrook's Bob Filpi set a pair of records by winning both the high and low hurdles.

Larry Bogart of Prospect was second in the lows, and teammate Tom Bremner was right behind Filpi in the highs. Bogart also placed fifth in the high hurdles.

The Knights' Ralph Stone took a third in the discus, Dick Westergaard finished fifth in the pole vault to supply the final Prospect points.

The pole vault, including a strong field headed by state champion Rich Ellison of Morton West, was the day's biggest disappointment. Ellison, who cleared 13 feet, nine inches last week in the state meet, managed only 12 feet, eight inches Saturday.

Trackmen Honored On All-State Team

George Hunt — an injury three days before state meet probably cost Alton flash a state title; still finished second behind Laidlaw; also finished second as junior in 1:55; had :49.1 in 440 this spring; an All-State repeater.

John Koblik—failed to place in state but still sported 1:56.3 clocking this spring; second in conference behind Isaacson and second in district behind Witek.

Bob Frost—unbeaten in major outdoor meets until finishing third in state; best time of 1:56.5; ruled North Suburban Conference in record-setting 1:58.

Mile Run:

John Jaeger — disappointing fifth in state finals after leading honor roll all spring; made up for state showing with brilliant 4:16.3 in West Suburban Conference, third best in state's history.

Larry Wieczorek—surprising state titlist in wind-hampered 4:30; had 4:27.5 in district; followed state performance with fine 4:25 clocking in winning Suburban League meet; only a junior.

Jim Letterer — had 4:23.5 this spring, only a junior; ran 4:24.3 in district but failed to place in state finals; tried half-mile in conference and placed second.

Chuck Schulz—bothered by injury; state champ in cross country; finished second in state and conference behind Wieczorek.

Bruce Bowman—sophomore standout from Proviso West; brilliant future; third in state finals; ran 4.22.4 in topping Interim League.

120-Yard High Hurdles:

Andy Johnson—Alton junior; had state's best clocking at :14.1; second in state finals.

Reggie Stallings—surprising state champ at :14.2; had finished fourth in Public League qualifying but came through when it counted.

Ed Federick — an All-State repeater; qualified for state finals with pace-setting :14.5 but failed to place; had :14.4 for season; won Chicago Public League.

Leroy Johnson — brother of Alton's Andy; third in state; on honor roll all spring.

Tom Bremner—Prospect entry; fourth in state finals with fine :14.5 standout for two years; among state's best over both high and low sticks.

Greg Grosrenaud — fifth in state meet; season best of :14.6; consistent winner in big meets; ruled conference.

180-Yard Low Hurdles:

Bob Hubbard—state champ with wind-aided :18.8; ruled Indiana's preps as junior then transferred to Illinois where he won again; didn't run many open hurdle events at Crane Tech so wasn't among honor roll leaders.

Andy Johnson—an All-State repeater in the lows; state champ as a soph, second as a junior; had :19.1 in district.

Bob Filpi — versatile Glenbrook performer; was on honor roll in four events this spring; finished third in state lows; best time of :19.4; also one of state's best in highs.

Greg Grosrenaud—Downers flash makes it again; fifth in state finals; ruled West Suburban Conference; fine college prospect.

Ed Federick—fifth in state as junior, failed to place this time; an All-State repeater; best time of :19.4.

Shot Put:

Paul Economides— honor roll leader all spring; had state's best toss of 58-3 in a sub-par field; finished fourth in the state; won Oak Park Relays.

Brian Oldfield—state champ from Elgin at 57-7¼; his winning effort in state was one inch shy of his season best; an All-State repeater; fourth in state as a junior.

Greg Wiechmann—on honor roll all spring; third in state meet; season best of 56-11; only a junior.

Tom Zapler—second in state finals with toss of 56-6; won Suburban League crown; second in district.

Bill Pritchett—among honor roll leaders all spring; best toss of 56-8; district champ at 56-0 but failed to place in state; consistent winner in Central Illinois area.

Discus:

Gary Carlsen—state champ from Rock Island with toss of 170-1; considered capable of much better; had state's best throw in district action and lived up to advanced billing in Champaign.

Carlson recorded the best throw in the history of the state last week in the Mississippi Valley conference meet with a magnificant 185-11 heave.

Roger Capan—only a foul kept this Champaign strongman from a 175-foot effort in the state; finished second at 169-5½; state showing was surprising to several observers but not to coach who predicted a toss of around 170.

Bill Truax—sixth in state finals; only junior among discus finalists; had season best of 164-10½; entered six major meets this spring and won five; broke two meet records; very consistent.

Ed Viktor—fourth in state finals; season best of 16-33½; had 164-3 in state meet.

Chuck Burt—season best of 164-4½; an All-State repeater; a fine college prospect; district champ.

Pule Vault:

Rich Ellison—state record-holder with a vault of 13-9½; only a junior; a master of the fiberglass pole; headed for outstanding senior year.

Bill Stokes — had 13-4 this spring; bothered by injury at state and went out at 11-6; consistent winner for Bloom; Oak Park Relays champ.

Norm Barth — had 13-¾ vault; qualified for state but couldn't compete because of measles; on honor roll all spring.

Mike Eastin—Oakland standout; third in state at 12-10; consistent throughout season.

Ron Presswood — an All-State repeater; season best of 12-11; consistent performer; tied for state title last spring.

High Jump:

John Rupert — state champ at 6-4; standout all spring; won district at 6-2½; second in Oak Park Relays.

Jim Norton—season best of 6-4; third in state; consistent winner in area; on honor roll for entire season.

Ted Demkiw — Wauke g a n junior; season best of 6-4¼; qualified for state but failed to place; won Mooseheart Relays; district champ.

Ted Downing—one-half of Evanston's powerful 1-2 punch in the high jump; season best of 6-3¾; Suburban League champion at 6-3½; fifth in state meet at 6-2.

Jim Johnson — bothered by injury but still managed a 6-3¼ effort; second in district; won Suburban League indoor title and finished third outdoors.

Broad Jump:

Bob Trumpy—state champ with surprising 23-4¼, well over his season best; also basketball standout at Springfield.

Rudy Phillips—versatile Decatur MacArthur performer; second in state broad jump; honor roll entry all spring; also finished fourth in low hurdles; season best of 22-11¾.

Wayne Henderson—third in state at 22-7; previous best was 21-11 but had been consistent for Edwardsville.

Vernon Brooks—b o a s t e d state's second best jump of 23-2; an All-State repeater; fifth in state meet at 22-1½.

Alan West — fourth in state at 22-4; Elgin product won district and Mooseheart Relays titles.

Knight Duo Win Soph Doubles

Brooks, Deerfield Share Tennis Title

Willowbrook and Deerfield, perennial powers of Interim League tennis, shared the title Saturday in winging showdown match. For the second straight year, Glenbard East's Bob Maramba, state singles titlist, defeated Deerfield's Dick Schmickrath for the league crown.

Neal Hirsch of Deerfield took the number two singles title, and Willowbrook's Larry Hays captured the number three singles.

Willowbrook and Deerfield split the doubles trophies. The Brooks' John Scholz and Jim Fuglsang took the number one title, and Deerfield's Dave Ash and Don Schmickrath won the number two trophy.

Prospect finished eighth in the varsity competition. Forest View failed to register a point.

Lotha Hansen and Bob Gewecke picked up the Knight points. Hansen took Dave Braunstein of Deerfield 3-6, 6-4, 6-1 in his first match, but lost to Wheaton's Don Peterson, 6-1, 6-2 in the second round.

Gewecke, entered in the number two singles, defeated Glenbard's Ralph Raeosh, 6-4, 4-6, 6-4 in the first round, and beat his old nemesis, Vic Gaverth, of Maine West, 6-0, 7-5 in the second round.

Willowbrook's Jerry Paulson, who was second in the league this year, defeated Gewecke in the third round, 6-2, 6-3.

In the frosh-soph meet, Prospect's Tom Bryant and Craig Wolf took the number one doubles crown. The two boys did not lose a match all year.

Prospect was sixth in the frosh-soph meet, won by Glenbrook South. Forest View was 12, picking up two points.

Number one singles—Bob Maramba, Glenbard East, beat Dick Schmickrath, Deerfield, 6-1, 6-0.
Number two singles—Neal Hirsch, Deerfield, beat Jerry Paulson, Willowbrook, 6-1, 6-4.
Number three singles—Larry Hays, Willowbrook, beat Jeff Mandel, Deerfield, 6-1, 6-4.
Number one doubles—John Scholz and Jim Fuglsang, Willowbrook, beat Dwight Early and Rich Scott, Wheaton 6-3, 6-2.
Number two doubles — Dave Ash and Don Schmickrath, Deerfield, beat Scott Stratton and Tom Paulson, Willowbrook, 6-3, 5-7, 6-0.

Jakubiec Wins WSC Net Crown

Tops 2nd Singles; Both Cardinal Squads Second

Jim Jakubiec headed second singles in the varsity division to highlight Alington High's second place finish in the West Suburban Conference tennis finals staged last week.

Jakubiec was the only winner for the Cardinals who finished with 36 points and a solid runnerup slot behind team champion Hinsdale.

Arlington also placed second in the frosh-soph meet with 36 markers, again five points behind Hinsdale.

GREG INMAN in first singles and Harley Gates in third singles captured individual titles for Arlington's sophs.

Arlington's varsity aggregation, second in the state test the week before, sent entries to the finals in four of the five slots but only Jakubiec came out with a victory.

Jakubiec whipped Jim Paddock of York 6-0, 6-3 in the deciding seconds singles competition.

Roger Bernard of Hinsdale stopped Chuck Close of Arlington 6-2, 6-4 in the third singles finale.

Hinsdale entries also handled Arlington in both doubles tests.

DAVE WRISLEY and Cuyler Berwanger beat Mirrel Kephart and Rick Wollerman 9-7, 6-3 in first doubles, and Jim Hart and John Brooks whipped Bob VonBoeckmann and Jeff Peek in second doubles 6-2, 1-6, 6-3.

Russ Walters, first singles player, bowed out in the first round to eventual champion Ed Thompson of Riverside-Brookfield.

Thompson, only a sophmore and son of the former R-B tennis coach, whipped York's Jim Dawson 6-4, 7-5 for the first singles title.

THE performances by Inman and Gates highlighted the frosh-sophs' second place finish. The doubles team of Brian Burke and Dave Milligan also reached the finals but fell to the Hinsdale unit.

Jim Kunberger lost in the first round of second singles, and John Stevens and Randy Blaisdell fell in the first round of first doubles.

Total points are as follows:

Varsity — Hinsdale(41), Arlington (36), LaGrange (28), Maine East (18), Riverside-Brookfield (17), York (17), Downers Grove (12), and Glenbard West (6).

Frosh-Soph — Hinsdale (41), Arlington (36), Maine East (32), LaGrange (28), York (13), Downers Grove (10), Riverside (7), and Glenbard West (6).

Arlington High's two tennis teams compiled an outstanding 32-8 record in dual meets for the 1963 season.

Frank Bohac's frosh-sophs stood 14-4 while Ken Schaller's varsity sported 18 victories in 22 outings.

REACHING OUT FOR SOME extra distance in the varsity broad jump is Jack Lindstrom of host Arlington High School. Lindstrom failed to place in the event won by John Sandeen of Hinsdale at 21-1¼. (Staff Photo by Don Vickery).

On League All-Stars

Four Lions Honored

RON BAKALAR | JIM VIDT | JOE SANCHEZ | JEFF HAIDUKE

St. Viator High School, runnerup in the Chicagoland Prep League baseball race for 1963, landed four boys on the all-conference team announced this week by the coaches.

Earning first-team berths on the coveted post-season unit were freshman pitcher Joe Sanchez, sophomore first baseman Jim Vidt, and junior outfielder Jeff Haiduke.

Sophomore shortstop Ron Bakalar was named as a utility infielder on the 13-man all-star squad.

COACH FRANK Mariani's Lions, author of a 15-6-1 season reocrd and 6-3 league slate, headed the all-star team with four selections. League champion St. Mel landed three.

Making the 1963 all-star squad were first baseman Vidt, second baseman Tom Tortorello of DeLaSalle, shortstop Bill Roullo of Holy Cross, third baseman Anthony Guinta of St. Joseph, outfielders Haiduke, Tom Brosnan of St. Mel, and Mike Dennehy of St. George, catcher Ken Plesha of St. Mel, and pitcher Sanchez.

Named as additional players were outfielder Terry Krause of Holy Cross, infielder Bakalar, pitcher Joe Chromcik of St. Mel, and Chester Trotto of St. Joseph.

ST. VIATOR'S Sanchez not only ranked as one of the finest pitchers in the area despite his age, but he also hit .385 in the league and .317 oxer-all.

The frosh standout, also a letterman in basketball, was 5-2 in the season and 2-2 in the conference. He worked 54 1/3 innings during the campaign and posted a nifty 1.66 earned run average.

Sanchez nailed St. George on a no-hitter as the conference headliner for 1963.

VIDT WAS named at first base on the all-stars, but he also turned in some fine mound stints during the season. The southpaw was 3-1 in the conference and 5-2 over-all. Also possessor of a no-hitter, Jim hit .313 for the league season and .317 overall.

Jim is a varsity letterman in football, basketball, and baseball.

Haiduke, who initiated a trio of no-hitters at St. Viator, hit .482 in conference play and .246 for the season. Jeff also spent a lot o ftime on the mound and was 1-0 in the conference and 4-1-1 for the season. He had a 2.82 earned run average.

HAIDUKE has lettered in both football and baseball at St. Viator.

Bakalar carried a sound reputation as a fine glove man into action this spring, but the talented soph also earned some respect with his bat. Ron hit .441 in the conference and .296 for the season.

Bakalar led the team in hits (24) and times at bat (81).

For Boys 5-12

Plan Day Camp Again This Summer

For the second summer the Ron Feiereisel Day Camp for boys five through 12 will be held at St. Viator High School in Arlington Heights.

Scheduled to run from June 17 to August 9, the camp will consist of four two week sessions. They will run from June 17 to June 28, July 1 to July 12, July 15 to July 26, and July 29 to August 9.

The sessions are held from 9:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. Monday through Friday.

Last year 120 campers attended during the eight-week session. Each boy received an award at the end of the camping period, and special awards were given in various activities.

Special athletic awards are made at the end of each camping period and these are determined by point accumulation during the period.

Campers spend two hours per day in the Olympic size swimming pool, one hour in the morning and one in the afternoon. Forty-five minutes are spent on individual and group instruction with the last part of the period set aside for free swim.

INSTRUCTION in baseball, basketball, track and other team and individual sports also are part of the program.

Additional facilities this year are the three outdoor tennis courts and six outdoor basketball courts. These will be used by the campers during the course of the season.

Included in the tuition are the camper's tee shirts, caps, transportation, milk, insurance, and camp outings. Tuition rates are as follows: $40 per period; $75 for two periods; $110 for three periods; $145 for four periods; and $22.50 for an extra week or single week.

THE STAFF will be made up of college graduates who are in the teaching and coaching field, and they will be under the direction of Feiereisel.

A former All-American basketball player at DePaul University, Feiereisel is head cage coach at St. Viator.

Married and the father of six children, Ron resides in the Northwest suburban area. He has a Bachelor of Science degree in Physical Education.

For additional information and a brochure contact Ron Feiereisel at CLearbrook 5-8161.

Junior High Track Meet Saturday

The first annual Forest View Relays — open to junior high students who will attend Forest View, Prospect and Arlington high schools — will be held at 9 a.m., Saturday, at the Forest View High track.

Boys from Carl Sandburg, Dempster, Grove, South, Wheeling and Lincoln junior high schools are expected to enter, according to Dick Ohl, head track coach at Forest View.

Events will include the 50, 100, 220, and 440 yard dashes; the 70 yard low hurdles; the 880 yard run; and the 440 yard relay as well as the shot put, high jump and broad jump.

Field events will begin at 9 a.m. Dash events and the hurdles will begin at 9:30 a.m. Finals in the running events will be held at 1 p.m.

Ribbons will be awarded to the first five boys in each event, said Ohl.

"We hope the meet will help stimulate interest in high school track," said Ohl.

Mt. Prospect Jamboree Set For Saturday

Time is running out for entries in the Junior Sports Jamboree sponsored by Mount Prospect Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Competition will unflod Saturday, June 1, at the Prospect High School track at 12:30 p.m.

A meet official stressed this week that individuals may pick up applications at the Prospect High School track anytime between 11 a.m. and 12 noon Saturday. They must be filed by noon.

THE COMPETITION for boys and girls in three age groups serves as the preliminaries to the sectional meet sponsored by the Illinois Junior Chamber of Commerce. Sectional winners then go to the state finals.

The Mount Prospect competition is open to youngsters from any surrounding community.

Awards will be presented for the first four places in each event.

Events are as follows:

Midgets (10-11) — 50 yard dash; 75 yard dash; broad jump; hop, step, and jump; baseball throw; and 220 yard relay.

Juniors (12-13)—50 yard dash; 75 yard dash; 100 yard dash; broad jump; high jump; baseball throw; 440 yard relay.

Intermediates (14-15) — 50 yard dash; 100 yard dash; 220 yard dash; 440 yard dash; broad jump; high jump; base ball throw; 440 yard relay.

THE ILLINOIS Youth Commission, Division of Community Services, and the Illinois Jaycees cooperate on the statewide program. Local Jaycee chapters conduct meets, provide awards, and also provide transportation to the sectional meet for local winners.

Local chairmen are Bob Ratcliffe for the Mount Prospect jaycees and Dave Starnes for the Arlington jaycees.

The Arlington competition will be staged at the Arlington High School track on June 15.

Entry blanks for the events, open to anyone in the area, are available at any high school or park district or may be picked up at Prospect Saturday.

Spectators are welcome for Saturday's competition. There will be no admission charge.

For further information contact Bob Ratcliffe at 255-4236.

Card Frosh Fall In Final Games; Season Mark 3-10

Notre Dame scored in five of the seven innings and handled Arlington High School's frosh "A" baseball team last Friday afternoon, 11-7, in the young Cardinals' final outing of 1963.

The loss set Arlington's season standard at 3-10.

"Errors, errors, and walks . . .that's been the trouble lately," Arlington's coach Art Brownell said. "But the kids are a fine bunch and should develop into a great club in years to come."

Jim Bressler started on the hill for Arlington and was tagged with the loss. He was followed by Bob Krug and "Butch" Pavelle.

Mark Frase rapped a double for the Cardinals.

Score by innings:

Notre Dame	200	412	2—11-11-4
Arlington	301	012	0— 7-13-6

GLENBROOK South counted eight runs in the first inning and buried Arlington's frosh, 12-6, with Oleson besting Bressler.

Bressler left in the first inning after yielding seven runs on three hits and three walks. Pavelle finished up and although touched for five runs only two were earned. He fanned 11 and walked two.

Pavelle slammed a double and Jim Whittington rapped a triple for the Cardinals.

Score by innings:

Arlington	015	000	0— 6- 7-5
Glenbrook	810	102	*—12-10-0

Burkett Medalist In Tourney

Soph's 73 Paces Card Varsity to 3rd Place

Arlington's Darryl Burkett toured White Pines Country Club in one-over-par 73 Monday to spark the Cardinals' varsity golf squad to an impressive third place finish in the West Suburban Conference competition.

Burkett, only a sophomore, fired rounds of 39-34 at the Bensenville layout in earning medalist honors against a talented field of schoolboy golfers.

"What can you say?" Arlington coach Gary Clendenny beamed. "He just played wonderful golf."

DARRYL BURKETT

CLENDENNY SAW his young varsity squad post a fine 313 total, only two strokes shy of champion Hinsdale. Riverside - Brookfield's defending champion Bulldogs slipped into second place with a 312 total.

Hinsdale claimed the over-all links championship which is based on both the dual meet record and conference meet. Arlington was fourth.

York's talented foursome posted a 325 total for a three-storke margin over Glenbard West in ed a 325 total for a three-stroke finished sixth with a 345.

BURKETT'S 73 headed the varsity alignment by two strokes with Hinsdale's Dave Johnson in the runnerup slot at 75. Other leading individuals were Phil Aughney of Glenbard West and Dave Bassett of Maine East with 76s.

Another sophomore, Bobby Armour, served as Arlington's second low varsity performer. Armour had rounds of 39-40 for a 79.

Pete Johnson, a junior, fired identical 40s for an 80, and senior George Brinke chipped in with nines of 45-36 for an 81. Other Cardinal scores were senior Ken Seeger (83), junior Fred Devin (86), and junior Rog O'Neil (92).

GLEN MICHALSKI'S 84 on rounds of 42-42 was low for the Cardinal sophs. Other Arlington totals were Dave Carlson (86), Roger Baer (86), Rick Price (89), John Keys (92), and Scott Forpe (94).

Over-all, the scores were remarkable in both divisions considering the weather. A steady drizzle tried its best to hamper proceedings, but only Downers Grove seemed to mind on a varsity level.

Glenbard West (316) backed the big three of Hinsdale, Riverside, and Arlington. Rounding out the varsity squads were Maine East (322), LaGrange (323), York (324), and Downers Grove (349).

Frosh-soph totals were York (325), Glenbard West (328), LaGrange (339), Downers Grove (344), Hinsdale (344), Arlington (345), Maine East (354), and Riverside-Brookfield (367).

Jaeger's Mile Heads Track Finals; Lions Capture Team Crown

A determined Johnny Jaeger of Hinsdale, striving to make up for his poor showing in state competition, stole the show Saturday in the West Suburban Conference track and field finals at Arlington High School.

The little senior, a disappointing fifth in the state mile run after leading the honor roll all spring, breezed to a brilliant victory in the third best clocking ever recorded by a schoolboy athlete in Illinois.

Sprinting home with a nifty anchor lap, Jaeger covered the mile in 4:16.3, snapping the conference standard by over six seconds and missing by only two-tenths of a second of equaling the best mark in Illinois' track history.

JIMMY BOWERS of DeKalb, who went on to a fine college career at the University of Illinois, holds the state's best mile clocking with a 4:16.1 in 1956. Highland Park's Jim Weinert and now Hinsdale's Jaeger are next in line at 4:16.3.

Although Jaeger's sparkling performance highlighted the meet, LaGrange pole vaulter Tim Rogers also contributed a record in helping the powerful Lions annex the coveted team title.

Rogers cleared 12-7 1/8 in the pole vault, snapping the old mark of 12-4.

LaGRANGE collected 55 points during the afternoon for a 10-point bulge over runnerup Hinsdale. York was a distant third with 30, and Downers Grove rounded out the first division with 24½.

Arlington High's host Cardinals registered 16½ points for a sixth place finish.

Only two records were established on the fine track afternoon, but a talented collection of athletes still gave the fans a lot to talk about.

JIM ISAACSON of Glenbard West repeated in the 880 yard run but not without a stiff challenge from a solid field. Isaacson came home in 1:56.6, one-tenth of a second shy of his own league record and only three-tenths of a second in front of York's John Koblik.

Downers Grove's Greg Grosrenaud, who claimed two fifths in the rugged state competition, flashed to victories in both hurdle events at Arlington.

The Trojan senior didn't have much trouble in the lows, but he received a fine argument from Hinsdale Junior Johnny Sandeen in the highs. Grosrenaud won in :14.8, and Sandeen was right on his heels in :14.9.

Sandeen added a first in the broad jump (21-1¼) to his second in the high hurdles.

BILL ZILLMAN of Hinsdale, state 100 yard dash champion, was a double winner. The swift Red Devil raced to victories of 10 flat in the 100, and :22.2 in the 220. 8

Other varsity victors were Bill Truax of Arlington in the discus (157-6), Larry Hart of Hinsdale in the shot put (53-2), Reggie Thomas of LaGrange in the 440 (:50.8), John Nelson of Maine East in the high jump (6-0), and York in both the mile relay (3:42.0) and half-mile event (1:30.4).

The 880 was a photo finish with Billy Bronson edging Zillman in a crowd-pleasing dash to the wire.

Truax continued his dominance of the discus event in the Chicago area with his flip of 157-6 Saturday. The Arlington junior has made a habit of winning major meets in the area this spring.

The only major title to elude the muscular Cardinal was in the rugged state competition, and Truax still has another season remaining.

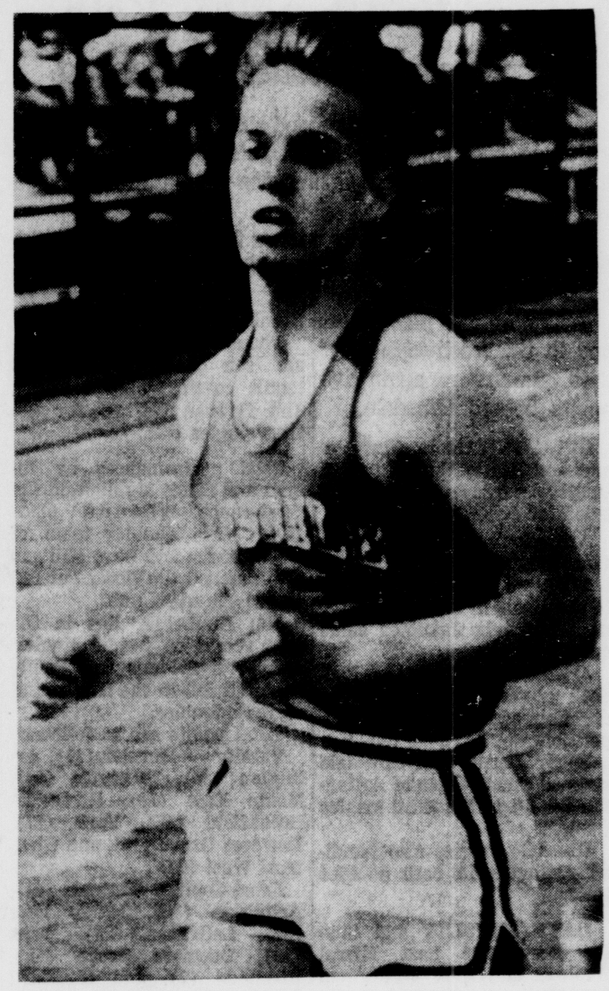
ALSO SPARKLING for Arlington Saturday was Senior Robin Auld in a losing effort.

In the record-setting mile run Auld finished a respectable third behind Jaeger and Glenbard West's Ken Swanson with Robin turning in a fine 4:27.4 clocking, his best and a new Arlington school record. Auld has lowered the Cardinal record over seven seconds.

Swanson was second in the mile at 4:26.7.

Also scoring for Arlington were Bob Splitberger with a fourth in the 440 yard dash (:51.3) and fifth in the 220, Jeff Hoy with a second in the high jump (5-10), and Tom Fagerson with a fifth in the pole vault (11-0).

Of those Cardinals scoring in the varsity division only Auld will be missing next year.



HIGHLIGHTING THE West Suburban Conference track finals was the brilliant 4:16.3 mile run recorded by Hinsdale's John Jaeger. The record-setting performance equalled the second best mile run ever recorded by an Illinois prep.

Maine West Nine Rips Forest View

Ed Schwenke and Chip Allen combined to pitch Maine West to a one-hit 10-0 win over Forest View last Thursday.

The only Falcon safety was a single by second baseman Ken Peters in the first inning. Schwenke pitched the first four innings before giving way to Allen, who finished the game. The two pitchers struck out a total of 13 Falcon batters.

Dan Humay, Al Waters and Dave Aegerter led an eight hit assault off of Falcon starter Tom Wilkes and reliefer Dick Anderson. Waters drove in four runs with a pair of singles.

All of the Maine hits were singles but seven Forest View errors contributed to the six of the seven runs scored off Wilkes, and all three charged to Anderson.

St. Viator Sports 15-6-1 Season Mark

Not bad for a bunch of sophomores and juniors.

Heck, a 15-6-1 record would be pretty darn good for a seasoned group of seniors.

Frank Mariani is satisfied, and he's the man to please when it comes to talking about the St. Viator High School varsity baseball team.

"It was a much better season than I could have hoped for," Mariani smiled when asked about his 1963 Lions.

FRANK HAS good reason to be proud of a club that bounced back from a 23-5 drubbing in the opener and proceeded to win 15 of its next 21 games and finish second in the Chicagoland Prep League.

"I'm satisfied with the entire team," Mariani added, "but those three no-hitters had to be considered the highlight if you wanted to pinpoint something."

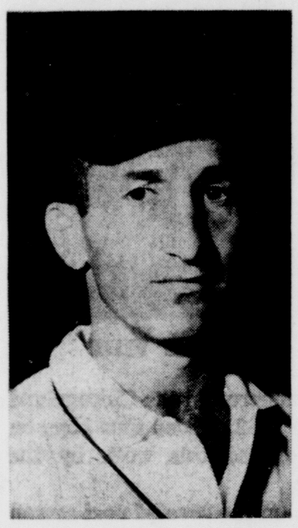
St. Viator grabbed the headlines early in the campaign when Jeff Haiduke, Jim Vidt, and Joe Sanchez fired no-hitters. Haiduke and Vidt put their gems together on successive days.

THOSE PITCHING masterpieces may have highlighted the season, but the Lions also sported some healthy plate marks through both league and non-league scuffling.

Haiduke topped the locals in Chicagoland Prep competition with a fine .482 mark on 13 hits in 27 trips to the plate. Shortstop Ron Bakalar, a slick glove man, was next in line at .441, and freshman Joe Sanchez posted a .385 standard.

Vidt rounded out the St. Viator regulars above .300 in league play with his .313 mark.

FOR THE entire season Sanchez, the talented frosh who more than lived up to his press clippings, tied Vidt for team honors with identical .317 averages. Bakalar hit .296 and topped the club in times at bat (81) and base hits (24).



FRANK MARIANI

Vidt drove across 19 runs to top Haiduke by one in this important department. Chuck Heinrich and Vidt each had six doubles and Haiduke slapped out an amazing total of seven triples. Five boys each had one homer.

Don Knudsen topped the club in stolen bases with nine.

PITCHING was a bright spot at St. Viator with both Vidt (5-2) and Sanchez (5-2) wrapping up five mound decisions. Haiduke had a 4-1-1 standard.

Sanchez worked the most innings (54-1/3) and had the best earned run average, a nifty 1.-66.

Vidt picked up three of the Lions' six conference wins.

Over-all the talented St. Viator mound staff posted four shutouts and three one-run decisions during the campaign.

In coaching varsity baseball Mariani now shows 99 victories in 119 decisions. Frank's eagerly awaiting No. 100.

With everyone back next year the likeable St. Viator coach shouldn't have to wait too long!

Prospect's Sophs Blank Forest View in Diamond Finale for Both Clubs

Prospect's soph baseball team ended the season with an 8-6 won-lost record Saturday behind the two-hit pitching of Keith Bergen.

The lanky righthander fanned six as he shutout Forest View, 4-0. The only hits off Bergen were singles by Ron McNulty and Rudy Perez. Rick Henderson was the loser.

Prospect scored the first run on singles by Tom MaCaulay and Bob Weber, plus a pair of Falcon errors. In the third, Don Greco drove in one run and Bill Phillips another.

Gregg Melzer's triple scored Greco, who had walked, with the final run in the sixth.

Last Wednesday, Niles West defeated the Knights, 6-2, in eight innings. With Bergen on the mound, Niles pushed across four runs in the eighth on a pair of walks, an error and a triple.

Craig Thomas started for Prospect but was replaced in the third by Bergen, who took the loss, after he had walked eight men. Melzer hammered a homer for the Knights.

Forest View also lost a heartbreaker last Wednesday, succumbing to Maine West, 2-1, in 11 innings. The Falcons won four of 13 this year.

Bill Jackson went all the way for Maine, giving up three hits. Henderson started for the Falcons but retired after nine innings.

Jack McRae took over in the 10th and was charged with the loss. With two out in the 11th, Maine put together a double, walk and a single to break up the marathon. Maine garnered only five hits.

The Warriors picked up the other run in the first inning on a pair of Falcon miscues.

The lone Forest View tally came in the second when Perez drove Ken Kolpin with a double.

Five Gals Serve as Queens

Three seniors and two sophomores served as queens of the West Suburban Conference track and field finals staged last Saturday at Arlington High School.

The five pretty gals, who had assisted at various track meets throughout the season, presented awards to the five finishers in each event of both varsity and frosh-soph divisions.

Reigning over Saturday's festivities were seniors Linda Johnson, Sue Sebastian, and Peg Miley and sophomores Sue Heitz and Debbie Klippert.

Prepares for Big Holiday Weekend

The biggest weekend of stock car races of the season is coming up for the Memorial Day holiday at O'Hare Stadium, Mannheim and Irving Park Roads. There'll be action Thursday, Friday, Saturday and Sunday with the first race at 8:30 nightly.

Memorial Day excitement Thursday night will be highlighted by the first big test for the late model convertible stock cars - a 100-lap holiday classic expected to attract the biggest field so far this year. The fastest 18 convertibles will start in the century grind. It'll be Pepsi-Cola night and the winner will be met at the finish line by the newly crowned "Miss Chicago" with the giant Pepsi silver trophy.

The all-convertible action, the only show of its type anywhere in the United States, will resume Friday and Saturday nights. The crowd-pleasing Cadets will also be featured Thursday, Friday, and Saturdays and will have their usual All-Cadet card Sunday night.

A Repeater

Dale Cooper, Michigan State still rings ace, was named to the All-America gymnastics team in 1963 for the second straight year.

DOUBLE WINNER Dale Stegall of Arlington High School races to victory in the 120 yard high hurdles in the frosh-soph division of last Saturday's West Suburban Conference meet. Stegall won both the highs and lows in pacing Arlington to a third place finish. (Staff Photo).

Four No-Hitters Head Little League Action

Stratton's Gem Highlights Week

No-hitters and shutouts usually go together.

Rarely does a Major League pitcher flip a no-hitter and not rack up a shutout in the process.

Such is not the case with today's Little League moundsmen.

A combination of circumstances many times prevents a Little League pitcher from going home with both a no-hitter and shutout.

Take last week, for instance, in the Arlington Heights Little League program. Four hurlers recorded the coveted hitless gems that are the dream of every boy who takes his turn on the mound. However, only one — Steve Stratton of the Tigers in the American League — got both a no-hitter and shutout.

STRATTON fanned 14 over six innings as the Tigers blanked the White Sox 1-0 in a big American League outing.

Elsewhere, Ronald Lewan of the Rangers, Berger of the Gulls, and Tom Brennan of the Jets twirled no-hitters but won by scores of 14-3, 13-4, and 22-2.

First things first though and Stratton's mound masterpiece has to rank as one of the highlights of another busy week in Arlington Heights.

AMERICAN LEAGUE

Stratton and Buttenob of the White Sox hooked up in a fine pitching duel as the Tigers stopped the White Sox, 1-0. With two out in the last half of the sixth Todd Somers belted a game-winning homer.

Buttenob struck out 13 and Stratton 14.

The Tigers won their third straight game with Jimmy Kenny driving in five runs with a homer and double and striking out 12 in a 7-6 win over the Athletics. Stratton scored the winning run and Morong was the victorious pitcher.

Dave Williamson bested Swanson as the Senators stopped the Yankees, 6-2. McDougall rapped two doubles and Brown a triple for the victors, and Keys contributed a triple for the Yanks.

Scoring seven runs in the first two innings, the Senators went on to decision the White Sox, 7-3. McDougall was the winning pitcher although things didn't look good in the first inning when the White Sox lashed out consecutive homers by Foreman, Buttenob, and Chailfaux.

Bob Graham pitched a two-hitter as the Yankees blanked the Red Sox, 4-0. He also helped his own cause with a double.

The Red Sox edged the Athletics with Kenny continuing his heavy hitting, blasting a home run.

NATIONAL LEAGUE

In a free-swinging affair the Braves knocked over the Giants 14-11 with Spink topping Paulson. Kallman and Kanek blasted home runs. The Cardinals scored six runs in the first inning and hammered the Dodgers, 9-2. Blassey was the winning pitcher, and Needleman cracked a home run.

The Pirates exploded early and went on to whip the Dodgers, 7-2. Ostler tripled with the bags loaded, and then Mahoney singled in Ostler. Ron Dolejs topped Soper on the mound.

Steve Leet fanned 10 and allowed only two hits as the Twins blanked the Angels 6-0. The winners scored five runs in the fifth inning.

The Giants and Cardinals battled to a 13-all deadlock with the Cards coming up with six runs in the final inning. Adkins bested Kanek as the Cubs bombed the Braves 9-1. Blackburn rapped a double and triple.

Jim Bokelman's two base hit in the second inning drove in two runs for the Twins and sparked a five-run explosion as the Twins rocked the Pirates 7-4. Cordova was the winning pitcher.

Scott McKay hurled a three-hit shoutout as the Cubs leveled the Dodgers 8-0. The Cardinals scored four runs in the first inning and went on for an 8-2 conquest of the Braves. Balinki (this one was hard to read) was the winning pitcher and Balinki and Burkett hit home runs.

The Angels came up with three runs in the sixth inning to edge the Pirates 8-7. Mike Creswell contributed the big blow that sent home the two final runs. Mike Cooper was the winning pitcher.

A four-run sixth inning gave the Twins a 9-6 victory over the Giants as Bokelman topped Paulson. Seeger had a triple and double for the Giants.

SOUTH BLUE INTERMEDIATE

The Rangers bombed the Charges in a brief four-inning contest 14-3 with Lewan flipping his no-hitter. Bill Pampel had a double and triple for the victors.

The Seals collected 10 hits in five innings and rocked the Ravens 10-1 with Frank McShane yielding only five hits and one run. Bob Gleichman and Dave Pollard smashed home runs.

The Dons scored in only two innings but still got past the Stars 6-1. Scott Butler was the winning pitcher on a yield of only three hits.

Scoring a single run in the fifth inning, the Stars edged the Rangers 12-11. The Stars put across 11 runs in the first inning but were held scoreless until the decisive fifth. Clark was the winning pitcher and he also hit a home run. Koerner, Broderick, Pampel, Tindell, and Lewan hit homers for the Rangers.

The Chargers hit the Ravens with two six-run innings and chalked up a 14-3 victory for Walsh, and the Dons and Seals battled to a 14-all deadlock. There were several long blows in the latter contest with Steve, Wayne, Pollard, and Everhart ripping homers and Butler a bases-loaded triple.

SOUTH WHITE INTERMEDIATE

The Marlins and Ramblers battled to an 8-8 deadlock with the Marlins coming up with three runs in the final inning. Hosterman, Proebstle, Conway, and Cole had homers in this one.

Both teams scored three runs in the final inning, but the Solons' markers were decisive in a 6-5 thriller. Slamming homers in a losing cause were Small, Erfort, and Schoepke.

Gary Gratzer won his first start, fanning 13 and walking only one, as the Barons clubbed the Terriers 17-4 with a vicious 15-hit attack. Tommy Jacobs hit two home runs and Ed Gimbel one for the winners.

McDonnell hurled a one-hitter and the Barons dumped the Solons, 6-1. He also contributed a home run. The Ramblers rolled past the Huskies 7-4 with Farr besting Hallek.

Scoring in five of the six innings, the Bearcats whipped the Royals 10-5 as Steputis got the win. McDonald had a home run for the winners.

A four-run sixth inning carried the Marlins past the Terriers 8-5 as Steve Proebstle picked up the decision in relief. Stipp and Heinz had homers in this one.

The Huskies rebounded with a 12-8 conquest of the Bearcats as Mike Shanahan topped McDonald. Steputis had a homer for the losers, and Mike McCall paced the winners with a homer and triple.

NORTH WHITE INTERMEDIATE

The Celtics had little trouble bombing the Redbirds 16-4 with Jerry Ross supported by a 10-hit attack. Jerry fanned 17 and had one putout at the plate so he accounted for all 18 outs. Davis hit two homers for the Celtics.

In a fine pitchers duel the Lancers shaded the Saints 1-0 with Jones topping Willow. The Comets stopped the Lancers 11-9 in a protested game with Warren Gray the winner. Mike Mohr had a home run for the Comets.

Wally Strait worked on the hill as the Comets slipped by the Broncs 8-7, and the Pioneers came up with six runs in the sixth inning of an 8-2 victory over the Celtcs. Zyzk was the winning pitcher.

Scoring 15 runs in the first two innings, the Triplets hammered the Saints 17-7. Neilsen was the winning pitcher. The Redbirds scored a single run in the fifth inning and edged the Broncs 4-3, Pettenuzzo besting Radcliff. Pettenuzzo and Caugley had home runs.

The Triplets scored 10 runs in the fourth inning in rallying to beat the Pioneers 11-6. Green's grand slam highlighted the loser's attack, and Jim McEnerney slapped a two-run homer that ignited the 10-run fourth. Bobby Wilson sparkled in relief.

NORTH BLUE INTERMEDIATE

Estes bested Bensen as the Hornets stopped the Mohawks 7-3. Mark Kramer homered. The Mounties and Colonels both unleashed the offensive power and battled to a 17-11 deadlock. Gow's triple was the long blow of the game.

Marszalek was the winning pitcher as the Bruins clobbered the Doves 10-1. Kreymborg, Johnson, and Caugalan hit home runs. Steve Scott breezed to a pitching victory as the Bruins rocked the Mohawks 15-1. Cony, Peterson, Reese, and Kreymborg cracked homers.

Sam Rudder had a big day with the bat as the Doves and Ellerston stopped the Colonels 23-12. Sam slapped two home runs and two singles, scored three and drove in eight.

The Hornets crushed the Mounties 25-5 with a 20-hit attack. Esty hit three home runs for the victors, one with the sacks jammed, and Tongay and Lundstedt also hit four-baggers.

SOUTH WHITE JUNIORS

The Buckeyes scored in every inning and buried the Jays 17-4 with Brooks the winning pitcher. The Padres shaded the Jets 8-4, and the Stags stopped the Atoms 5-3.

Cavers was the winning pitcher as the Jays edged the Stags 15-13. Kohar hit a first-inning hoomer with the bases loaded.

The Padres stopped the Atoms 10-6, and Tom Brennan pitched a no-hitter as the Jets routed the Buckeyes 22-2. The Jets scored in every inning with seven in the fifth.

NORTH WHITE JUNIORS

After two scoreless innings the Astros went on to register a 10-5 victory over the Bisons. Takata bested Dougherty. Edwards tripled in two runs to kick off a seven-run third.

The Owls clubbed the Gophers 16-11 although outhit 16-12. Dave Zare had a homer for the Gophers and Mark Piepenbrink put one out of the park for the Owls. Keith Knoll was the winning pitcher.

A grand slam home run by Dean Taggert keyed the Bees to a 14-10 victory over the Robins. He also picked up the pitching decision.

In an unusual outcome the Astros bombed the Robins 25-10 with the losers scoring their ten runs on only one safety. The Astros collected three homers and five doubles.

The Bees got by the Owls 6-4 with Steve Kuebler the winning pitcher, and the Bisons stopped the Gophers. No other details were available.

NORTH BLUE JUNIORS

The Millers scored in every frame and pounded out 16 hits in a 16-4 victory over the Chicks. Shild struck out 17 in getting the win and Munson and Klein each slapped out two home runs. Dolan and Gorey also homered.

Tillman was supported by a 14-hit attack as he pitched the Sox to a 19-9 victory over The Gulls. He also hit a four-bagger. The Larks edged the Mets 8-6 with Bryza the winner.

A 14-hit attack carried the Badgers past the Blues 16-10 as Obst got the win, and the Sox dumped the Badgers 10-3 with seven runs in the fourth. Tillman bested Marszalek.

The Blues edged the Larks 10-9 with Manchee the winner. Crane and Thorsen had homers. Berger hurled a no-hitter but still yielded four runs as the Gulls dumped the Chicks 13-4.

In final league action the Millers belted the Mets 9-4 with Dolan topping Lee on the mound.

SOUTH BLUE JUNIORS

Trailing 5-4 after three innings, the Wrens turned on the power and buried the Spartans 16-5. McGrath was the winner and Chick Donchess slapped a triple and double.

The Oaks edged the Beavers 10-8, and the Colts handled the Gems 12-7 with Bob Wilson the winner. He also hit a homer. Teammate Tim Maguire smashed two doubles and a homer and drove in five runs.

The Colts got by the Beavers (no other details available), and the Wrens edged the Oaks 11-9. Chick Donchess slammed a three-run homer in the first inning to aid McGrath's victory.

Scoring six runs in the fifth, the Gems beat the Spartans 9-4. Greg Ostermann was the winner with Steve Soderlund absorbing the setback. The Spartans blew a one-run lead with four walks and erratic fielding.

Knights Take Twinbill From Falcons in Baseball Finale; Second Game a Real Thriller

by BILL HALLS

Prospect put an end to the 1963 prep baseball season Saturday with a doubleheader win over neighboring Forest View.

The Knights took the opener, 6-1, behind lefthander Al Koehler.

Jim Hogarty outpitched Tom Lundgren to take the eight-inning nightcap, 2-1.

The opener, which lasted only one hour and 32 minutes, was a fairly routine game with Koehler scattering four singles and a double over seven innings. He was never in trouble as he fanned six and walked only two.

BUT THE second game was a real thriller, featuring some fine fielding and tight pitching from both Lundgren and Hogarty.

Prospect first baseman Bob Geller broke it up in the last of the eighth with a booming triple to deep rightfield.

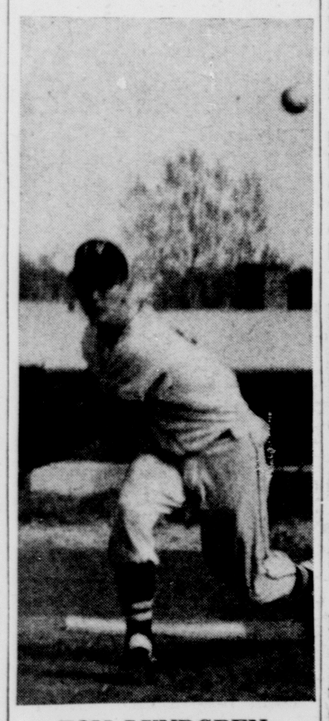
Geller held third as Lundgren fanned right fielder Ron Aukamp but was sent in by Coach Chuck Aldrich on the next play, a routine grounder to Falcon third sacker Jim Humphrey.

Mike Phillips, Prospect second baseman, hit the bounder to Humphrey, who bluffed Geller, not the fastest man on the Prospect team, and fired to first baseman Mike Griesman.

GELLER TOOK off for the plate, and Griesman, in his haste to make the play at first on Phillips, and still get the ball to catcher Ralph Kaspari in time to nail the lumbering Geller, dropped the ball.

That was the ball game.

Until the eighth, Lundgren and Hogarty were locked up in a fine dual. Lungren, a sophomore who figures to potent force in Falcon baseball for another two years, gave up only five hits, including another triple to center fielder Ed Massof, but was tough in the clutch.



TOM LUNDGREN

He struck out 10 and didn't walk a man, but hit Rich Beck with a pitched ball in the sixth.

THE MISTAKE led to the Knights' first run. With Beck on first, Lundgren bore down, fanning both Geller and Aukamp. Beck took second on a passed ball. Mike Phillips beat out a hit to deep short, sending Beck to third. Beck scored seconds later when the usually reliable Ken Peters booted Greg Kowal's bounder to second.

The Falcons' lone run came in the fourth. With one out, Peters reached first on Phillip's error, stole second and took third on Kaspari's single through the box.

With Mike Griesman at bat, Peters and Kaspari executed a perfect double steal with Peters on the scoring end. Hogarty then fanned Griesman and Tom Meyers to end the inning.

Hogarty, who got credit for his fifth win, fanned 13 Falcon batters with a fine assortment of fast and curve balls. He walked only two men, but both of the passes got him in trouble.

HE WALKED Joe Veltri leading off in the sixth, but bore down to retire the side. In the seventh, lead off man Griesman reached first on Beck's error, but was also stranded.

Beck made a fine play on Meyers' hard grounder to save the inning.

In the eighth, with Hank LaRocco warming up in the bullpen, Hogarty again pitched his way out of a jam.

Lundgren reached first on Phillips' second error. After Veltri popped to Beck, and Hogarty fanned Joe Mueller, Peters singled, sending Lundgren to second.

KASPARI walked to load the bases, but Griesman fanned on a three and two pitch to end the final Falcon threat.

Lundgren also had his moments. He fanned Phillips with two men on in the first inning, and struck out Norm Dahlgren and Hogarty with Kowal on first with a lead-off single in the second. The third man, Massof, popped to Humphrey to end that threat.

With two out in the fifth, Massof tripled to left centerfield. But Lundgren got the dangerous Leekley to pop to Peters for the final out.

After Beck had scored in the sixth, Lundgren fanned Dahlgren, a three-time strike out victim, for the final out. And in the eighth, a fine throw from Veltri cut off another run.

WITH ONE out, Massof reached first on shortstop Bob Benavides' boot. He took second on another error, and tried to score on Leekley's sharp single to center.

Veltri took the ball on one hop and fired a perfect strike to Kaspari who put the tag on Massof.

Except for the fielding lapses, both Hogarty and Lundgren might still be out there. All three runs were unearned.

In the opener, Koehler helped his own cause with a bases loaded single off of Falcon starter Dick Anderson in the second.

THE BALL skipped through left fielder Joe Mueller's legs and the Knights had a 4-0 lead.

"If I ever become a millionaire, I'm going to have that left field fixed," quipped Prospect's Dave Leekley later in the game. He also plays left field.

The Knight outfield, like so many other high school ball fields, is hard and lumpy.

Forest View got one back in the third. Veltri reached first on Kowal's error, took second on a passed ball, and scored on Peters' single.

THE FINAL two Prospect runs came in the fifth. Geller opened the inning with a walk, but was forced at second by Aukamp. Phillips lashed out his third straight hit, a single to right, sending Aukamp to third.

Anderson threw out Kowal for the second out, but catcher Rick Lytle lined a double to left, scoring both runners.

Prospect managed nine hits off of Anderson, but two of the six runs were unearned.

field in the opener, also made

Ralph Kaspari, playing right- a fine play, nailing Massof at the plate with a fine throw in the fourth. The star-crossed Massof was coming in from second on Beck's single.

Phillips and Lytle led the attack off of Anderson, who went the distance, with five hits between them.

Hurls No-Hitter, Still Loses in Rolling Meadows

Three games were played in each league to kick off the Rolling Meadows Boys Baseball season.

The Sox dumped the Indians 13-6 in the opening game of the American League with Mike Brynes getting the victory. Dick Smart blasted two home runs for the losers.

In the second game the Tigers maintained their mastery over the Yankees, 9-5. Purcelli was the winning pitcher, and Kramer cracked a home run.

TOM GUZIK hurled a no-hitter for the Senators but still bowed 2-1 to the Athletics in the final American League outing. Caltagirone was the winning pitcher.

In the National League's first game Pat Carrado pitched a three-hitter and struck out 14 as the Braves walloped the Dodgers, 11-6. John Macior was the big gun for the Braves with a single, triple, and home run. Steve Smith of the Pirates held the Cardinals to only one hit in a nifty 4-3 triumph.

Twenty-one runs scored in a slugfest that concluded the day's festivities as the Cubs toppled the Giants, 14-7. Kennedy went three-for-three at the plate, and Mike O'Donnell was the winning pitcher.

State's 'Honor' in Frog Jumping at Stake; House Urges, Kills Resolution

SPRINGFIELD, (UPI) — A suburban Democrat, unhappy at the poor showing of this state's athletic teams in recent years, took the floor of the House last week to deplore "the final indignity . . . the abysmal showing of Gov. Otto Kerner's frog in the recent frog jumping contest held in Calaveras County, California."

Rep. Bernard Peskin of Northbrook asked the state to "embark on a crash program of breeding and training frogs" to uphold the state's honor in the frog-jumping field.

He proposed a commission of five members of the House — with experience in running the high hurdles — be appointed to devote its full time to the study of the breeding and development of championship grade jumping frogs in Illinois.

PESKIN SAID his original thought had been to seek $5,000 for the group — to be known as "The Illinois Commission for the Improvement of Breeding of Frogs" — but that upon consultation with the House economy bloc, he had lowered his request to $1.29.

Rep. Robert Burhans, R-Peoria, commented that he thought every legislator "ought to jump at the chance to vote for this bill."

Most appeared willing to do so, but the resolution was shunted to committee on a technicality. Peskin then killed the tongue-in-cheek proposal, saying he realized that it would cost more than the $1.29 appropriation just to handle the paperwork involved in passage of the legislation.

Indians Take Twinbill From Prospect Frosh

Niles West's Indians took a frosh doubleheader from Prospect last Wednesday, taking the "A" game, 9-1, and the "B" tilt, 12-2. J. D. Thorne stole home with the Knights only run in the opener. Doug Glaser was the losing pitcher. The Indians scored eight runs in the first inning to take the night cap. Ken Vomacka doubled to set up the first Prospect run. Paul Peterson singled home the other tally.

Wille Holds First Place In Golf Play

Wille Lumber and Fuel remained undefeated and in first place in the Tuesday division of the Mount Prospect twilight League as it knocked off last place Mount Prospect Bowling Lanes 7½-2½ in last week's action at Mount Prospect Country Club.

The lumbermen however were unable to widen the 3½ point margin over the second place club as Licht's Paint store moved in as a very positive contender by taking a big 9-1 win over Golden Isle Restaurant. Licht's, who had been languishing in the second division despite their excellent potential, jumped from sixth place to a tie with Kruse's Tavern for second.

The Schlitzers, in moving up to second, turned in a very creditable performance themselves as they walloped Illinois Range 8½-1½.

LAST WEEK'S third place team, Mount Prospect Electric Construction Co. slipped to 4th place in spite of a 6½-3½ victory over Phil's Pure Oil, and Anne nand Busse, last week's second place team, dropped to fifth after a tie 5-5 match with Keefer's Pharmacy.

In the final match of the evening Kirchhoff Insurance defeated Winkelman's Shell Service 7-3 but was unable to escape the second division because of a poor showing of a week ago.

The weather continued unseasonably cool and the winds gusty and scores were nothing fancy. Len Johnson's 40 over the front nine was the top performance of the evening.

Birdies were reported by Rollie Becker on no. 8 and Gene Raasch on no. 13.

Fischer's Net 34 Tops Loop

The Arlington Heights twilight golf league has completed a fourth week of play with the weatherman still on its side.

Although the league voted in winter rules, the scoring did not seem to improve much. Only three men — Andrup, Blaar, and Magnuson — were able to break 40 with each firing a 39.

George Fischer came in with a net 34 to lead his team in holding its third place position.

The first three teams were able to hold their respective positions with first place Horcher Decorators now on top by 2½ points.

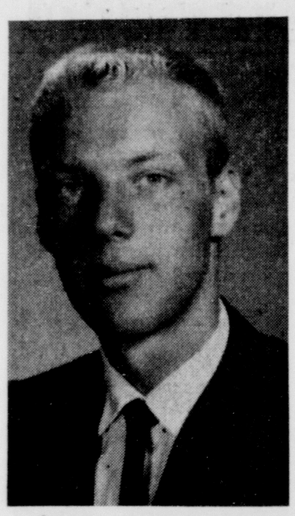
Chick Evans Scholarships To Area Boys

ART CHRISTENSON



TERRY SESTERHENN

Two northwest suburban boys have been awarded Chick Evans college scholarships by the Western Golf Association.

They are Arthur Christenson, Jr., 18, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur E. Christenson, 616 Larkdale Lane, Mount Prospect; and Terry Sesterhenn, 18, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Sesterhenn, 316 W. Hawthorne St., Arlington Heights.

They were among the first group of new scholarship winners announced by W. F. Douder, Jr., president of WGA. Approximately 130 new scholarships will be awarded before the end of the summer.

CHRISTENSON AND Sesterhenn will join undergraduates currently enrolled in colleges throughout the country to bring a record total of approximately 460 boys attending colleges and universities on the famed scholarships.

This is the caddie scholarship program which Chick Evans, veteran amateur golf star, initiated in 1930. By the end of this summer, approximately 1,500 Evans scholarships will have been awarded.

Christenson and Sesterhenn qualified for their scholarships by caddying at the Rolling Green Country Club. Members of that club are among more than 45,000 golfers giving financial support to the Evans program.

EACH SCHOLARSHIP covers tuition and room rent and is renewable for four years. Its value ranges from $2,500 to $5,000.

Christenson, a graduate of Notre Dame High School in Niles, will enroll at Marquette University in September.

Sesterhenn, a graduate of Arlington High School, wil continue his education at the University of Illinois.

Two Teams Deadlocked In Softball

Two teams were tied with perfect records after the second week of play in the Arlington Heights Park District Sportsman 16-inch softball league.

Tody's Lounge and the Village teams will be gunning for their third straight win in tonight's action. Both teams have scored impressive wins in their first two outings.

Results of the first two weeks action are:

Golf Is 'Added Starter' At Arlington Park; First Phase of Comp lex Now Open

Golf becomes an "added starter" at Arlington Park race-course at 9 a.m. Thursday, Memorial Day, with the opening of the first phase of the new 80-acre links complex.

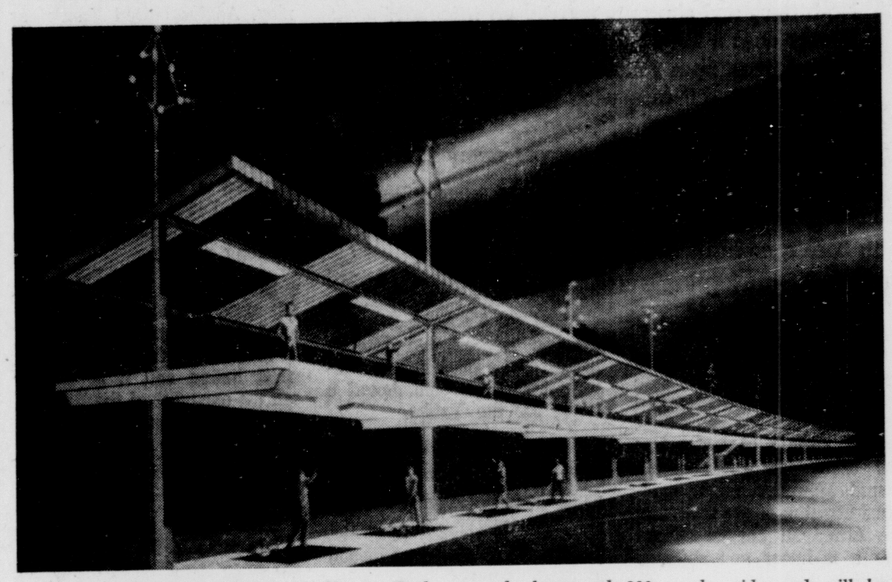
Track officials announced that the double-deck, covered driving range and the luxurious new clubhouse will be unveiled for the first time. The range, 300 yards wide, also is illuminated for night-time practice. The 100 feet by 100 feet facilities clubhouse includes a restaurant, cocktail lounge, pro shop and shower-locker facilities.

Within a short time, the 18-hole, par-60 golf course proper also will be introduced to the northwest suburban community. One nine-hole course of the 18 also is lighted for nighttime play.

ALL THE latest and most efficient equipment possible will make the driving-range one of the most unique in the nation. With its 100 tee positions, the unit also includes a mechanical "bucket of balls" dispenser, a snack bar for refreshments and sandwiches and instruction by the Arlington Park Golf Club professional, Fritz Hall, assistant pro at the Indian Creek Country Club, in Miami, Fla., also will be the golf-course pro when it opens.

Golfers will be able to practice driving on the new range until at least 11 p.m. daily, seven days a week.

The new course is located on the Arlington Park grounds, flanking Rohlwing road just north of Euclid avenue. It is easily accessible via U.S. 14 (Northwest Highway) to Rohlwing road, then south to the entrance, or from Kirchoff road east to Rohlwing and north to the Euclid gateway.



OPENING MEMORIAL DAY at Arlington Park is the double-deck, covered driving-range, shown here via an architect's rendering. It is 300 yards long and 200 yards wide and will be open night and day. Racing starts at the track on June 17.

THE GOLF clubhouse, designed by Charles Klopp of Palatine, ranks as one of the most luxurious in the sport. Constructed of split boulders, porcelainized enamel and steel, glass, ceramic tile and heavy wooden beams it also contains a covered observation deck overlooking the range and the first and the 18th holes of the golf course.

Locker facilities also are available as well as a private dining area for group functions.

By the time the entire facility is in operation, Arlington Park will claim one of the most unique entertainment centers in the country. Fans will be able to golf, practice their driving skill and attend a "day at the races" without moving off the track grounds, or spend an afternoon at the track, dine in either the famed "Classic Club" or the golf restaurant and play a round of golf in the evening.

Arlington's racing season opens June 17.

Special arrangements are being set up for groups, industrial or civic outings or clubs for any combination of the two sport functions. Interested parties may contact Herb Carlin at Keystone 9-3040 or by directing inquiries to Arlington Park Golf Club, P.O. Box 7, Arlington Heights, Ill.

Pair Share Lead

The Young Democrats and the Monarchs have jumped off to an early lead after one week of play in the Palatine Park District Softball League.

The Demos won an opening night forfeit over the Jaycees, and came back Wednesday to pound out a 19-3 win over Winston Park. The Monarchs belted the Hawks 26-14 on Monday, and outslugged the Lions Club 18-10 in their second outing.

Other games found Winston Park clubbing the Lions Club 29-9 on Monday, and the Hawks walloping the Jaycees, 20-3 two nights later.

Strong Field Set for 7th Drag Races

At the rate entries have been arriving, the 7th Annual National Championship Drag Races, Memorial Day weekend (May 30-June 2) at the Great Lakes Dragaway, Union Grove, Wis., are expected to hit a new high for entrants in this major Drag Race Classic.

Already the list has hit the 113 mark, representing 23 states and includes some of the top drivers and cars of the country. As it stands now, the keenest competition is expected to arise in the Gas and nitro-fuel Dragster Divisions, where more than half of the top 20 machines in the nation, are already entered.

An idea of how hot the competition could be is the fact that seven of the entries have bettered the current track record of 187.50 mph established jointly by Chris Karamesines of Chicago with his "Chizler," and Don Garlits, of Tampa, Fla., piloting the "Swamp Rat."

'Thrill Track' To Open June 8

Saturday night, June 8, marks the opening of Waukegan Speedway's new "thrill track" for amateur drivers.

This course, shorter than the conventional quarter-mile, will require drivers to make "up and down" entries to the infield and "tough to make" curves to get back on the main track.

Automobiles racing in the "thrill division" will be limited to strictly stock, street - type cars with safety provisions added.

THIS OPENING event of the thrill racing will coincide with the popular "school's out" program presented annually at Waukegan Speedway. It becomes part of the regular Saturday night shows on June 15th. Winner's cars may be claimed for $75.00, and all drivers have been advised not to invest more than that amount in their racers.

Drivers who want to participate in these special events must contact Mike Kiashian at Waukegan Speedway for rules. All cars must carry a roll-bar, safety belt and drivers wear a crash helmet. Door straps and driver's license are also required of all contestants.

WINNING DRIVERS of the "thrill" feature will earn a weekly trophy. The trophy for the first night, June 8, is the largest ever presented at Waukegan Speedway, standing over four feet high.

According to Mike Kiashian, more than 50 drivers have expressed their intention of racing in this division during the 1963 season.

The Late Models and Sportsman will be racing in their regular Saturday night shows in addition to the "thrill event." These drivers compete for cash prizes each week.

Tennis Club at Berwyn in Opener

The Arlington Heights Tennis Club will journey to Berwyn Saturday to kick off league play in the North and West Suburban tennis competition.

Arlington is the defending champion in the Men's B Division.

Top six players returning for the local club are Bob Inman, Jim Erickson, Bob Fink, Larry Brown, Chuck Schunk, and Bill Thompson.

Inman, Erickson, and Thompson are former Arlington High School standouts who are now performing in college ranks. Inman is at Harvard with Erickson at Northwestern and Thompson at Miami of Ohio.

Home matches this season will be played at the Arlington High School courts with the women at 9:30 a.m., juniors at 11 a.m., Men's B at 12:30 p.m., and Men's A at 2:30 p.m.

Anyone interested in joining the Arlington Tennis Club may call Don Johnson at 437-1927.

Carl's Holds Lead; Arnold Sharp Again

Carl's Food Shop still holds the top slot in the Mount Prospect twilight golf league with a four and one-half point bulge over runnerup Busse-Biermann Hardware and Mount Prospect State Bank.

Len Arnold sparked the league again with a low gross of 35. Paul Gunter had low net 30.

Birdies were registered by Bob Mors, Fred Erickson, Herb Lyon, Bob Ryan, Len Arnold, Dick Wistar, Swede Dahl, John Krueger, Bud Springer, Paul Seleski and Joe Gruenes.

Arnold had three birdies in his fine round.

The standings:

Carl's Food Shop	28½

Hole-in-One

Jack Sneeden, of 302 East Birkshire Lane, Mount Prospect, recorded a hole-in-one last Wednesday on the seventh hole at Mount Prospect Country Club.

Sneeden used a seven iron for the shot that covered 160 yards.

Past Their Prime

Last year the average age of passenger cars in use in the United States was six years; trucks, eight years.

Basch Paces Kiczula to

Dave Basch bashed out a terrific 38 to lead his Kiczula Insurance swingers to an 11-5 win over Schaumrose Inn in last week's play at the Golden Acres Golf Club in the Hoffman Estates Men's Golf League.

With Basch's eight stroke handicap he earned the day's individual low net of 30. In doing so the Kiczula's jumped two notches to seventh place.

Low team honors went to Jim Brewner's Jupiter Cleaners five with 183. They needed their low net to down Roselle Color Center 11-5 since the Painters' net was a neat 186.

HANK Styczykowski fired a "perfect game" beating Jack Reedy 5 up as Plaza Shell moved into second place, beating Plaza Liquors 9-7. Rainbow Inn captained by Earl Conrad moved to first place and Monroe Auto Equipment dropped to third in losing to Roselle State Bank.

Thus far, nobody is running away from the rest of the league. Only four points separate the first four teams and only 18 separate the league leading Rainbow Inn from cellar dwelling Plaza Liquors.

Several to the duffers are getting their games in good shape. In addition to Basch's 38, Mel Doup shot 37, Bob Powell a 38, and Don Specht a 39.

Team standings May 22:

Club's Program: Lead a Christian Life

Kids Flock To Join It

by MELDA LYNN

Who ever heard of a club that didn't have dues — a membership roster — a "crash" program designed to attract — a membership committee to go out and urge people to attend meetings — or serve refreshments!??

Thousands of high school students have! They have not only heard of such clubs, they are literally flocking to the meetings.

No one has urged them or tried to sell them on the idea of belonging to a "teen" club — of helping elect officers — plan programs — or a project. Yet without the things that most adults think are necessary to attract teenagers — today's high school students are flocking to clubs designed especially for them.

They are called Young Life Clubs.

Young Life Clubs have been known in many parts of the nation since before Young Life was incorporated in 1941 in Dalls, Texas. There are now clubs in Germany and France also.

Since that time, by word of mouth, without fancy recruitment or organized procedures, Young Life Clubs have become an important facet in the lives of high school age young people.

A NEW club has recently sprung up in the northwest suburbs and has attracted students from Mount Prospect, Elk Grove Village, Arlington Heights and Palatine. Other area Young Life Clubs are in Des Plaines, Park Ridge, Bensenville and Wheaton.

These young people gather informally in the home of one of the group one night each week for one hour. At first the new group consisted of approximately 10 to 12. It has grown by leaps and bounds and last week's meeting was attended by 146 youngsters — all gathered in one house.

They don't care how crowded they are — they sit on the floor — sing to their heart's content — talk together — and listen to their adult friends tell them, through living actions and words, that they can have fun — can plan their lives and know that leading a good life is THE thing for them.

These 146 young people were invited by each other. The adult leaders did not invite them, but the kids knew they would be welcome. Adult volunteers do not invite the students, but if one should call and ask for a ride, he is picked up and taken to the meeting.

Adult leaders don't "talk" to the boys and girls about their problems — unless they go to the adults themselves. The kids know they are there and available and willing if they need them.

Young Life Clubs are nondenominational. Leaders never teach any doctrine, other than the doctrine of living a Christian life. They encourage the youngsters to take an active part in their own churches.

THEY HELP young people to help themselves to realize that clean living can be "the greatest." They don't try to provide "mountain top" experiences, feeling that it is the duty of the individual churches.

So dedicated are the leaders of this movement that many, like three high school teachers in the area, prefer to spend their off-duty hours with the youngsters rather than participating in many other hobby or recreational activities.

Young Life has a full time regional and national staff. The regional headquarters for this area are located in Park Ridge. Director is Bill Starr. He is assisted by Doug Barram and Miss Rennie MacKay in the Northwest Chicago section of the Chicago district.

Barram is a well-known young man who works with the local volunteers and students. Typical of those in full time Young Life work, he is a graduate of Chico State College in California where he majored in sociology. All staff members must be college graduates. Some have also attended seminary. All receive special Young Life training from famous professors and theologians from well known seminaries and universities such as Princeton and Brown University.

Doug Barram decided while in college that he wanted to go into full-time Christian work. He was a counselor in a Young Life Ranch and became so enthused about the work the organization is doing that he decided he could do more to help high school students in this field than in any other facet of Christian work.

In each community there are adult leaders and members of a local community committee. The committee sees that there is money to pay the professional staff and carry on the Young Life Program. Wives of the committee members work in the women's service unit.

The roster of the 22-member northwest Chicago committee reads like a "Who's Who of Business and Professional Men." The members and their wives are all dedicated Christian workers in their own churches and are well respected community leaders. Most of their leisure time is spent in promoting Young Life locally.

SOME OF the local committee members include Richard Brubaker of Elk Grove Village, accounts and office supervisor of Kartridg Pak in Mount Prospect.

One of his co-workers, Alec Mackenzie, current vice president of Kartridg Pak and his wife, Gay, are so enthused about Young Life work that they have decided to dedicate their lives to it.

Mackenzie is leaving Kartridg Pak soon and will become Young Life business manager at the group's national headquarters in Colorado Springs. When he begins his new job he will be receiving half the salary he does in his present position.

Hartley Carlson of Mount Prospect is also a member of the local committee. He is sales engineer with Leland Gifford Co. Others include former Park Ridge Mayor Ray Hollis, Dave Patterson, Borden Co. vice president of Park Ridge, and Don Nelson and Phil Perkins of Arlington Heights. Others live in Libertyville, Glenview, Des Plaines and Skokie.

Three teachers from the area who are especially interested in Young Life work and who, while they do not recruit youngsters or actually take part in the weekly programs, attend the meetings and are always available when the students need a ride or help of any kind.

They include Norman MacGregor of Forest View, Ted Ecker of Arlington Heights and Cliff Anderson of Palatine High School.

Among the 21-member national board of directors are the Governors of Oregon and Nebraska; a special FBI agent; several doctors; Richard Stanley, president of Alpha Engineering of Chicago; H. J. Taylor, chairman of the board of Club Aluminum Co., Chicago, and Frank Kapple, director Dunbar-Kapple Mfg. Co., Geneva, Ill.

THESE national, regional and local directors, together with local leaders, concerned parents and churches of many denominations send monthly contributions to support Young Life throughout the country.

Young Life operates four resorts on a year-around basis, but mainly for summer camping programs. These resorts are Star Ranch, Frontier Ranch and Silver Cliff Ranch, all in Colorado and Malibu Club, north of Vancouver, B.C. in Canada.

At least 45 high school students from the four immediate area schools are planning to attend either Star or Frontier Ranches this June. Here they will swim, play, snow slide, go horse back riding and mountain climbing and engage in many other camping experiences loved by teenagers.

All the activities which go into making the Young Life program a vital one in the lives of the boys and girls during the short period of time they are in high school take years of planning, training and dedication on the part of the professional staffs as well as the volunteers.

They are intent upon just one thing — to reach young people while they are in their crucial years — when they are at the age where their decisions will affect their entire adult lives.

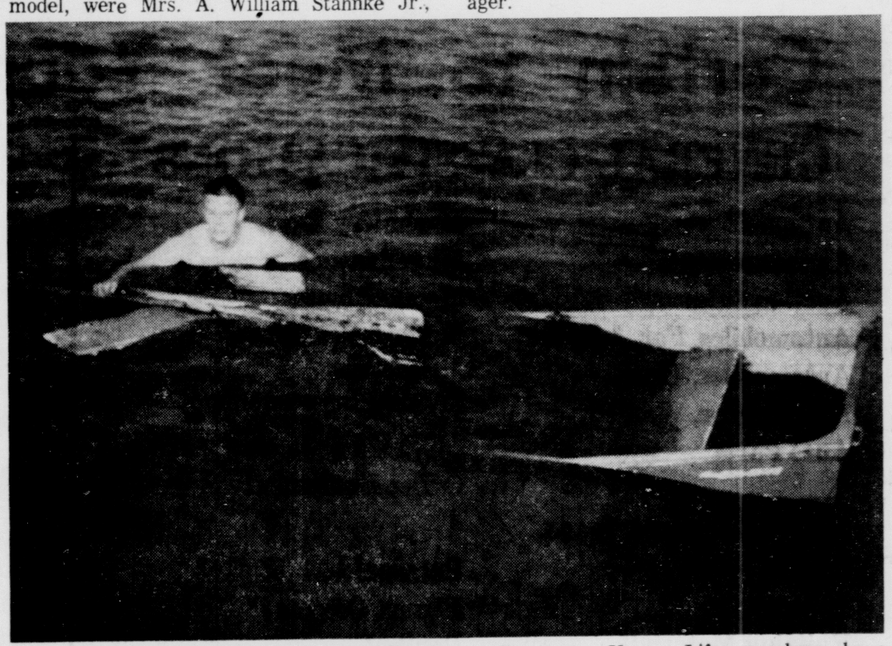
Polio Drop

Only 886 persons were affected by polio in 1962, a decline of 35 per cent from the year before. Five years ago there were 6,092 cases.

YOUNG LIFE STAFF LEADER Doug Barram, standing, talked to Young Life members during a recent meeting held in the home of Kathy Klehm in Arlington Heights. Meetings stress informality and casualness. The 146 who attended the above meeting were happy to sit on the floor while singing songs, talking and listening to Barram, who that night reminded them that they should have a blue print for their lives just as a contractor has before he starts to build a house. Young Life clubs always meet in homes and are never lacking for places as parents and teenagers continue to offer their homes, large or small, for the group regardless of the number. (A-14

DURING SATURDAY'S Young Life luncheon, members of the different clubs in the Chicago area modeled the latest fashions for camp and school. "Young Lifer" Nancy Ide, 303 W. MaNaWa, Mount Prospect, left, admired the outfit worn by Young Life Model Gini Hollis of Park Ridge. Also casting admiring eyes, not only at the outfit but at the model, were Mrs. A. William Stahnke Jr., 2065 S. Thornton, Palatine and Mrs. Alex Mackenzie, 23 N. Main St., Mount Prospect. Mrs. Stahnke's daughter attends the new northwest suburban Young Life Club and Mrs. Mackenzie is a member of the women's service unit. Her husband is a member of the Chicago Northwest Young Life Committee and newly appointed Young Life business manager.

250 WOMEN INTERESTED in learning more about Young Life attended a luncheon Saturday in McCormick Place. During the program Midwest Regional Director Bill Starr answered questions and showed slides of the ranches where the teenagers go during the summer. The four ranches, three in Colorado and one in Canada, had over 7,000 young people attend during the summer of 1962. Expected registration for this summer is 9,000. Above, Doug Barram and Starr show a brochure of the ranches to Mrs. Clarence Anderson and Mrs. Donald Rogers, 209 Withorn Lane, Mount Prospect. Mrs. Anderson is the mother of one of the adult volunteers, Cliff Anderson, a teacher at Palatine High School.



IT ISN'T ONLY GUESTS who attend "Kennedy" parties that are apt to fall (or get pushed) into the water!! During a recent Young Life gathering, Scott Armstrong of Mount Prospect, found himself in the same predicament. Young Life members have great fun together during the entire hour long weekly meetings whether they are engaging in serious discussion or serious play. (A-14

In South Pacific

Marine Private First Class Michael F. Field, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Field of 1112 N. Forest, Arlington Heights, serving aboard the attack aircraft carrier USS Coral Sea on a goodwill cruise to Australia recently participated in the 21st annual celebration held in Sydney to commemorate the Battle of the Coral Sea.

The Allied victory in the famed Coral Sea battle is credited with stopping the Japanese advance in the Pacific in World War II and is an annual celebration in Australia.

The Coral Sea, a 63,000-ton carrier, is the largest combatant ship ever to visit Australia. While enroute from Hawaii, her crewmen conducted the Navy's traditional initiation ceremonies for those who were crossing the Equator for the first time.

Following her Astralian visit, the Coral Sea joined the Seventh Fleet in the Western Pacific with ports in Japan, Guam, the Philippines and China on her visiting schedule.

At Lackland AFB

Two Arlington Heights men have received new training and duty assignments in United States Air Force job specialties following completion of their basic military training here.

Airman Gary W. Burke, son of Mr. and Mrs. William T. Burke of 8 N. Gibbons, will attend the technical training course for personnel specialists at Greenville AFB, Miss. A 1961 graduate of Notre Dame High School, Niles, he attended the University of Illinois and Millikin University, Decatur.

Airman William A. Terbell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd O. Terbell of 402 W. Kirchhoff, will be assigned at Otis AFB, Mass., for training and duty as a fire protection specialist. A 1960 graduate of Arlington High School, he attended Iowa State University, Ames.

Car Dealers

There were 30,954 domestic new-car dealers in the United States as of April 1.

At Camp Pendleton

Marine Capt. James E. Thomas, son of Mrs. Bernice Thomas of 315 N. State Road, Arlington Heights, is undergoing lock-on training with the First Battalion of the Seventh Marine Regiment at Camp Pendleton, Calif.

Lock-on is the name given to six weeks of intensive training that progresses from basic tactics of the fire team and squad to complex maneuvers of the company and battalion.

The training is conducted periodically to maintain the battalion's combat-ready status. New personnel in the battalion receive indoctrination in scouting and patrolling, counter-guerrilla warfare, and helicopter assault techniques. The Marines also familiarize themselves with flame throwers, mortars, and 3.5-inch rockets.

The trainin gincreases the battalion's preparedness which is vital to the Marine Corps in fulfilling its role as the nation's force-in-readiness.

At Great Lakes

Leonard A. Horvath, 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest J. Horvath Sr., of 274 Hemlock Road, Wood Dale, completed recruit training, April 5, at the Naval Training Center, Great Lakes, with graduation ceremonies consisting of a full-dress parade in which more than 1,000 men participated.

Recruit Training Command's Drum and Bugle Corps, Band and Drill Team also performed at the graduation ceremonies.

The nine-week training includes naval history and organization, customs and courtesies, sentry duty, ordnance and gunnery, seamanship, damage control, first aid, swimming and survival, military drill, shipboard drills and physical fitness and conditioning.

During the training recruits receive tests and interviews to determine their future training and assignments. Upon graduation, the men are sent to service schools for technical training or to a ship or shore station for on-the-job training.

In Germany

Pvt. John D. De Costa, 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank J. De Costa, Route 1, Palatine, was assigned to the 3d Infantry Division's 10th Artillery in Germany, May 10.

De Costa entered the Army last December, completed basic training at Fort Knox, Ky., and is a cannoneer in the artillery's 1st Howitzer Battalion.

He attended Palatine Township High School and was employed by J. J. Newberry Department Store in Melrose Park before entering the Army. (WUS

At Fort Sill

Army Pvt. John D. De Costa, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank J. De Costa, Rte. 1, Palatine, completed advanced training as a cannoneer at The Artillery and Missile Center, Fort Sill, Okla., April 26.

De Costa entered the Army in December 1962 and completed basic training at Fort Knox, Ky.

The 17-year-old soldier attended Palatine Township High School and was employed by the J. J. Newberry Department Store, Melrose Park, before entering the Army. (WUS

In California

John W. Passmore, son of Mr. and Mrs. Maurice W. Passmore, 515 W. Maple Stret, Arlington Heights, completed recruit training May 3, at the Naval Training Center, San Diego, Calif.

The nine-week training period covered seamanship, basic military law, physical fitness, first aid, swimming and survival and military drill.

Each recruit receives tests and interviews which determine his future training and assignments. (WUS KATHLEEN RETZ, a sophomore from Roselle, adds practical experience to her education by working part time in the Admissions Office at Lake Forest College, Lake Forest. Retz, who was named to the Dean's List at LFC last term, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew M. Retz of 27 Weathersfield Way East in Roselle. (CC

JOHN S. CAMPBELL of Palatine, senior at DePauw University, is one of 10 seniors honored during the current showing of their works in the University's annual senior art exhibition. The show, featuring works completed by seniors in the Art Department during the present academic year, opened May 13 and continues until June 9. John is majoring in art and economics and expects to enter graduate school at Yale. John is the son of Mrs. Lucille Campbell, 1152 N. Blackburn Drive. (CC

Notice of Public Hearing

Public notice is hereby given that a hearing will be held Monday, June 17, 1963 at 8:00 P.M. in the Municipal Building, 33 South State Road, Arlington Heights, Illinois by the Zoning Board of Appeals to consider a petition for a variation from the strict terms of the Comprehensive Zoning Ordinance, Section 11.2-3, to permit erection of a single family residence on the following legally described property:

Lot 51 (except the S. 132 feet thereof) in Arlingdale, being Henry J. Eckhardt's Subdivision of the West 2346.0 feet of the North Half of Section 30, Township 42 North, Range 11, East of the Third Principal Meridian, lying South of the Chicago and North Western Railway, all in Cook County, Illinois.

This lot is approximately 68 feet in front and 129 feet along the side and is located on Harvard Avenue, the second lot north of Euclid Avenue.

Interested persons will be given an opportunity to be heard.

Notice of Public Hearing

Public notice is hereby given that a hearing will be held Wednesday, June 19, 1963 at 8:00 P.M. in the Municipal Building, 33 South State Road, Arlington Heights, Illinois by the Plan Commission of Arlington Heights to consider a request to erect a 60 ft. by approximately 12" wide radio antenna tower on the following legally described property:

The West 70 feet of Lot 1 in Block 14 in the Town of Dunton (now Village of Arlington Heights) in the West Half of the SW Quarter of Section 29, Township 42 North, Range 11, East of the Third Principal Meridian, Cook County, Illinois.

Commonly described as 9 East Eastman Street, Arlington Heights, Illinois.

Said property is zoned B-2 General Retail Business District, and radio and television transmitting or antenna towers requiring outdoor structures are permitted as a "Special Use" in Business or Manufacturing districts by Section 7.2-17 of the Comprehensive Zoning Ordinance. The public hearing will be held to consider the advisability of permitting this "Special Use" in this location.

All interested persons will be given an opportunity to be heard.

5 High School Administrators Named

Offices Will Be In House

The increase in central-office administrative personnel for High School District 214 has brought board action on a new administrative center.

A separate office structure for district-wide school administrative staff and school board meetings has been under discussion for several years.

Pending completion of new central offices (a site is still to be selected), the school board Monday approved the use of a home at 616 N. Ridge, Arlington Heights.

THE BUILDING is across the street from Arlington High School and adjacent to the school athletic field and tennis courts.

The house, owned by the school district is now vacant. No major remodeling is planned, but some painting may be necessary according to Supt. H. L. Slichenmyer.

The home formerly was occupied by Harold Griesmeyer, supervisor of buildings and grounds for the district.

Slated to occupy the temporary central office quarters are Dr. Edward Gilbert, assistant to the administrator; Ruben Conrad, Rod McLennan and Charles Miller, instructional coordinators; W. David Whiteside, coordinator of guidance, testing and research; Russell N. Hill, principal of Wheeling High School (slated to open in September, 1964); and Dr. Ronald L. Duckers, school psychologist. (ACM-EG

Jobs Created After Survey

Five new top-level administrators for High School District 214 will be "on the job" for the 1963-64 school year.

Salary cost for the five men will be $60,000 for the first year of the administrative-plan operation.

The new administrative posts were recommended by Booz, Allen and Hamilton, management consultant and study firm. The firm is completing a survey of District 214 school administration, from the school board down through the department organization in each of the three district high schools — Arlington, Prospect and Forest View.

Dr. William Starkle of the survey group called an increased central office staff the "first need" of the district. He urged the hiring of "top-flight" people for the "tough jobs." He emphasized to school board members that such people were "not to be recruited lightly."

NAMED AS acting director of personnel, at a yearly salary of $13,000, was Nelson L. Lowry, present dean at Arlington High School. The position is described as a part-time administrative assistant to the superintendent as well as personnel direction.

In the job Lowry will be director of all personnel—faculty, clerical and custodial. He will be responsible for the recruitment of teachers, a major undertaking in the district which has an annual increase of 40 to 70 teaching posts, plus replacement of teachers who leave the district.

In sharp contrast to their usual custom, there were two dissenting votes when Lowry's appointment came before school board members. "No" votes were cast by George Paris of Mount Prospect and Charles Fyfe of Elk Grove Village.

Normally, new appointments to school positions are discussed in closed meetings, as permitted by state laws. No official action can be taken during a closed meeting.

ANY DISSENSION between board members in a closed meeting is normally not seen when the regular meeting reconvenes. Board members tend to change their vote to reflect a solid front based on the will of the majority.

The vote on Lowry was an exception.

Francis J. Coleman, present assistant business manager, was selected as acting director of business services at a salary of $11,000. The new position includes responsibility for food services and building and grounds in addition to management of the business office.

Coleman replaces Business Manager John Schaff who is retiring at the end of June.

THE NEW position of director of extended school services will be filled by William L. Randle. The salary for the post will be $12,750. Randle will direct both night school and summer school. In addition he will act as district public relations director.

W. David Whiteside, director of guidance at Arlington High School, was tapped for the new district-wide position of coordinator of guidance, testing and research. Whiteside will receive $12,000 in his new position.

One of the three new posts as instructional coordinator (handling curriculum coordination and development among the three high schools of the district) went to Charles J. Miller. Miller, who will receive $11,250 in his new job, is now audio-visual director at Arlington High School.

Presumably the other two instructional coordinator positions will be filled by the present curriculum director, Reuben Conrad and assistant curriculum director Rod McLennan.

Plat Approved With Conditions

A preliminary plat of subdivision showing 15 lots on the east side of iWndsor Drive, between Kensington (Foundry) Road and Miner Street, was approved 4-0 Monday by Arlington Heights trustees.

The subdivision, known as the E. J. Harris Resubdivision was approved subject to the following conditions:

1. That the final plan show public utility easements.
2. A 17-foot dedication for public street purposes be made on Kensington Road.
3. CAMPBELL Street, Miner Street and two walk-ways be designated "dedicated."
4. The board of trustees accept a contribution of money in lieu of the usual dedication of 10 per cent of the land for public purposes.

The plan commission recommended the board okay the project subject to fulfillment of the four conditions. (A

Ban on Carnival Follows Arrests

The arrest last Friday of nine employes of a carnival operating in Wheeling resulted in the revocation this week of a permit for the same carnival to set up tents in Arlington Heights.

Cook County Sheriff's detectives made the arrests and confiscated a number of games of chance in a raid on the Mike Wold Carnival, Dundee and Elmhurst Roads, Wheeling.

AFTER THE arrests, Richard Cain, chief investigator for Sheriff Richard B. Ogilvie, demonstrated to carnival patrons how games had been rigged so the operator could not lose.

Upon learning of the arrests, Harold Carlson, Arlington Heights license inspector, ordered the carnival's permit to open Monday at the Westgate Shopping Center be revoked.

Cain said his investigators spent three days at the carnival to uncover how the games were fixed.

Those arrested included Michael Wold, 47, and his son, Michael Jr., 29, of Chicago. (A

Income Tax Drive Pushed in Michigan

Leading the drive was Detroit Mayor Jerome Cavanagh.

Cavanagh and Highland Park Mayor Mark E. Storen and Bernard A. Kalahar, chairman of the Supervisors Intercounty Committee have set July 31 as deadline date for making their proposal to Gov. George Romney. They indicated they would ask the Citizens Research Council of Michigan to help with the technical details.

DETROIT IS the only major city in Michigan with an income tax. Its legality was upheld recently by the state Supreme Court.

Cavanagh indicated that other fiscal reforms would be recommended, but made no secret of his belief that a statewide income tax would be the cornerstone of the program.

At the same time, Kalahar warned that any statewide income tax would have to be paired with reductions or repeals of other levies. A(14

Here's Why Jim and Doris Like the Home They Bought

by JOSEPH H. ANDERSON
(Last in a Series)

Jim and Doris, our erstwhile house-shopping couple, are well-settled in their new home now, and are taking great pleasure in showing the house to their friends. They themselves are constantly discovering features about the house that delight them.

Jim, for instance, has found the new home so well "lined" or insulated that it is comfortable regardless of the weather. The insulation - or lining against cold and heat - is one of the hidden values of today's new homes. It reduces heating and cooling bills, as Jim has found.

Doris is delighted to discover that the house practically keeps itself clean. The air is filtered by their heating - cooling unit. The house is so tightly built that dust doesn't seep in. Walls, countertops and cabinets have finishes that wipe clean with the whisk of a cloth. Doris finds that keeping a new home looking new is more play than work.

THE HOUSE has an easy-to-get-around-in interior. The living room-dining area is flooded with light from the sliding glass doors to the patio, which in summer is like another room. The living area seems spacious.

Doris can bring groceries direct from the car to the kitchen which is arranged for convenience. She has a step-saving layout and appliances are in a soft, eye-pleasing color - in her case, a muted pink. A breakfast nook gets the first meal of the day off to an easy start.

The lovely bedrooms have ample closet space, with floor-to-ceiling doors that simplify access to clothes. In the master bedroom, one partition is entirely closet space, and it is so built that it provides easy separation for "hers" and "his."

Cabinets in the bathroom are roomier and virtually fumble-free. They are large enough so that each has plenty of space. Doris particularly employs the attractive vanity, with its wide mirror. The plumbing works with quiet efficiency.

THE HOUSE has an abundance of electrical outlets - there is no need for extension cords. This is both a convenience and a safety measure for extension cords can be hazardous if improperly used.

Wnidows open and close with ease, and the screens are securely attached. The stairs in the new home have been engineered for safety. There is a moderate - not a steep - arrangement of steps. A sturdy stair railing offers a safety grip.

A number of new acoustical materials and the insulation used in the house make the home a quiet one, easy on the ears. Like other new homes, it will be no problem to maintain for years because of improvements in building materials. They are more durable and longer-lasting than ever before. Even the paint on the outside of the house has a longer life-span.

This couple, which could be a twosome you've known for years, has found from their own experience that better living begins when you own a new home. And they have found too, that their new home is better built than any in which they have ever lived. (BB

Nurserymen Plan Seminar in August

The Illinois State Nurserymen's Association this week announced plans for a three-day summer seminar to be held Aug. 13, 14 and 15 at O'Hare Inn, Chicago. The meeting is expected to draw some 1,000 nurserymen from Indiana, Ohio, Michigan, Minnesota, Iowa, Wisconsin, Missouri and Illinois.

Area nurserymen serving on the committee of the host organization include association directors Carl Klehm, Charles Klehm & Son Nursery, Arlington Heights, and Victor E. de St. Aubin Jr., Eugene A. de St. Aubin & Bro., Inc., Addison.

INCLUDED ON the program sery and the Matt Tures Sons Nursery at Roselle, to sites of outstanding landscape plantings in the area, and to the Ned Brown Forest Preserve where demonstrations of nursery and landscaping machinery and will be tours to the Klehm Nurequipment will be held.

The seminar is expected to be the first of a series of similar meetings to be conducted annually by the combined midwest state organizations, association officials said.

The Illinois State Nurserymen's Association seeks through education and exchange of information among its members to produce improved quality nursery stocks, to control plant pests and diseases, and to assist the public in proper planning and landscaping of grounds. (BB

Small Business Seminar Held in Elk Grove Village

Representatives from 16 companies already located in Centex Industrial Park in Elk Grove Village, or which are planning to move there soon attended an all-day "Small Business Opportunity Seminar" held Thursday, May 9, in the Maitre D' Restaurant.

They were among 37 representatives from 22 companies in 14 northwest quadrant communities that participated in the session, which was sponsored by the Centex Industrial Park Association in cooperation with the Small Business Administration. Several companies presently headquartered in Chicago also sent representatives.

PRESENT OR soon-to-be occupants of the Park and their representatives were: Ralph Wilson Plastics, Morton Berson; E. J. Burke & Co., Edmund J. Burke; H. S. Kaiser Co., John Dolan; C. A. Dahlin Co., Donald Fawcett; Sola Electric, Carl Mitchell; The Echlin Manufacturing Co. United Parts Division, Joseph Cherie; Sanford Chemical Co., Sanford Arenberg; Martin Yale Corp., Yale Blanc; Lester Lawrence and Son, Major Lawrence; Bond Precision Products Co., Milton E. Berg and Oscar Olsen; Skild Manufacturing Co., Don Post; AMF Pinspotters Inc., Elmer G. Rosenwinkel; Concord Plastichemical Corp., Tom Williams; Adcote Chemicals, Inc., James Hull; RainSoft Water Conditioning Co., John Grayson; Northern Illinois Gas Co., Ralph Gerrard.

Representatives from eight federal government agencies provided individual counseling to businessmen on procedures that are required to obtain government contracts. They were from the Small Business Administration, General Services Administration, Air Force, Naval Ordnance plant in Forest Park, Rock Island Arsenal, Veterans Administration, U. S. Army Engineers and the U. S. Army Aviation and Surface Material Command.

SPEAKERS were Einar Johnson, deputy regional director of the SBA; John Jones, SBA industrial specialist; and Joal L. Leckness, assistant director of business services of the GSA. The welcome was given by Major Lawrence, industrial park association vice president. Elmer G. Rosenwinkel, association secretary, hosted the seminar.

The evolution of Centex Industrial Park in 5½ years from a vast collection of cornfields to the nation's fastest growing industrial complex was described by Howard G. Krafsur of the Chicago industrial real estate firm of Bennett and Kahnweiler, exclusive agents for the Park. The Park is contiguous to O'Hare International Airport.

The Centex Industrial Park Association represents the 101 companies that already have located in the Park. To date, approximately 50 more firms have chosen sites or have new facilities under construction there.

Other companies in the northwest suburban area represent- plants located in the park, ined, but which do not have their cluded U. S. Flexible Tubing Co. of Bartlett; Charles Bruning Co. of Mount Prospect and RainSoft Water Conditioning Co. of Wood Dale. (BB

Behrens Appointed Local RFC Agent

Carl M. Behrens and Associates of 205 S. State Road, Arlington Heights, has been appointed agent of the Relocation Finance Corp. for the Arlington Heights, Mount Prospect, Palatine and Elk Grove Village area, it was announced by Carl M. Behrens, owner.

Relocation Finance Corp., the nation's first complete service for arranging and financing inter-city transfers of employes by industry and business, operates a network of more than 600 realty agents from coast to coast.

According to Behrens, the R.F.C. service can be tailored to the needs of any business enterprise, regardless of how large or small the number of personnel it transfers annually. A company using the service only pays a fixed fee for each employe actually transferred under the R.F.C. system. This program has been designed to save companies valuable "down time" when hiring or transferring employes.

THE AVAILABLE relocation services under the R.F.C. program include intensive merchandising of a transferee's origin home, an interest-free, six-month interim loan equal to the transferee's equity in the origin home and the assistance of an R.F.C. Agent in the destination city to find new housing and provide whatever conveniences may be needed by the new arrivals.

The R.F.C., with headquarters in Clayton, Mo., anticipates the allocation of $10 million in interest-free loans during the ensuing spring and summer housing season. (BB

Celebrates Anniversary

Ludlow W. Southard, 113 Kirchoff Road, Palatine, this week is celebrating his 40th anniversary with The Pure Oil Company.

Southard joined Pure on May 21, 1923, as a clerk in the company's central marketing division offices in Columbus, Ohio. In 1930 he was transferred to the company's general offices in Chicago as assistant chief clerk in Pure's Tabulating Department.

In 1938 he was promoted to assistant department manager and became supervisor of the payroll section of that department (which is currently the company's Data Processing department) in 1954. He was transferred to the Personnel Department in 1959 and in March, 1963, he took on the new duties of his present position as a payroll specialist. (BB

Zoo Seeks Part-time Guides

High school boys and girls in this area who would like to be volunteer junior zoo guides for Lincoln Park this summer can sign up now with Dr. Lester Fisher, director of the zoo and the program.

To be a junior zoo guide youngsters need to be willing to be trained and to give regular time periods on weekends to the zoo, Dr. Fisher said.

The guide program is sponsored by the 800 members of the Lincoln Park Zoological Society currently conducting a membership campaign to increase their ranks to 1,000 or more.

Teenagers will be given regular training sessions. They will wear specia badges and pith helmets and be assigned to staffing the zoo answer shops in the Lion House and the Bird House as well as conducting tours of the zoo areas and houses.

Information about the Zoo Guide Program may be obtained from the Society's headquarters, 79 W. Monroe St.

Barrington Trucking Marks 25th Year

Paddock Publications - 57 THURS., MAY 30, 1963

Suburbanites in the news — Design for Living — Business Building Improving

Service Key To Operation

The familiar red and white trucks of Barrington Trucking Co. disposal service take to the streets this week celebrating 25 successful years of operation.

The familiar slogan "Our Business Is Always Picking Up" has a double meaning with the expansion from a one-man operation in 1938 to the present roster of 45 fulltime employees.

In 1938 Barrington Trucking was the lone operation of John J. Vanderveld Sr., and the equipment an open bed truck.

At first, Vanderveld serviced Barrington, contracting with each individual householder. He operated the truck four days a week dumping refuse on the family farm south of Barrington.

THE STORY of the Vanderveld family unfolds with the history of the area. The one-man operation was soon operating as a father and sons business with John Jr., Peter and James working with their father.

After an interruption in normal growth due to World War II, Barrington Trucking pioneered in the development of land reclamation through sanitary landfill for its everyday operation.

The firm's landfill techniques eliminate obnoxious odors and pests in line with its general philosophy that "the public interest comes first."

John Jr. heads up what is now the largest garbage disposal service firm in Illinois. Through efforts and development of sanitary landfill methods, John says, "We take wastelands — swamps, quarries and sandpits and by filling with garbage and by covering properly, they are reclaimed for future use."

In evidence is a worthless marshland now turned into a beautifully landscaped Little League ballpark. Another, a sandpit, turned into a recreational area, and there are many others. This has resulted in some areas with blighted, useless sites recruiting Barrington Trucking engineers to see if the land could be reclaimed through garbage disposal.

LAND reclamation through sanitary landfill, the method developed and pioneered by Barrington Trucking, is costly, but the most efficient and clean form of garbage disposal.

An every-morning schedule at the Barrington landfill site is as follows: A trench 35 feet wide by 10 feet deep is needed for each day's cover. Every morning, the traxcavator operator excavates the dirt cover, stockpiling it at the side of the trench. Backing down the sloping ramp of the trench, the Barrington Packmaster trucks dump their refuse in the bottom of the ditch. The tractor thoroughly compacts the refuse.

At the end of each day, the operator completely closes the current trench with the previously stockpiled dirt to a depth of 20 to 24 inches on top and six to eight inches on the side and end. By nightfall, the only evidence of a sanitary landfill is the tracks on the earth cover of the trench.

THE FIRM'S headquarters on 419 W. Main St., in Barrington maintains the fleet of red and white packer trucks that have become such a familiar sight in the northwest area. The fleet's operations are under the direction of Peter Vanderveld. By developing new methods of collecting commercial user containers, they have simplified this phase of the pickup service. Some of the trucks are now equipped with radios for a more personalized service to their customers.

Versatility of Barrington Trucking makes it the leader in this service, from collection at large commercial shopping centers, industries and institutions to the more specialized residential service to all.

Although its operations are more expensive because it is more thorough, the added costs are made up by using modern, productive new equipment and by cutting time. Barrington trucking takes pride in its clean trucks and uniformed drivers.

"We have regular safety meetings and make cash awards in addition to the National Safety Council Awards our drivers receive. At the last such meeting over $800 was presented to our drivers for safe driving," said Vanderveld.

BARRINGTON Trucking cooperates with various civic groups in clean-up efforts, helps in emergencies and also assists schools and other organizations in worthwhile projects. Courtesy containers are provided on part of Barrington Trucking's community service. These conrequest at public functions as tainers are completely waterproof, fireproof, and are equipped with covers to maintain a completely sanitary condition at all times.

The firm has disposal operations in 15 northwest area communities.

The Barrington Trucking's story and role as pioneers in land reclamation through sanitary landfill has received national recognition and publicity. Their developed methods in all phases of garbage and refuse disposal are being copied not only in suburban communities, but also larger cities.

The Vanderveld family believe that the land reclamation program through sanitary landfill methods is the only solution to a clean efficient disposal program for cities of any size.

THREE NEW FOUNTAINS are now in operation just west of the Professional Building at Golf-Mill. Four water jets at each fountain throw a seven foot high spray. Two fountains have a 35-foot radius while the third is 25-feet around. These fountains serve a duel purpose as an attractive display as well as the water cooling system for the Professional Building's air conditioning units. (BB

Couples Attend Conference

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond E. Crouch, 413 S. Yale St., Arlington Heights and Mr. and Mrs. Robert J. Chrabot, 522 Bianco Drive, Elk Grove Village, have just returned from San Francisco where they attended the Allstate Insurance Companies' "Conference of Champions."

Chrabot, an Allstate agent, works out of the District Sales Office, 1626 W. Northwest Highway, Arlington Heights. He participated in the annual sales conference as one of the companies' top selling agents.

CROUCH, an Allstate agent, works out of the sales office located in the West Side, Sears, Roebuck & Co. Store, 825 S. St. Louis, Chicago. He participated in the annual sales conference as one of the companies' top selling agents.

The conference helped mark the 32nd anniversary of Allstate, a wholly owned subsidiary of Sears. The Company began operations with 20 employes in 1931, and is now the largest stock auto insurer in the world, with more than 18,000 employees, and has expanded operations to a full circle of insurance protection.

Both Chrabot and Crouch are members of the company's "Honor Ring" society having been outstanding representatives among more than 4,800 Allstate agents in 1962. (BB

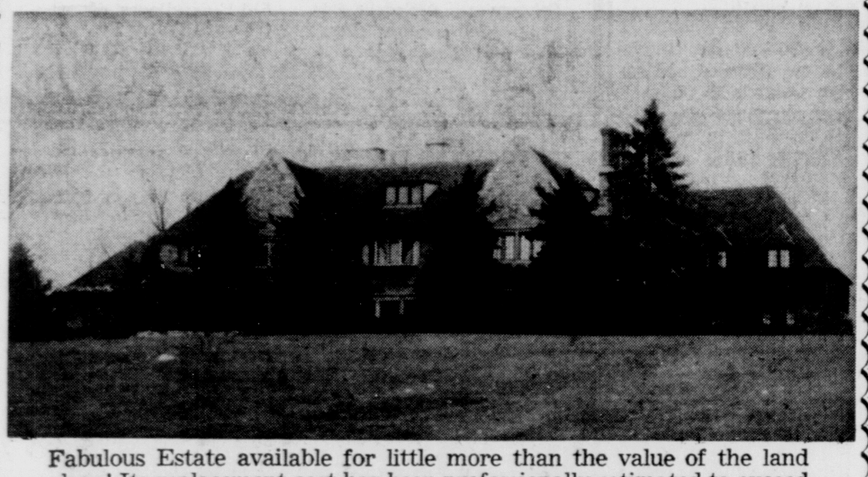
le GRAND MANIOR



Fabulous Estate available for little more than the value of the land alone! Its replacement cost has been professionally estimated to exceed $650,000. Despite its colossal grandeur, it's surprisingly convenient to traverse, and inexpensive to maintain. 8 bedrooms, 5 baths. You can judge from the above replacement cost the fineness of interior detail existing here. 3-car attached garage, 2 enclosed patios. 20 acres.
(G.A.S. Jr.: NOTA BENE per L.G.O'D.)

THE NATCHEZ

Another fantastic feat by the incomparable ELMER GLEICH! Known as the wizard of quality home building, the man who transforms open land into prestige address overnight by his innate ability to reach and satisfy the most desirable element, the genius who has attained great personal success, while giving much more than any other builder in the Northwest Suburban area. More character in location, more imaginative platting of land to assure individuality of setting, more intelligent lot size, more construction quality, more interior planning, more tasteful finishing.

For a home designed with acute awareness of your educated desires and expectations take a private preview of RESEDA, Mr. Gleich's well-considered community within a community. We're sure it will be the talk of the sophisticated homeowner group in a very short time. The NATCHEZ pictured above has 4 bedrooms, 2½ baths, separate dining room, a 24x14 family room with a fireplace, built-in kitchen and 2-car attached garage and it is priced at LESS THAN $28,000!

WATCHING THE KEYS to the restaurant building formerly known as the Crabapple in Old Orchard shopping center change hands is F. M. Anderson, 575 Fairway Lane, Inverness. The site of the first Stouffer suburban restaurant in the Chicago area, the Old Orchard restaurant was bought by the food concern from Marshall Field and Co. At left is Stouffer manager Roscoe DuMond of Glenview accepting the keys from former Field manager E. G. Libert of Glenview. Stouffer's is now engaged in a two-month program of remodeling and redecorating and will be ready for complete operation shortly after July 1. During remodeling, they will maintain service in limited areas of the restaurant.

Local Man To Serve On Expert Panel

Willard G. Fleischhauer, 355 S. Lincoln Lane, Arlington Heights, will serve on a faculty of experts at the seventh annual convention of the International Council of Shopping Centers in Montreal from June 2 to 5, it was announced today.

Fleischhauer will join with nearly 100 shopping center professionals in conducting class sessions at the University of Shopping Centers, which is the format for the 1963 convention.

He is vice president of the Meadowdale Shopping Center, Inc., and President of C. I. D. Realty Corp. in Carpentersville.

MORE THAN 1,500 shopping center developers, owners, managers, chain store real estate executives, mortgage lenders and other shopping center professionals will attend the convention at Montreal's Queen Elizabeth Hotel.

Members of the Council, which provides a wide range of services for the shopping center industry, come from all parts of the United States and Canada in addition to a number of countries overseas.

Mrs. Fleischhauer will accompany Mr. Fleischhauer to Montreal and will participate in a program arranged for the wives of the Association members. (BB

Students Compete In Skokie

A free trip to Detroit to compete in national championship finals will be among rewards going to the winners of the Plymouth Trouble Shooting Contest to be held in Skokie, on Saturday, May 11th.

In 31 schools throughout the area, teenage automobile mechanics students are working overtime to perfect their knowledge of automobiles and their skill in repairing them. This will be their challenge in the local competition—to find and fix nearly a score of malfunctions diabolically concealed in new cars by expert service technicians. Working in two-man teams representing their schools, the boys are allowed to use only a minimum of tools and testing equipment. School instructors and technicians monitor each team.

DESIGNED TO give recognition and encouragement to young men who have shown outstanding ability as automobile mechanics, the Chicago contest is one of 36 such events being conducted by Plymouth in cities throughout the country. Sixty-six boys will match their mechanical know-how against one another in the local contest.

Winners here will go to Detroit June 24-25-26 to compete against the outstanding young auto mechanics students in the land in the 1963 National Championship Trouble Shooting Contest. Top prizes will be $9,000 in scholarships with which the students can continue their technical training.

The contest in Chicago is made possible by the cooperation of local school officials, local Plymouth automobile dealers, and service representatives of the Chrysler-Plymouth Division of Chrysler Corporation.

Niles Township High School West is the scene of the local contest and starting time is 12 Noon. The public is invited to attend, and there is no admission charge. (BB

'Americanized' Cars Viewed

England's Rootes Motors put four new "Americanized" models on display at the International Auto Show.

All four new models were designed in response to demands of the U.S. car market, according to John T. Panks, Rootes managing director in this country.

THE AMERICANIZED imports are the 1963 Hillman Super Minx, two new sports models, the Sunbeam Alpine Gran Turismo and Series III Sunbeam Alpine Sports Tourer roadster, and the new 1963 Humber Estate Car station wagon.

The new Hillman was Americanized by equipping it with a U.S. design fully automatic transmission, by making it slightly larger, increasing its trunk size and giving it more power to tailor it to U.S. turnpike driving habits.

The two new sports cars were designed more in the spirit of Detroit - inspired "personal car" than the traditional sports car.

"TODAY'S CAR buyer wants performance yes, but not at the price of comfort. The success of the Detroit-made sports type compacts is evidence of this. We have, therefore, loaded our new Sunbeam models with creature comforts such as reclining seats and adjustable steering wheels rather than going all out to produce out-and-out high performance cars."

The new Humber Estate Car, Panks said, has features dictated almost entirely by the realities of the U.S. luxury car market and the tastes of those who purchase such cars.

The Rootes manager said that English manufacturers in particular must be sensitive to the demands of the U.S. market because of the importance of exports to the British economy. (BB

Curtain Up Tonight for 3 Performances of Comedy

"Auntie Mame," the high-octane comedy directed by Richard Tyler and presented by Arlington Heights Village Theatre, opens tonight at Prospect High School, Mount Prospect, and continues through Saturday.

Seats have been sold out for opening night, Friday and Saturday night. Some tickets are available for the Thursday, Memorial night, performance.

Thursday is a special benefit sponsored by the Arlington Heights Chapter of Northwest Cooperative Mental Health Association.

DIRECTOR RICHARD Tyler says, "In casting 'Auntie Mame,' I waited for a feeling of bigger-than-life portrayal; the radiance of a shooting star and yet infinite tenderness.

"Mame, you know, is absolutely unique. In some scenes she is sharp, witty and almost overly dramatic while in others she is meltingly soft. But at all times she's invincible and irresistible."

While Mame is the pivotal element of the play, her friends, who range from merely eccentric to bazaar, help keep the action whirling.

There's Vera, every inch the actress; M. Lindsay Woolsey, the perpetual suitor; Beauregard Jackson Pickett Burnside, to whom money is no object; Agnes Gooch, the high-speed secretary with low-gear resistance; Brian O'Bannion, who courts both the muse and Mame; and nephew Patrick, who grows in height and understanding.

VERBALLY, "Auntie Mame" is sharply satiric. Visually, it assumes almost style show proportions as Mame and Vera drift onto the scene in peacock tinted satins, chiffons and velvets.

Also colorful are scene shifts which encompass not only locale but re-decorating, since Mame's surroundings must reflect her all-consuming interest of the moment.

Principal roles of the Village Theatre production will be played by Shirley Freeman as Auntie Mame, Mikel Moses as young Patrick and Dave Shaughnessy as the older Patrick, Ann Hume as Vera, Herb Braden as Mr. Babcock, Kay Hawley as Nora, John Lobenhofer as Ito, Bob Hawley as Brian O'Bannion, Jack Andreani as M. Lindsay Wolsey, John Grayson as Beauregard, Rosemary Barry as Agnes Gooch.

Connie Beckway, Betty Brooks and Al Wilcox play the Upson family.

Tickets for the Thursday night performance may be reserved by calling Mrs. Frank Smith, CL 9-4774, Mrs. Gerald Beauvais, CL 9-1635 or Mrs. Janet Lindner, CL 5-6628. (Bill

SHIRLEY FREEMAN plays the title role in Village Theatre's "Auntie Mame" which opens tonight at Prospect High, Mount Prospect. Shady Lane Is Offering Love Farce

The Shady Lane Playhouse, located on U.S. 20, three miles west of Marengo, is presenting "Twin Beds" featuring Peggy Winslow and Richard Shull. It runs through June 9.

The comedy by Margaret Mayo and Salisbury Fields points up the fact that apartment life and a "social desire" are ingredients for a lively time.

The young wife of a "tired businessman" is involved in a flirtation and an overdose of human kindness.

Children Enroll For Summer Art

Registrations are still being accepted for children's summer art classes sponsored by the Countryside Art Center, according to Mrs. Fran Shillington, art center member in charge of accepting the registrations.

Interested parents may call Mrs. Shillington at CL 3-9521 to register their children or to obtain information about the art center's education program.

At the present, four classes are scheduled to be held. William Wimmer, Arlington Heights artist, will teach two classes for children in grades seven and under. The morning class will meet Tuesday and Thursdays, June 18 through July 23, from 9:30 to 11:30 a.m.

Wimmer will also conduct an afternoon class on the same days from 1 to 3 p.m. Tuition for each class will be $20.

TEACHING a morning class for children in grades eight through twelve will be Mrs. Mary Bornath, a Chicago artist. This class will meet Monday and Friday mornings from June 17 to July 19, and tuition will be $20.

A clay modeling class for children will be taught by Mrs. Aloise Zehner, Arlington Heights, and will meet Monday, Wednesday, and Friday mornings from July 22 to Aug. 2. Cost for the six lessons will be $12.

Each of the art center classes will meet at the Pioneer Park Fieldhouse, 500 S. Fernandez Ave., Arlington Heights.

In addition to classes for children, the Countryside Art Center offers adult classes throughout the year. During the past year, classes taught by Mrs. Barbara Houskeeper have been held on Tuesday mornings. Adults interested in seeing other classes formed may indicate their interest by phoning Mrs. Shillington. (Bill

Gallery to Exhibit Serigraphs by Nun

ROBERT BORCHARD

Highlighting the eighth show at the Countryside Gallery, 10 W. Miner, Arlington Heights, from June 2 through June 27, will be the work of nationally known artists, including Sister Mary Corita of Los Angeles and Don Seidon of Chicago.

A reception will be held this Sunday from 1 to 4 p.m.

This June exhibit of prints and sculpture will present prints, serigraphs, wood engravings and lithographs by gallery stable artists Robert Borchard of Arlington Heights, Mary Bornarth of Chicago, Margaret Gessel of Winnetka, Betty Jurgens of Chicago, Carole Komarek of Arlington Heights and William Wimmer of Arlington Heights.

Alfred Brunettin of Cicero and Harold Kerr of Palatine are stable artists whose sculpture will be featured.

OTHER GUEST artists will be Eleanore Garner, Chicago, Helen Goldfus, Lincolnwood, Maribee Hill, Barrington, Dennis Loy, Chicago, Alice Mason, Wood Dale, Pat Smart, Chicago and Alice Wright Uhlmann, Evanston.

Sister Mary Corita, I.H.M., who teaches art at the Immaculate Heart College in Los Angeles, has had more than 70 one-man shows.

Her serigraphs may be seen in the Metropolitan Museum and the Museum of Modern Art in New York, the Library of Congress, Washington, D.C., and many other museums and university collections in the United States, Canada and Europe.

Regular gallery hours are Tuesdays through Sundays from 1 to 4 p.m. and this June show will continue through June 27. The Countryside Gallery is located at 10 W. Miner in the center of Arlington Heights. (Bill

Nancy Kirk Shows Paintings at Bank

Nancy M. Kirk is the current artist exhibiting at the Bank of Arlington Heights in Arlington Market Shopping Center.

A native Missourian, she studied art at the Kansas City Art Institute and Nebraska Wesleyan university. Before her marriage, she was employed in the art department of Hallmark Cards.

Mrs. Kirk is the wife of Rev. Raymond Kirk, minister of the Methodist Church in Elk Grove Village, and the mother of three sons. She will be remembered by members of the First Methodist Church of Arlington Heights from the time when her husband was assistant minister.

SINCE COMING to Illinois, Mrs. Kirk has exhibited at art fairs in Waukegan, Park Ridge, Mount Prospect, Arlington Heights, Franklin Park, Palatine, Golf Mill and the University of Illinois Medical Center in Chicago.

She maintains exhibits at several restaurants in this area, and is a member of Countryside Art Center and the Park Ridge Art League.

Mrs. Kirk's paintings will be on exhibit until July 1 at the Bank of Arlington Heights.

Exhibit Planned At Pioneer Park

Beginning June 1 and continuing through June 20, the Pioneer Park Fieldhouse in Arlington Heights will be the scene of an adult-student art exhibit.

The exhibit will feature paintings, collages, and drawings created by adults who have participated in the Tuesday morning classes taught by Barbara Houskeeper for the Countryside Art Center.

Mrs. Houskeeper reports that the exhibit will include work done by beginning students as well as more advanced artists.

THIRTY-FIVE adults have participated in Mrs. Houskeeper's classes throughout the year, representing several suburbs in the Northwest area.

Pioneer Park is located at 500 S. Fernandez Ave. in Arlington Heights. The art exhibit will be open to the public during regular park fieldhouse hours. (Bill

The Way We See It

Justified Expansion

Announcement recently by Northwest Community Hospital of a $4 million expansion program signals the start of moves by hospitals in the area to keep pace with population increases.

Since Northwest Community Hospital was constructed in 1958-59, the population in the area it serves has bolted from 40,000 persons to 140,000.

The $4 million expansion of the 110-bed facility is stage two of a three-phase building program envisioned since the hospital's inception. It will add 100 beds in addition to enlarged X-ray and laboratory facilities, out-patient and emergency rooms, mental health facilities, research labs, and a number of other facilities required by area growth.

Eventual plans call for creation of a 300-bed hospital.

Already, during its three year history, Northwest Community Hospital has served 50,000 patients. Except for emergency cases, though, some residents had to be turned away due to lack of bed space and surgical facilities.

The fund drive to provide needed finances for the expansion program was given added impetus when Barrington industrialist A. C. Buehler, chairman of the hospital board of trustees, pledged a $150,000 contribution.

Financial goals set break down to $1.3 million in business and industrial donations, $1.1 million in residential gifts, a tentative $900,000 Hill-Burton federal grant, $400,000 from hospital trustees, $200,000 from the medical staff, and $100,000 pledged by the hospital's Women's Auxiliary.

The expansion program ties in with proposed expanded facilities at other hospitals serving or planned for this northwest section of Cook and DuPage counties.

A new 220-bed Alexian Brothers Hospital is to be erected in Elk Grove Village, and will be ready by 1965 to serve communities in North DuPage County as well as surrounding areas of Cook County.

Memorial Hospital in Elmhurst is planning to expand by 100 beds; Lutheran General Hospital in Park Ridge has set a 200-bed expansion program in addition to adding a 100-student nursing school and the Lutheran Institute for Human Ecology; Sherman Hospital in Elgin has a long-range program for adding 400 beds, and Holy Family Hospital in Des Plaines and St. Joseph Hospital in Elgin both have long-term expansion plans.

Northwest Community Hospital, located in Arlington Heights, justifies its current expansion needs by demonstrating that it has had the highest number per 100 beds of live births, major and minor operations, X-ray exams and emergency cases of six area hospitals.

Hospital planning for the next 10 years by area institutions shows that the northwest suburban area is insured adequate hospital facilities for the future.

At this critical stage two of expansion now being undertaken by Northwest Community Hospital, however, community support is required to see that present and future obligations for hospital care are faced and met.

More PTA Advice

A citizens advisory committee of the Wheeling-Buffalo Grove District 21 Board of Education was formed following this spring's elections.

Unlike many such bodies, the committee has the prerogative of initiating its own study projects and surveys, of recruiting citizens for service on subcommittees, and generally acting independently of the school board. A nominating committee of 10 persons was organized to select the advisory group's membership, and those on the nominating committee were selected on the basis of geographical residence, interests and civic affiliations.

It occurs to us that since the criticism carried in these columns of the Parent-Teacher Association evoked such a wide-spread response, PTA members are anxious to serve their schools and community.

Formation of such independent citizens groups, under the sponsorship of local PTAs, might be just the prescription for stirring renewed interest and participation in the education process.

The topics such committees might study and advise school administrations on are, of course, endless. We mentioned some areas in the editorial titled "PTA 'Irrelevancy'" which provoked so much protest: school dropouts, delinquency, emotionally disturbed children, television viewing and reading, to name a few.

Some PTA study groups might wish to initiate programs of study in response to a recent resolution adopted by the Illinois Congress of Parents and Teachers. The resolution, concerned with a child's mental well-being in the face of daily reminders of the threat of nuclear war, stated that the Illinois PTA:

". . . affirms its belief in peaceful methods of solving world conflicts and its determination to give substance to the hopes of our children for a full life in a peaceful world. To this end we urge our schools to emphasize, in ways suitable to various age levels: 1) objective study of the problems among nations and ways to decrease chances of nuclear war; 2) expanded study of the United Nations and other agencies which work for the promotion of international understanding, and 3) mankind's essential hope and faith in peace and good will, and its determination to keep the children of the world safe from bombs and missiles."

This is an area of concern which affects us all. Such problems could be added to the list of meaningful subjects for study. Local PTAs would demonstrate community leadership by examining and releasing the results of such studies to the schools and public at large.

Useful Dialogue

A meeting this month between 14 Cook County officials and almost 60 suburban leaders on apartment zoning was the first step taken to improve communications between county government and the many municipalities of the northwest suburbs.

The meeting was called to listen to suburban complaints about county zoning practices permitting what village officials think is an undue amount of apartment projects in the area, particularly in the vicinity south of Mount Prospect between Illinois 83 and Golf, Algonquin and Busse Roads.

The gathering was anything but a backslapping affair. Jack Siegel, Arlington Heights village attorney, said concern over recent county zoning decisions was ". . . with what appears to be the erosion of careful planning."

Seymour Simon, president of the county board, told the group to "elaborate and specify your objections" instead of filing one-sentence protests.

Cooperation is needed between such governmental agencies if orderly growth and progress is to be insured. Credit for this initial attempt at understanding and meaningful dialogue should go to those municipal officials who arranged the meeting and to Seymour Simon for acknowledging its usefulness by his presence and participation.

Critic's Corner

Commercials 'Bug' Him

by DON VICKERY
Staff Photographer

TV commercials bug me. The other night while watching a late movie I decided that during the intermission I would be the sly one and switch to another station and see what was on, but all I could get was men shaving and smoking or glass containers complaining about being people's stomachs. There must be some sort of unwritten law between the networks that they put their commercials on at the same time.

Another thing, I don't know if it's my imagination or what but aren't the commercials louder than the programs? And how can all the major brands of cigarettes all be the best and have the best filter. It's a physical impossibility. Isn't it?

VICKERY

I realize of course that commercials are a necessary evil in order to watch our favorite programs, but why can't they use a little discretion in the length, number of times repeated, and content of their commercials. Every time someone throws a chart or some vital statistics in front of the camera I feel that I'm being taken in, because they always just give you one side of the argument and make it sound so impressive until their competitor comes along and gives you the same story.

I AM convinced that the people who think up some of these cartoon characters and the script for them are sick! sick! sick! In cases of this sort I think that we should buy the products so that they could receive the care they need.

The one that really gripes me is the one with the typical housewife and her daughter who are so nuts about the dish washing soap they use that they claim that is the reason their hands look alike; if they did as many dishes off the air as they do on the air they would probably have hands that would put Sonny Liston's to shame.

I will admit that there are some well done and entertaining commercials on TV, but they are few and far between, and even those are usually repeated so many times that I get sick of them.

I think that we the viewing public should voice our opinions to the product manufacturers on some of these insults to our intelligence. I might be alone in my fight but I am personally going to boycott any product that has a commercial over 60 seconds long during a half hour show. Also, any products that present "the facts" about their brand over all the others, especially if they use the man on the street routine.

It might not do any good, but the way I figure it, we are the people they are trying to sell to and if we can't have any say in what kind of advertising they present to us, who can?

Coal Expediter

It's A Turbulent Life

by BOB CUMMINS

People are prone to jump to conclusions.

They read a headline that says, "Probe $300,000 Fee for Coal Expediter" and immediately jump to the conclusion that something is wrong.

Well, they just don't know anything about coal expediters.

How many of you know a coal expediter? Fess up, now. You don't know a single one, do you? Then, be careful before you pass judgment upon them.

CUMMINS

It is the responsibility of the coal expediter to see that coal from the mines of Kentucky and Southern Illinois is loaded on barges and moves up the inland waterway so that it reaches the sewage treatment works before the smokestacks grow cold.

How many of you offered to accept this responsibility? How many of you went to the Sanitary District officials and said, "Yes, I'm willing to give it a try." No sirree bob, not one of you volunteered.

YET THERE was one man who stepped forward and offered to do the job. What did he get for it? I mean, besides the $300,000. I'll tell you what he's getting. Criticism.

Picture yourself on the levee down around Cairo, Illinois. You're standing alongside a coal barge that's being loaded for the sewage works. You're checking to see that the men don't put all the coal on one side of the barge. If they do, the barge will tip over and the coal will spill out. And even if it doesn't spill out, it will get wet and not burn so good when it gets to the sewage works.

Those are the kinds of things that a coal expediter has to know. Yet some people begrudge him his fee!

And that isn't all he goes through. Sometimes when the coal expediter is standing by the barges, the stevedores break into songs like "Tote dat barge, liff dat bale."

Yes . . . "git a little drunk and you land in jail." The coal expediter lives on the raw edge of existence and you'd better know it. It's a turbulent, challenging life. But there's good money in it for those who can stand the gaff.

Illinois has pioneered in developing the vocation of coal expediter. I am hopeful that the University of Illinois soon will develop a curriculum leading to the bachelor of science degree in coal expediting.

Solid preparation in chemistry and transportation should be required.

HOWEVER, I am decidedly of the opinion that the degree should not be granted upon accumulation of purely technical knowledge. Coal expediters should be firmly grounded in the liberal arts, especially political science. The technical details of moving coal from the mines to the sewage works will change from year to year and decade to decade. But the great aspirations of the human mind are timeless.

As a coal expediter once put it, "Ars longa, vita brevis."

$96,000 for Race Horses

Government Lacks Balance

by SEN. PAUL SIMON

Should the State of Illinois spend $96,000 to study the diseases of race horses?

This is just one of a series of questions which face state government where the answer we reach is not vicious, but out of balance with the real needs.

MY VOTE WAS against the $96,000 study which has already passed the Senate and is now in the House.

It is a good example of many bills which we face. It is not an evil bill — as some occasionally are — which will do great damage to the state, but it is out of focus with the real needs and problems of the state.

The argument for it is that it is money which has come in from taxes on the tracks and that it is money set aside in the Agricultural Premium Fund.

What is ignored in this argument is that because money is raised from the race tracks it should still be used for the best possible purpose; and as to the Agricultural Premium Fund, the governor has the authority to transfer money from that to the general revenue fund any time he wants.

But beyond this, what is not faced is some kind of priority of need in state government. With the passage of this measure we will lead the states in research on dieases of race horses, yet I am told by the director of the University of Illinois Research Hospital that we are only "average" among the states in the amount we spend for cancer research for human beings.

I would much prefer to reverse that priority.

What we as legislators too seldom ask ourselves — and what we are too seldom asked by our constituents — is the question: What is most important?

Let me give you two other examples:

ILLINOIS IS among the worst states in respect to care and treatment given to the mentally retarded. This is changing for the better slowly, but generally facilities for livestock at the state fair appear to be better than our facilities for the mentally retarded.

Illinois spends more in subsidies per race horse in our state than we do per child in our schools.

Many other examples could be mentioned, but perhaps these two serve the purpose.

The difficulties are two:

First, legislators are overwhelmed with proposals for new laws. It is easy to get so involved with individual bills than the over-all picture is missed. There will be more-than 2,500 measures introduced this session. It becomes such an immediate task to vote on each of these measures that we too rarely get to ask ourselves: "Where is state government going?"

Secondly, the lack of perspective that legislators have is largely the responsibility of the public. The issues which draw the heaviest mail rarely are the important issues. It has been a long time, for example, since I have had a letter asking that we do more for the mentally retarded in the state. But I know that if a bill is introduced to change the regulations on duck hunting, there will be an avalanche of mail.

BY THIS I don't mean to criticize duck hunters.

But there can hardly be a comparison between the importance of these two subjects. And so long as the public takes little interest in the more basic problems government faces, to that degree legislative interest in these basic problems will continue to be less than what it should be.

Judge Warns That Race War Would Mean Defeat for All

KANSAS CITY, MO., (UPI)—A federal judge said last Friday that "a race war in America will mean the defeat of all of us — black and white alike."

U. S. District Judge James B. Parsons, the first Negro appointed to a federal district court in the nation, spoke at the annual dinner of the Fellowship House Association of Greater Kansas City.

PARSONS, of the U. S. District of Northern Illinois, was introduced by another federal district judge John W. Oliver of the Western Missouri District.

Parsons lashed out at extremist groups saying "Black Muslimism among us is a fraud as an organization and a foolish fantasy as a front."

The Chicago jurist said "The number one concern of the world today is what the American people, here in the year of the centennial of the Emancipation Proclamation, are going to do about the American Negro and democracy."

Foresee Migrant Setback

(UPI) — The Bishops' Committee for Migrant Workers said the Illinois Legislature has "cut the heart out" of laws governing camps for migrant workers.

The Roman Catholic Committee includes Archbishop Albert Cardinal Meyer of Chicago, Archbishop Robert E. Lucey of San Antonio, Archibishop Urban J. Vehr of Denver, Bishop Stephan S. Wozinski of Sagninaw and Bishop Francis J. Schenk of Duluth.

"THE GOVERNOR of Illinois signed a bill which set back progress made in the state legislature two years ago," the committee said in a national newsletter.

"For all practical purposes, the strict enforcement of a migrant housing bill was impeded by lessening the number of camps requiring licensing, loosening regulations for water and sanitation and above all, making the law apply only to new camps which are to be built in the future," the committee said. "Chief proponements of the amendments which cut the heart out of migrant housing legislation were the strawberry growers."

KNITTERS
We haven't mentioned our Reynolds NO. 1 MOHAIR this spring—and it's a wonderful yarn for this time of year. Also—we have a much more complete color line now. The colors are delicious.

Reynolds NO. 1 is the lightest weight mohair we have—not as fuzzy as many—it has a slight amount of a synthetic for buoyancy. It lends itself beautifully to patterns too—you can see patterns in it (unlike the heavy mohairs). Perfect for a summer wrap. Come see!

In Appreciation

IN MEMORIAM

In memory of our beloved mother, grandmother, and wife, Mrs. Alice Bork who passed away one year ago, May 28, 1962.
God knew that you were suffering
He knew that you were in pain,
He knew that you never could get well
In this world again.
He saw the road was getting rough
The hills were hard to climb,
So he closed your weary eyelids
And whispered, Peace be thine.
A loving mother so true and kind
No friend on earth like you we find
For all of us you did your best
May God grant you eternal rest.
Loving Husband,
Children and Grandchildren

At Wesleyan

Barbara Jean Schaufler, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Schauffler of 418 N. Eastwood, Mount Prospect, was among the outstanding students who were recognized during Honors Day Convocation at Illinois Wesleyan University May 17, for having been elected to Gamma Upsilon, national honorary publications society for college students.

Dr. Robert G. Bone, president of Illinois State Normal University, delivered the principal address. The Convocation was held in the IWU gymnasium.

The program was dedicated to the 256 members of the 1963 graduating cass. All honor organizations were recognized and five special individual awards were made. (CC

At Carroll

Almost 60 students at Carroll College in Waukesha, Wis., all of whom are in earth science classes, were literally "up in the air" recently to view environmental features of the earth by airplane.

Two from this area were Valerie Danforth of 510 W. Hellen Road, Palatine, and Christina Oberheide of Long Grove.

A day-long shuttle of four planes carried the students over a carefully chosen 90-minute 150-mile flight path over Waukesha, Milwaukee and Lake Michigan shore, Kettle Moraine state forest, Dundee, Fon du Lac and other nearby areas. (CC

At Indiana

James Salzer, 21 N. Linden Ave., Palatine, with the Army ROTC, took part May 17 in military commencement exercises for a total of 67 Indiana University ROTC cadets.

Addressing the military graduates were Stephen Ailes, undersecretary of the Army.

Fifty members of the graduating class were in the U.S. Army ROTC, and 17 in the U.S. Air Force ROTC. Having fulfilled the military requirements for a second lieutenant's commission, the seniors will be formally commissioned June 3 following completion of their work for the undergraduate degree.

At Upper Iowa

Fifty-nine Upper Iowa University studdents received academic recognition recently during the annual campus Honors Convocation. Among them was Gay Gardner of Mount Prospect, who was honored for excellence in European History.

Gay was also a participant in the sixth annual spring art exhibit at the university May 19-27. Work on display has been produced by the art students during the past year. Gay entered paintings, designs, sculpture, watercolors and graphics.

Also having an exhibit was Douglas Rothery of Arlington, who entered drawings in the art show. (CC

Mount Emblem
"Illinois' Most Beautiful Cemetery"
Site of the
OLD DUTCH MILL
Built in 1850
The DuPage County Historical Society presented an AWARD OF HONOR to Mount Emblem in 1956 for preserving the Old Dutch Mill as an educational and historic exhibit.
Visitors to the Old Dutch Mill are always welcome.
Mount Emblem is distinctively different.
Here is the expression of an ideal — Nature's eternal loveliness transformed into a memorial of Living Beauty. Natural beauty — unmarred by artificiality or perishable structures. This is the keynote of our landscape policy. Objects of nature are REAL, their appeal is universal, continuous through time.
When you visit, you will be aware of the meticulous maintenance. You will find that our prices are moderate. It costs no more to own the best.
"It is better to have it and not need it— Than to need it and not have it."

MUEHLFELT & SONS

House Raisers & Movers — We Move
"Anything With Two Ends"
Licensed — Bonded — Insured

Muehlfelt & Sons, located at O-N, 576 Gary Ave., in Wheaton, Illinois, are well known Licensed, Bonded and Insured Building Movers with complete facilities for Raising, Lowering, Leveling and Moving Buildings anywhere in this territory.

There are big things going on in this area, and right in the middle is Muehlfelt & Sons.

There is always a time element involved where houses are being moved, and for this reason Muehlfelt employs the very latest methods to move structures and "When Better Equipment Can Be Had. . . Muehlfelt Will Have It!."

The "Wheels Of Progress," so to speak, are being used to move buildings, because of the safety and speed afforded, wheels with pneumatic tires absorb shock and prevent even the slightest jar when employed in the moving of houses. Through the use of these dollies, a greater degree of aptness and speed is obtained.

The process of moving a house or structure involves painstaking care, in addition to Trucks, Equipment and Skill. It is quite a feat to raise a house. . . Move it. . . and place it on its new foundation without damage, but Muehlfelt & Sons have been doing it for many years - to the complete satisfaction of their many patrons. Guaranteed satisfaction is assured because of thorough organization — watchful care — and careful, detailed planning in advance.

Estimates will gladly be submitted on any type of Underpinning, Raising, Shoring, Lowering, and Moving of Steel, Brick, Stone or Frame Buildings (as well as Roof Raising). Industrial, Farm and Residential Buildings are moved any distance. All insurances are carried for protection of customers interests.

LARRY'S TV & MARINE

Suggest You
Get That Boat Or Outboard Motor
Before That Outdoor Urge Gets You

This is the time of the year when we start day-dreaming of fishing and boating, and we're just waiting for nice weather to get outdoors. NOW is also the time to think of buying that outboard motor and boat and getting out the fishing tackle and cleaning it up.

Larry's TV & Marine, 714 W. Irving Park Road, (Rt. 19) is a headquarters in this area for marine equipment including supplies and accessories for all makes and styles of boats.

Larry's TV & Marine are dealers in this territory for the popular "STEURY" Fiberglas Boats which are sold with a 5-year warranty, the nationally known "CHETEK" Wood Boats, also all types of Aluminum Row Boats.

Larry's also handles the popular 'EVINRUDE" Outboard Motors. "EVINRUDE" Outboard Motors are tops with sportsmen. They come in several horsepower models and are noted for dependability and advance design.

It is wise to buy your outboard motor or boat where you can get factory approved service. At Larry's you not only can get approved factory service on your boat or "Evinrude" Outboard Motor, you also get a guarantee with your purchase. "EVINRUDE" offers a two-year warranty on their outboard motors.

So, before that out-door urge gets too strong, drop by and talk over your boating equipment with Larry. Open weekdays 9 to 9 . . . Sat. 9 to 6 . . .

ACE AVIATION INC.

(Roselle Field)
Complete Flight Instruction
Elementary & Advanced Courses

Ace Aviation, Inc., located at Roselle Field, on Irving Park Road (Rt. 19) in Roselle, Illinois, conducts an excellent Flying School, offering elementary courses for beginners and advanced courses in the latest type planes. Comprehensive courses are offered to those who desire to adopt aviation as their vocation. The staff of instructors are experienced pilots who also possess the ability to teach. Students of Ace Aviation, Inc., are taught every phase of flying, both theoretical and practical, including instrument training.

Rates are as low as eight dollars per hour.

Ace Aviation students are afforded every facility to become qualified in the shortest time possible, consistent with thoroughness and safety.

You'll have to go a long way to beat flying as a recreation. You'll really like it. But it's more than a wonderful sport. When you can fly your own plane, and nearly anyone can learn—you can save valuable time and money on business trips, you can reach distant fishing, hunting or vacation spots more quickly—and more often. If you've never flown, or if you've only flown as an airline passenger, you have something wonderful to look forward to when you take your first demonstration lesson with us in the quiet comfort of our modern planes. The neighborhood, the surrounding countryside will take on new beauty, new interest. And remember! You're never too old.

Many of the most prominent people in the nation own and fly their own planes, and operators of private planes are growing in number by leaps and bounds.

Book Comes To Life, or Vice Versa

MILWAUKEE, (UPD) — John M. Havis, 26, Milwaukee, a substitute Milwaukee County Teacher, wanted realism in a novel he is writing. So he went out and held up a service station attendant to get first-hand experience to a holdup victim's reaction.

Havis was charged Friday with disorderly conduct and carrying a concealed weapon, and can now add from first-hand experience the reaction of man in court after he has been charged with a crime.

Police said he pointed a gun at the attendant who told him there was $40 in the till. Havis said he needed $200, turned around and walked out. (A14

Three insecticides should control any insects that a home gardener has to combat. The three are malathion and methoxychlor, two older ones, and a relatively new insecticide called Sevin. Sevin is a wettable powder or dust, while the other two can be used as wettable powders, emulsions or dusts.

Not only are these products excellent garden insecticides, but they are reasonably safe to handle. The time between application and harvest varies, but the maximum interval is one week. The label on the container gives detailed instructions for use and storage.

More than 280,000 tractors with plows, discus, planters and cultivators are working in Illinois fields this spring.

Farmers are fattening 11 per cent more cattle for market this year than last. Reports show that in the 28 major cattle-feeding states 8,105,000 cattle are on feed.

A man used to be considered a good farmer if he planted corn in straight rows and cultivated out all the weeds. Now he is considered a good farmer if his profits are high regardless of how straight his rows are. If weeds threaten to cut yields, he can get rid of them with herbicides. Since farming is now a business, not just a way of life, more farmers need good farm records.

Hot weather will soon be here, and University of Illinois research has shown that the Vitamin A requirement in beef cattle feeding programs goes up during hot weather. Cattle being full-fed in drylot should receive a minimum of 30,000 units of vitamin A per head daily. Cattle being full-fed grain on grass should receive 20,000 units of vitamin A per head daily. Cattle receiving a limited feed of grain or no grain on good pasture probably need no additional vitamin A. (A14

For Safety Fund

Bill Seeks Extra $2 From Errant Drivers

SPRINGFIELD (UPD — Illinois officials, worried about the increase in state traffic fatalities, have proposed legislation to step up the fight against auto accidents.

Sen. Paul A. Zeigler, D-Carmi, introduced a series of bills in the General Assembly last week that would:

— Assess each person convicted of a moving traffic violation in the state another $2 in court costs, to be used for financing an expansion of the state's traffic safety activities.

— Require "immediate reporting" of all auto accidents in excess of $100, to aid quick policing and expert investigation into causes. The law now allows 10 days to report.

THE LEGISLATION was introduced at the request of Gov. Otto Kerner's official Traffic Safety Coordinating Committee, which started monthly meetings more than a year ago.

The number of traffic fatalities has increased during each of the past two years. In 1962 there were 1,890 persons killed and more than 111,000 injured in this state alone. This year there have already been 633 fatalities, a pace that is about 10 per cent ahead of last year.

Safety officials predicted that the added $2 fee could raise between $1 million and $1.5 million a year.

The money would be used to double the staff of the present Division of Traffic Safety and to set up a Chicago office. In addition it would lead to more "field men" on the road to promote safety activities.

A SPOKESMAN said it also was hoped the fees, which would go into a special "traffic safety fund," could eventually be used toward the building of a new state police headquarters and state police academy in Springfield. The state police organization presently uses borrowed quarters.

The Zeigler legislation would also create a special 15-man Advisory Citizens Commission to aid in the field of safety. Members would not be paid.

Not included in the legislation were two touchy issues which the governor's committee discussed, but upon which it did not reach unanimous agreement.

One was an "implied consent" law, which would allow the Secretary of State to revoke the driver's license of anyone who refused to take a Drunkometer or other alcohol test. The committee was discouraged by the dismal showing of a similar bill introduced early in the session by Sen. Robert Coulson, R-Waukegan. That bill was killed in committee.

THE SECOND possibility was a lowering of the alcohol level required to convict a person of drunken driving. The present level is .15 of one per cent alcohol in the blood. Suggested levels by the American Medical Association and National Safety Council are .10 of one per cent.

The spokesman said such legislation might still be introduced.

Those who serve on the committee include Kerner, the Lieutenant Governor, Secretary of State, Attorney General, Superintendent of Public Instruction, Supreme Court Administrator, State Police Chief and five cabinet-level department directors. (A14 OSHKOSH, WIS., (UPD — A deer, with an apparent sense of impending doom, collapsed and died Friday near the altar of St. Peter's Catholic Church.

Doe Dies At Altar

Authorities said the doe crashed through a window of the vestibule of the church to gain entrance. It was badly cut in the crash and it limped up the aisle toward the altar. It made one final leap for a pew where it collapsed with a crash and died.
